U. S. And Britain Reject New Offer By Soviet Union

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—UP—The United States and Great Britain Friday spurned Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's new proposal for separate 20-year treaties of friendship with the western Big Three.

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden set forth Britain's position at a farewell Washington news conference. He said he sees little "value" in a British-Soviet treaty so soon after a similar 20-year pact was "torn up" by Russia.

The Soviets last May 7 broke off 13-year-old non-aggression pacts with Britain and France. The Kremlin charged Paris and London had joined "aggressive blocs" in bringing a rearmament Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty system.

Diplomatic officials predicted that President Eisenhower once again will reject Bulganin's proposal. They were equally certain that France also will turn down the idea, contained in a new 3,000-word letter to Mr. Eisenhower Thursday.

Mr. Eisenhower studied the new Bulganin letter while spending the weekend at his Gettysburg farm. He and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will communicate with other Allied leaders before issuing a reply.

Bulganin originally offered his plan on Jan. 23. Mr. Eisenhower rejected it only last Saturday, calling in the Soviets to prove by "deeds" they want peace. Bulganin in Thursday blamed the United States for world tensions but offered to extend the proposed pact to Britain, France and other nations.

Eden, perfectly at ease before some 300 reporters, told his American-style news conference at the National Press Club, that Bulganin's new proposal "was certainly interesting and a little remarkable."

But, he added, "I am not personally entirely convinced of the value of a new agreement so soon after a treaty signed by Russia was torn up by her."

Eden freely answered questions about Britain's interest in Bulganin's proposal but declined to discuss its broader aspects. Since it was addressed to Mr. Eisenhower, he said, "the answer must clearly come from you and I have every confidence in the answer."

The prime minister also answered some questions dealing with such controversial subjects as the defense of Formosa and Red China trade. But he gave unresponsive answers to others or dodged them completely.

Asked whether he had any thought on the "brink of war" (Continued On Second Page)

Zulu President Expresses Shock At NAACP Attack

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3 (AP)—James Russell, president of the Zulu Aid and Pleasure Club, said tonight he was shocked at NAACP disapproval of the Negro club's traditional Mardi Gras parade.

"I don't think the Zulu parade is degrading or insulting to Negroes, although it may have been that way years ago," said Russell, who also is a member of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Clarence Laws, NAACP field secretary, said earlier his organization would watch the Feb. 14 parade closely and will ask for discontinuance of future editions "if there is not a substantial improvement over previous years."

The Zulu procession, which has been staged for more than 40 years, is the biggest event for Negroes during the carnival season. It wanders through a Negro section of the city after the king makes his usual arrival on a barge at the foot of Canal Street.

"The parade will go on as usual this year," Russell said. "We will keep it going for years and years."

"The parade would be even more decent, however, if the city recognized it as a regular parade route, that's one of the big obstacles."

One of the best known Zulu kings in recent years was jazz trumpeter Louis Armstrong, who was born in New Orleans. Armstrong's palmetto bedecked throne was a feature of the 1949 parade.

Snake Hamilton, who will be king in the 1956 parade, refused to comment on Laws' statement but returned all questions to Russell.

"I'm only the king," said Hamilton.

Choctaws Lose Long Battle To Recover Funds

U. S. Claims Court Cancels Award Of Indian Commission

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The U. S. Court of Claims today tossed out a $417,656 award to the Mississippi Choctaw Indians for land they say the United States promised them 125 years ago.

The Choctaws had asked for several million dollars but the Indian Claims Commission whittled that down to $417,656. The court directed the commission to dismiss the petition entirely.

Robert C. Handwerk, attorney for the Choctaws, said he was studying the decision to see what steps, if any, can be taken to appeal.

After the treaty of 1830, most of the Choctaws moved to Oklahoma. The Mississippi Choctaws remained east of the Mississippi River.

The government, according to the Choctaws, promised them land or its equivalent value if they remained. The Choctaws say the promise was not kept.

The government, however, says it paid $871,000 to the tribe in 1852 and this covered its obligations. The Mississippi Choctaws say they did not get a cent from this award to the Choctaw nation.

Several hundred persons throughout Louisiana and Mississippi have filed claims as descendants of the Choctaw tribe. Many have established descendancy from the tribe.

The original claim filed on behalf of the descendants of the Choctaw tribe sought a settlement of $209,000,000. When the $209 million claim came up before the Indian Claims Commission that figure was cut, by the Commission, to $417,656.

Still contending the claim should be settled at more than $417,656, the tribal legal staff appealed to the Court of Claims.

Dubach Man Is Missing; Search D'Arbonne River

FARMVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special)—A Dubach construction worker, missing since Wednesday, today was feared to be a drowned suicide victim in D'Arbonne river, one mile south of Farmville.

Two rescue crews from Monroe and Ruston searched the murky waters of swollen D'Arbonne Friday but failed to find a body.

Missing is Jim Campbell whose automobile and a mysterious note were found near the river's edge. Campbell was seen in the area Wednesday. In addition to the note, Campbell's billfold and watch were found in his automobile.

The note reportedly told how to contact Campbell's wife in Farmville. Campbell has a wife and 16-year-old daughter. The missing man was identified as an employee of the John A. Mitchell Construction Co. in Ruston. He was believed to have been a carpenter.

After receiving a missing person report on Campbell and making an investigation of the circumstances, Deputy Sheriff John Lee Albritton said authorities were assuming that Campbell either leaped from the D'Arbonne bridge or either walked a short distance.

JOHN SHERROUSE, JR.

Sherrouse Named Preaus' Successor On Highway Panel

John Sherrouse, Jr., of Monroe, has been named by Governor Robert Kennon to fill the expired term of former state highway board member Fred Preaus, of Farmville. Preaus resigned as chairman of the board last fall to campaign for governor.

The 36-year-old Sherrouse said he has great interest in the state highways and "I am very much pleased to be appointed. And I will do the best job I am capable of doing."

The new board member said he had no experience on a state board of this type. His term will expire on June 1, 1961.

Residing at 4500 DeSiard street, Sherrouse is secretary-treasurer of the Central Oil and Supply Corp., Central Transport Co., S. and S. Realty Co. and the DeSiard Gas Co. He is also vice president of the Sherrouse Realty Co.

Sherrouse is a native of Franklin Parish, moving here from Winnboro in 1927. He is married to the former Miss Jane McKenzie of Monroe and the father of three children.

In civic work, Sherrouse is on the board of directors, the Monroe Area Industrial Development Corp. and Ouachita Industries; a past president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; a past president of the board of the Community Chest; and is on the board at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Report Shoemaker 'Out Of Danger'

MCKINNEY, Tex., Feb. 3—UP—A. B. Shoemaker, who shot a hole in his head in despair over the collapse of his U. S. Trust and Guaranty Co., is out of danger and able to spend part of his time in a wheelchair, it was disclosed Friday.

Shoemaker, 47, was shot in the head in a hotel room in McKinney, Texas, last week. He was believed to have been a carpenter.

After receiving a missing person report on Campbell and making an investigation of the circumstances, Deputy Sheriff John Lee Albritton said authorities were assuming that Campbell either leaped from the D'Arbonne bridge or either walked a short distance.

What's Your Job? 'President, I Guess'

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Feb. 3—UP—Dwight David Eisenhower, "an ex-soldier" and "the President, I guess," registered as a Republican here Friday to vote in the November presidential elections.

But he wasn't saying whether he would have a chance to vote for the Republicans' favorite candidate—himself.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, whose voting residence previously was in New York, drove from their snow-covered farm on the outskirts of town to the old Adams county courthouse in downtown Gettysburg to qualify as legal Pennsylvania voters this fall.

They walked quickly through a crowd of 150 persons, including Pennsylvania GOP Sens. James H. Duff and Edward Martin, to the desk of County Clerk Clarence Smith.

Before the battery of cameras, floodlights, and reporters, Smith submitted the President to the usual line of questions, just as he would any other ex-Texan seeking to vote in Pennsylvania.

"May I have your full name, please?" he asked.

"Dwight David Eisenhower," the President replied.

Address? (A quick check with Mrs. Eisenhower) "Rural Delivery Route 2."

"Occupation?" "Well, I am an ex-soldier." (A thoughtful pause) "I am the President, I guess."

He said that he and Mrs. Eisenhower established their residence in Pennsylvania last March 11.

Place of birth? "Denison, Tex."

Height? "Five feet, 10 1/2 inches."

Color of eyes? "Blue."

Color of hair? ("This drew a big laugh from the balding President) "I guess it is brown."

Party affiliation? "Republican." (Again a slight pause) "Maybe I should have shouted that."

Mrs. Eisenhower was put through the same line of questioning before she and the President were given cards entitling them to vote as legal residents of Adams county.

Texas Motorists Rescued From Six Foot Snowdrifts

DALLAS, Feb. 3 (AP)—The worst snow storm in 15 years battered parts of Texas' South Plains tonight. A near disaster was averted south of Plainview when National Guard trucks freed occupants of about 30 cars and a bus stranded by snow drifts 6 feet high.

Late tonight, the heaviest reported snow was at Plainview, where more than 11 inches topped the 1940 record of 8 inches.

Luron Brown, Plainview Herald newsman, said "it looks like this town will be completely paralyzed by morning." Snow already had drifted almost to the eaves of some homes.

One of the stranded vehicles carried a man en route to a hospital. A wrecker freed the vehicle.

Snow, sleet and freezing rain slashed much of the rest of Texas. Weather was blamed for at least 16 deaths, most of them in traffic smashups on weather-slicked highways.

The three days of cold weather, combined with freezing rain, snow and ice, isolated many cities. Telephone lines were down. Streets and highways were blocked. Electric power lines were cut. Schools were closed. Business was paralyzed at places.

The Highway Department said the ice and sleet line extended north of an imaginary line from Shreveport, La., to Lufkin, just north of Houston, to San Antonio and on to Del Rio.

Coushatta Negro Says Threats On Life Being Made

COUSHATTA, La., Feb. 3 (AP)—A politically-active Coushatta Negro said in a newspaper advertisement today he will leave the state after threats against his life.

The ad by Henry Vickers, 55-year-old plumber and electrician, appeared in the weekly Coushatta Citizen.

He told newsmen he had received a newspaper clipping of a story concerning the shooting of a Negro in Mississippi. At the bottom, he said, was the pencilled note, "the same thing is going to happen to you."

Vickers said an anonymous telephone caller had told him, "Henry, you are going to die."

Vickers said the FBI has contacted him about the threats and Red River Parish Sheriff Kirwin Brown said the FBI was checking to see if Vickers' civil rights had been violated.

More Rain, Cold Weather Expected

The weather forecast today calls for more rain and continued cold in most of Louisiana and Arkansas. Temperatures yesterday ranged from a high of 41 degrees to a low of 38.

Meanwhile, yesterday's rainfall was recorded at 1.07.

The northeast Louisiana area, in need of rain until three days ago, has since been saturated by an almost continuous downfall. Most of yesterday's rain came in a slow drizzle with occasional heavy showers.

Last night's forecast indicated there would be much change in the weather over the weekend.

Over 100 Dead

New Frigid Blast Heads For Europe

LONDON, Feb. 3 (AP)—New cold blasts from Siberia headed for Europe tonight to prolong the great freeze that already has claimed more than 100 lives.

Weathermen warned of the new threat just as the icebound Continent expected relief in its worst winter of the 20th Century.

From behind the Iron Curtain came hints of a disastrous fuel shortage. Poland's Communist government called immediate talks on saving coal and ordered bonuses to boost output from the mines.

Frigid gales scattered coastal shipping around the Continent and even paralyzed the Mediterranean port of Marseille.

Temperatures in most countries rose slightly during the day but seldom got above freezing. The lowest overnight temperature was at Ulrichen, Switzerland—33 below zero.

At least 102 persons are known dead from cold, fire or storm since the cold wave started five days ago. France counted 30 dead. Britain 19, Germany and the Saar 10, Turkey 10, Italy 10, Denmark 9, Austria 4, Holland 4, Switzerland 3, Yugoslavia 2, and Belgium 1.

Four more, including a woman and 20-year-old child, were believed frozen to death in a fishing boat trapped in the ice off Holland.

Paris had its coldest Feb. 2 in 75 years when the temperature dropped to 5 above zero.

All over the Continent damage mounted from pipes and drains cracked by the freeze. Many European buildings have uninsulated and exposed plumbing, added after the structures were completed. In some cities gas pipes were cracked. Fuel deliveries were slow.

In Britain especially plumbers were unable to keep up with the demands for repairs. In some parts of London electricity was cut off to conserve power. Garbage has not been collected for 10 days because of the dangerous streets.

Many homes reported ice in bathrooms, which often are unwarmed even in houses with central heating.

Fishman Is Given 7 Months In Jail

Abe Fishman, 69, of Monroe, was fined $500 and given a compulsory jail sentence of seven months in Monroe city court yesterday on a charge of possessing with intention to sell sexually indecent motion picture film.

Fishman was taken into custody on Thursday, Jan. 26, after a city policeman, in plain clothes, had rented six reels of film, according to the Monroe police department. He was arrested at 118 South Grand Street, where he was planning to open a cafe.

Following the purchase of the film by the policeman, officers searched Fishman's South Grand Street address and found 20 more reels of film, according to the police department.

Hearing Set Tuesday On Election Suits; Mix-Up Recalls Episode Of 1944

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 3 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Fred LeBlanc's court fight seeking a Feb. 21 runoff and a chance for reelection turns the political spotlight on a page in Louisiana history 12 years ago.

A controversy arose then over a second primary that created headlines just like the political storm around this time.

Twelve years ago, LeBlanc would have been ruled out of a runoff—which he won—if a candidate for governor had withdrawn from the second primary.

LeBlanc and Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce, runners-up in the Jan. 17 first primary, last night slapped lawsuits against the Democratic State Central Committee after, prodded by Gov-designate Earl Long, it named two pro-Long candidates nominees for the two state offices.

Those nominated were Long candidates, Jack P. F. Gremlion, for Attorney General, and Sidney McCrory, for Agriculture commissioner. They were high men in their first primary races.

Rio Grande Valley Freeze Is Forecast

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Feb. 3—UP—The Brownsville weather bureau predicted Friday that temperatures will drop to from 27 to 31 degrees in the western end of the Rio Grande Valley and from 29 to 34 closer to the coast.

The freeze could bite deep into the valley's big crop of spring to-matoes and other tender vegetables. Experts say temperatures must get down to 28 or lower to hurt citrus.

The last big freeze in the valley was in 1951 when some 9 million citrus trees were killed.

Entries Fail To Topple Cross Word Puzzle Jackpot; Total Upped To $125

An avalanche of entries in the Morning World's cross word puzzle competition this week failed to bring forth a winner, so the $100 jackpot went untouched.

Recssures Public No Danger Involved In Handling Devices

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—UP—The Air Force hinted Friday that its heavy bombers are patrolling the skies armed with atomic bombs ready to strike a devastating blow at any country that attacks the United States.

It also disclosed that fighter-interceptors guarding American cities against surprise attack soon will be armed with the latest type of nuclear weapons to shoot down invading bombers before they reach their targets.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, threw out a broad hint that American bombers already are carrying nuclear bombs in a speech before a jet age conference of 1,000 government, military and civil aviation leaders.

Discussing "the weapons carried in aircraft," he said "It is only common sense that whatever weapons our Air Force uses must be readily available" because "instant readiness means survival" in the atomic age.

In an apparent attempt to reassure the public about the danger of accidents, he said the Air Force has been in "the nuclear bomb business" for more than 10 years and the chances of accidental explosions are "so remote as to be incalculable."

Education Board Asks Pay Hike For College Teachers

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Louisiana Education Board today adopted 1956-57 budgets for state colleges, special schools and trade schools, totalling about five million dollars more than current outlay.

No detailed figures were available, but the increase included a pay raise for many teachers and college instructors. If the Legislature should approve a new teacher pay schedule recommended by the United School Committee.

The board will ask 22.5 million dollars to operate the colleges, trade schools and special schools in the next fiscal year. The increase in the budget for the 25 trade schools alone was almost 1.5 million.

The new pay scale ups starting pay for teachers with a bachelor's degree $600 to $3,400 and provides a $700 hike to $3,500 for a master's.

The top salaries for each category are boosted $1,600 to $5,600 and $6,400.

Special school and trade school teachers come under the teacher pay schedule and college instructors receive at least the minimum they would receive if they were teaching school.

In other action, the board:

1. Approved a program for exceptional children in the fields of speech correction and remedial reading at McNeese State College.

2. Authorized Southwestern Louisiana Institute to enter into an agreement with Lafayette Charity Hospital for clinical training facilities for students in the college of nursing.

3. Transferred $30,000 from the McNeese State capital outlay fund for construction of a student center.

Coushatta Negro Says Threats On Life Being Made

The ad by Henry Vickers, 55-year-old plumber and electrician, appeared in the weekly Coushatta Citizen.

He told newsmen he had received a newspaper clipping of a story concerning the shooting of a Negro in Mississippi. At the bottom, he said, was the pencilled note, "the same thing is going to happen to you."

Vickers said an anonymous telephone caller had told him, "Henry, you are going to die."

Vickers said the FBI has contacted him about the threats and Red River Parish Sheriff Kirwin Brown said the FBI was checking to see if Vickers' civil rights had been violated.

More Rain, Cold Weather Expected

The weather forecast today calls for more rain and continued cold in most of Louisiana and Arkansas. Temperatures yesterday ranged from a high of 41 degrees to a low of 38.

Meanwhile, yesterday's rainfall was recorded at 1.07.

The northeast Louisiana area, in need of rain until three days ago, has since been saturated by an almost continuous downfall. Most of yesterday's rain came in a slow drizzle with occasional heavy showers.

Last night's forecast indicated there won't be much change in the weather over the weekend.

Over 100 Dead

New Frigid Blast Heads For Europe

LONDON, Feb. 3 (AP)—New cold blasts from Siberia headed for Europe tonight to prolong the great freeze that already has claimed more than 100 lives.

Weathermen warned of the new threat just as the icebound Continent expected relief in its worst winter of the 20th Century.

From behind the Iron Curtain came hints of a disastrous fuel shortage. Poland's Communist government called immediate talks on saving coal and ordered bonuses to boost output from the mines.

Frigid gales scattered coastal shipping around the Continent and even paralyzed the Mediterranean port of Marseille.

Temperatures in most countries rose slightly during the day but seldom got above freezing. The lowest overnight temperature was at Ulrichen, Switzerland—33 below zero.

At least 102 persons are known dead from cold, fire or storm since the cold wave started five days ago. France counted 30 dead. Britain 19, Germany and the Saar 10, Turkey 10, Italy 10, Denmark 9, Austria 4, Holland 4, Switzerland 3, Yugoslavia 2, and Belgium 1.

Four more, including a woman and 20-year-old child, were believed frozen to death in a fishing boat trapped in the ice off Holland. Paris had its coldest Feb. 2 in 75 years when the temperature dropped to 5 above zero.

All over the Continent damage mounted from pipes and drains cracked by the freeze. Many European buildings have uninsulated and exposed plumbing, added after the structures were completed. In some cities gas pipes were cracked. Fuel deliveries were slow.

In Britain especially plumbers were unable to keep up with the demands for repairs. In some parts of London electricity was cut off to conserve power. Garbage has not been collected for 10 days because of the dangerous streets.

Many homes reported ice in bathrooms, which often are unwarmed even in houses with central heating.

Fishman Is Given 7 Months In Jail

Abe Fishman, 69, of Monroe, was fined $500 and given a compulsory jail sentence of seven months in Monroe city court yesterday on a charge of possessing with intention to sell sexually indecent motion picture film.

Fishman was taken into custody on Thursday, Jan. 26, after a city policeman, in plain clothes, had rented six reels of film, according to the Monroe police department. He was arrested at 118 South Grand Street, where he was planning to open a cafe.

Following the purchase of the film by the policeman, officers searched Fishman's South Grand Street address and found 20 more reels of film, according to the police department.

Hearing Set Tuesday On Election Suits; Mix-Up Recalls Episode Of 1944

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 3 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Fred LeBlanc's court fight seeking a Feb. 21 runoff and a chance for reelection turns the political spotlight on a page in Louisiana history 12 years ago.

A controversy arose then over a second primary that created headlines just like the political storm aroused this time.

Twelve years ago, LeBlanc would have been ruled out of a runoff—which he won—if a candidate for governor had withdrawn from the second primary.

LeBlanc and Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce, runners in the Jan. 17 first primary, last night slapped lawsuits against the Democratic State Central Committee and are making alternate ballot provisions because of the court fight over attorney general and agriculture commissioner.

"My primary objective," he said, "is to be prepared to enable citizens to vote both absentee and vote machine ballots, provided that I receive final word from the courts within a reasonable time."

Unless he goes ahead now, Martin said, "I wouldn't be able to timely provide ballots no matter what the court decides."

Martin, state's chief election officer, was put under a court restraining order last night when Atty. Gen. Fred S. LeBlanc and Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce filed suits attacking the Democratic State Central Committee.

The committee, with Gov.-Designate Earl Long spearheading the move, Wednesday named Jack P. F. Gremillion and Sidney McCrory, pro-Long candidates, nominees for attorney general and agriculture commissioner.

Rio Grande Valley Freeze Is Forecast

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Feb. 3—UP—The Brownsville weather bureau predicted Friday that temperatures will drop to from 27 to 31 degrees in the western end of the Rio Grande Valley and from 29 to 34 closer to the coast.

The freeze could bite deep into the valley's big crop of spring tomatoes and other tender vegetables. Experts say temperatures must get down to 28 or lower to hurt citrus.

The last big freeze in the valley was in 1951 when some 9 million citrus trees were killed.

Entries Fail To Topple Cross Word Puzzle Jackpot; Total Upped To $125

By BONANZA BILL

An avalanche of entries in the Morning World's cross word puzzle competition this week failed to bring forth a winner, so the $100 jackpot went untouched.

Next week the puzzle in the Monday and Tuesday editions of the World will carry with it a jackpot worth $125.

Here are explanations of the more difficult clues to this week's puzzle:

CLUES ACROSS:
8. FOG spells danger, and will certainly give him something to worry about. "Something to worry about" suggests something serious. Where the ship's LOG is concerned, the captain merely has to write it up.

8. RAGE, yes. For to fly into a RAGE certainly can have an effect on the heart. As for RAGE this would depend on whether you're taking part or just looking on.

Ford Campaigns For Better Roads, Mails Magazines

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. has begun mailing out a quarter of a million copies of a magazine as part of what it calls "an all-out, saturation effort on behalf of the American highways."

Ford spokesmen said they hope the magazine, entitled "Freedom of the American Road," will inspire Americans to do something about the nation's "highway situation." Copies were delivered to Washington newsmen today.

The magazine, climaxed two years of research and study, is to be followed by the release of a 25-minute film which Ford plans to show in 45 major cities as part of its "saturation" effort.

Company officials said it is a public service project and for that reason would not disclose its cost. Obviously it ran into sizeable figures.

The magazine is 120 pages, profusely illustrated on slick paper. It tells the story of what people in different communities are doing to improve their roads and traffic problems. It also features a feature, "The Road to Tomorrow," in which Robert Moses, head of the New York City and state park systems and J. C. Furness, author of "And Sudden Death," Henry Ford II, head of the company, summed it up in a preface:

"We have published this book not only to report to you about our highways, but also to give you an insight into the people themselves. We wanted to tell you of the ways they worked out to build better roads, how they developed methods to control the traffic on most roads, and how they are helping every driver realize the responsibility he assumes every time he slides behind the wheel. "We present their stories with pride. For here, it seems to us, is visible evidence of democracy in action. . . ."

The magazine makes no special pitch for any type of legislation.

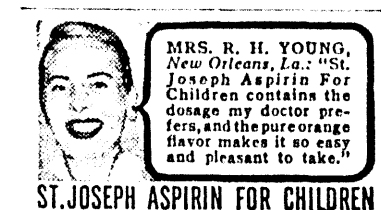

Fire Strikes Night Club In Providence

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Feb. 3 (Special)—Fire broke out in the 4th club tonight just outside Lake Providence and severe damage was inflicted on the interior before members of the local volunteer fire department brought the blaze under control.

The 4th club, one of the oldest and better known nightspots in East Carroll parish, is owned by Mrs. L. L. Kilpatrick. The club is located west of the Lake Providence city limits on Lake Providence.

Origin of the fire was not determined. However, it was believed to have started in the attic near the kitchen, according to firemen.

The outside walls remained standing but firemen said damage on the interior was "very extensive."

The district court hearing was set for Tuesday.

Runoffs will be held for legislative and other races.

"We stopped printing ballots until we decided extent of the court restraining order," Martin said, "what it prevented me from doing and what it didn't prevent me from doing."

"After consulting with my attorneys, I have concluded on their advice that it is permissible to go ahead and accordingly I shall proceed with packaging supplies and materials."

"Secondly, on advice of my attorney, I am going to proceed with preparation of vote machine ballots in such a way that they can be mechanically adjusted to permit the voters to vote for the four candidates or to prevent them from voting for the four, depending upon what the court decides."

"In connection with absentee ballots, I can't print them in such a way that they can be mechanically adjusted in voting machines, so we are going to begin printing of these both with and without the four names. In other words, we will begin printing two sets of absentee ballots."

"By beginning this work today, as I have described it, I will be able to timely provide absentee ballots and voting machines, if I can receive definite information concerning names to be included on the ballot, not later than 3 p.m. next Tuesday afternoon."

Martin said that until the day the central committee met, "we were preparing the ballots on the assumption that the four names would be on the ballot."

Hearing Set

10 a.m. Tuesday. While LeBlanc and Pearce were campaigning for the runoff, Long and his leaders Wednesday sprang a political surprise, winning committee support in a 73-4 vote that declared Grennillan and McCrory the nominees.

National committeeman Camille Gravel, Long's chief strategist, successfully contended there is no lawful provision for a second primary for state offices when a candidate for governor receives a first primary majority, as Long did.

The law stipulates a runoff will be held if no candidate for governor receives a first primary majority. The question has not been raised in recent years.

LeBlanc and Earl Long were involved in another second primary fight 12 years ago, when Jimmie Davis won the governorship, defeating the Morgan-Long ticket. Before 1944, a state law said, "if for any reason there is no second primary to nominate a candidate for governor, there shall be no second primary election for state officers who ran in the first primary, but the person receiving a plurality of the votes cast for the office for which he was a candidate shall be declared the nominee of the party holding the said primary."

That law was repealed in 1944 after the Davis Administration took office.

In the gubernatorial contest, Lewis Morgan headed the Morgan-Long ticket. He was candidate for governor and Earl Long was candidate for lieutenant governor. The ticket's choice for attorney general was Joe Cawthon. Other candidates on the Long state, including Long, were high men in their races for state offices.

Long and others tried to persuade Morgan to drop out of the race, which would have given the gubernatorial nomination to Davis but would have assured the Morgan-Long state a virtual sweep for the other state offices, and Long would have become lieutenant governor.

As an example, in this year's race, Letha Frazier, Long's candidate for lieutenant governor, was high man in the Jan. 17 first primary, but Lt. Gov. C. E. Baram, the runner-up, withdrew and Frazier became the nominee. Morgan remained in the 1944 second primary, however, and Davis and his ticket won the runoff.

Long, high man over Emile J. Verret in the first primary, was defeated in the runoff which he tried to avoid. And Cawthon, the Morgan-Long candidate for attorney general, lost to LeBlanc in a runoff after Cawthon was high man in the first primary.

After that contest, the Davis Legislature repealed the section of the election law which specifically called off second primaries for state offices when "for any reason" there is no second primary for governor.

Hughes Acquitted On Two Counts Of Perjury By Jury

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Paul H. Hughes, Washington private investigator, went free today after a federal jury acquitted him on two counts of a six-count perjury indictment.

The jury said it was "hopelessly deadlocked" on the remaining four counts. It had deliberated 11 hours. U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams said it was "inconceivable" the government would seek a new trial.

As he walked out of the courtroom smiling, Hughes said:

"The first thing on my list is to look up Sen. McCarthy. I think I ought to make an apology for my trouble and embarrassment I have caused him."

Hughes, 35, was accused of lying to a federal grand jury investigating Harvey Matusow, who turned FBI informant against Red leaders, then recanted his testimony.

Hughes testified that he was a tool in a political plot against McCarthy.

In Washington today, McCarthy commented:

"I am very happy that Hughes was acquitted—he was just a small fry in a conspiracy to smear and defame me. It would have been bad justice if he went to jail and the rest went free."

The Wisconsin senator said the Justice Department now should seriously consider further indictments.

Most of the testimony in the case concerned Hughes' allegedly fraudulent scheme to represent himself as being an investigator for McCarthy.

A number of prominent persons testified they were taken in by Hughes story. They included Clayton Fritchey, deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Joseph L. Rauh Jr., chairman of Americans for Democratic Action.

Rauh, in Washington, had this comment on McCarthy's statement:

"I am not surprised at McCarthy's use of the decision in the Hughes case to attempt to rehabilitate himself. Those of us who dealt with Hughes did so in the best tradition of defenders of the Bill of Rights."

Rauh said Hughes "brought to our attention allegations and purported proof" of illegal activities by McCarthy at a time "when McCarthy threatened the very roots of our civil liberties."

"Hughes' story was carefully checked and ultimately found to be untrue," he said. "Not one line of the material was ever utilized in any way, shape or form. We refused to adopt McCarthy's tactics even in fighting McCarthy. Had the situation been in reverse I have no doubt McCarthy would have done many times in the past, have made charges without bothering to check the authenticity of the story."

Natchez Trace Parkway Set For Improvements

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The National Park Service made public tonight details of a 1956-57 construction program designed to launch the 10-year "Mission 66" development of the national park system.

The program contemplates construction of 12½ million dollars worth of buildings and utilities. This includes the projects for which President Eisenhower on Thursday proposed an additional $8,350,000 appropriation in the budget for the year beginning July 1.

Other construction, covered in the original budget request for 1955-57, includes proposals for 12½ million dollars for roads and trails and 11 million dollars for parkways.

The following projects are included in what the service has asked Congress to approve for the start of "Mission 66":

Natchez Trace Parkway—Mississippi: Grading, drainage & base course, U. S. 45 to U. S. 78 (4.7 mi.), $483,000; 2 bridges and 3 grade separations, $171,000; Miss. Suit For Divorce Filed By Actress Judy Garland

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Feb. 3 (AP)—Actress Judy Garland filed suit for divorce today from actor's agent Sid Luft. She alleged extreme cruelty.

Miss Garland asked the court to make an equitable division of community property. She requested custody of the couple's two children, Lorma, 3, and Joseph, 10 months old.

The couple was married June 8, 1952.

The film colony credits Luft with masterminding Miss Garland's comeback after her downfall at MGM. She engaged in a number of temperamental clashes at the studio, during one of which she made an abortive attempt at slashing her throat with a broken glass.

Film sources say that Luft, a one-time test pilot for Douglas Aircraft Co. and private secretary to Eleanor Powell, supplied the confidence the singer needed after her MGM contract was ended. Luft put together a show starring his wife and took it to London's famed Palladium.

It was the first time in years she had faced a live audience and she was so nervous that she tripped and fell on her face before the opening night audience.

The Londoners adored her and Luft presented her in a record-breaking engagement at New York's heaven of vaudeville the Palace.

After her stage successes, Luft arranged a deal with Warner Brothers for him to produce a musical remake of "A Star Is Born," starring his wife.

The expense of producing the film became a legend. It cost six million dollars, although insiders estimated it could have been done for half that sum.

Last September Luft again produced an expensive show starring Miss Garland. It was her television debut on "Ford Star Jubilee."

Judge Threatens To Order Mistrial In Kidnaping Case

BEAUMONT, Feb. 3 (AP)—District Judge Owen Lord said Friday he would be forced to order a mistrial for Mrs. Pauline Schulze on baby-kidnaping charges if a Houston doctor's heart attack prevents him giving further testimony.

Dr. R. W. Schoettle didn't appear in court this morning when he was scheduled to resume testifying in the state's attempt to establish a motive for Mrs. Schulze's alleged kidnap of a 29-month-old baby girl from a Beaumont hospital last March.

District Attorney Ramie Griffin said Schoettle's nurse had called him and said the Houston physician had suffered a heart attack during the night and was receiving oxygen.

Judge Lord rejected the state's request for a recess until Schoettle was able to testify, and ordered Harris county Sheriff Buster Kern to have a doctor examine Schoettle. Judge Lord said he would have to order a mistrial if Dr. Schoettle was unable to appear as the defense had not had an opportunity to cross-examine him.

Judge Lord ordered another Houston doctor, osteopath William A. Thomas, to the stand later Friday. Thomas testified that after making a morning examination he couldn't say definitely if Dr. Schoettle had a heart attack. "I have to take his word for it," Thomas said.

He said he would not recommend that Dr. Schoettle be brought to Beaumont to testify again because "I have my conscience to live with."

Judge Lord said he was not satisfied with Dr. Thomas' testimony and ordered Beaumont heart specialist Dr. Taylor Walker to go to Houston to examine Dr. Schoettle. He ordered that Dr. Schoettle be brought back to testify at 9 a. m. Saturday if his condition would permit.

Thursday the state contended that Mrs. Schulze had kidnaped tiny Carolyn Sue Wharton from her hospital crib to threaten Dr. Schoettle.

Dr. Schoettle testified that Mrs. Schulze had told him before the kidnaping that he had made her pregnant. Dr. Schoettle said that Mrs. Schulze had not asked him for money, but didn't answer directly a state question as to whether he thought Mrs. Schulze was attempting to break up his home.

distance from the bridge and jumped. Sheriff George Miller Edwards' office received a missing report on Campbell Friday morning.

Campbell was believed to have been seen near the river Wednesday morning by Goldman Bagwell who had been fishing. Bagwell said he talked briefly to the man believed to have been Campbell.

"He asked me if I had any luck (fishing)," Bagwell said, "and I told him 'not much, how about you?' Bagwell said the man told him he wasn't fishing but 'just walking, looking around.'"

Bagwell said he saw the man and Campbell's car between 10 and 11 o'clock Wednesday morning.

About 75 persons watched the two search crews during the unrelenting downpour Friday. The search was discontinued around 8 p.m. tonight. Stepped up efforts to find a body will be made Saturday.

tempting to break up his home.

Dr. Schoettle was on the stand when the trial recessed late Thursday, and was to have appeared again at 9 a. m. Friday. His nurse claimed, however, that Dr. Schoettle had a heart attack at 3 a. m. and was a patient in his own Houston clinic.

The first witness Friday after Judge Lord ordered an examination for Dr. Schoettle by a court-appointed physician was O. C. Everett, an investigator for District Attorney Griffin.

Everett took Mrs. Schulze's alleged confession of the baby-snatching while she was in Jefferson county jail.

There have been published reports recently that some Strategic Air Command bombers carry atomic bombs, that can be "loaded" in flight, on routine training missions.

The Air Force has not confirmed this. But Secretary Donald A. Quarles said recently that U. S. bombers would be on their way to enemy targets before enemy bombers could reach the United States, even in a sneak attack.

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, chief of the Continental Air Defense Command, told the conference flatly that the time is "not far off" when swift interceptors will be armed with atomic weapons as they streak through the American skies.

"In connection with absentee ballots, I can't print them in such a way that they can be mechanically adjusted in voting machines, so we are going to begin printing of these both with and without the four names. In other words, we will begin printing two sets of absentee ballots."

"By beginning this work today, as I have described it, I will be able to timely provide absentee ballots and voting machines. If I can receive definite information concerning names to be included on the ballot, not later than 3 p.m. next Tuesday afternoon."

Martin said that until the day the central committee met, "we were preparing the ballots on the assumption that the four names would be on the ballot."

10 a.m. Tuesday. While LeBlanc and Pearce were campaigning for the runoff, Long and his leaders Wednesday sprang a political surprise, winning central committee support in a 73-4 vote that declared Gremillion and McCrory the nominees.

National committeeman Camille Gravel, Long's chief strategist, successfully contended there is no lawful provision for a second primary for state offices when a candidate for governor receives a first primary majority, as Long did.

The law stipulates a runoff will be held if no candidate for governor receives a first primary majority. The question has not been raised in recent years.

LeBlanc and Earl Long were involved in another second primary fight 12 years ago, when Jimmie Davis won the governorship, defeating the Morgan-Long ticket.

Before 1944, a state law said, "if for any reason there is no second primary to nominate a candidate for governor, there shall be no second primary election for state officers who ran in the first primary, but the person receiving a plurality of the votes cast for the office for which he was a candidate shall be declared the nominee of the party holding the said primary."

That law was repealed in 1944 after the David Administration took office.

In the gubernatorial contest, Lewis Morgan headed the Morgan-Long ticket. He was candidate for governor and Earl Long was candidate for lieutenant governor. The ticket's choice for attorney general was Joe Cawthorn. Other candidates on the Long state, including Long, were high men in their races for state offices.

Long and others tried to persuade Morgan to drop out of the race, which would have given the gubernatorial nomination to Davis but would have assured the Morgan-Long slate a virtual sweep for the other state offices and Long would have become lieutenant governor.

As an example, in this year's race, Lether Frazier, Long's candidate for Lieutenant governor, was high man in the Jan. 17 first primary, but Lt. Gov. C. E. Barham, the runnerup, withdrew and Frazier became the nominee. Morgan remained in the 1944 second primary, however, and Davis and his ticket won the runoff.

Long, high man over Emile J. Verret in the first primary, was defeated in the runoff which he tried to avoid.

And Cawthorn, the Morgan-Long candidate for attorney general, lost to LeBlanc in a runoff after Cawthorn was high man in the first primary.

After that contest, the Davis Legislature repealed the section of the election law which specifically called off second primaries for state offices when "for any reason" there is no second primary for governor.

Hughes Acquitted On Two Counts Of Perjury By Jury

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Paul H. Hughes, Washington private investigator, went free today after a federal jury acquitted him on two counts of a six-count perjury indictment.

The jury said it was "hopelessly deadlocked" on the remaining four counts. It had deliberated 11 hours. U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams said it was "inconceivable" the government would seek a new trial.

As he walked out of the courtroom smiling, Hughes said: "The first thing on my list is to look up Sen. McCarthy. I think I ought to make an apology for any trouble and embarrassment I have caused him."

Hughes, 35, was accused of lying to a federal grand jury investigating Harvey Matusow, who turned FBI informant against Red leaders, then recanted his testimony.

Hughes testified that he was a tool in a political plot against McCarthy.

In Washington today, McCarthy commented: "I am very happy that Hughes was acquitted—he was just a small fry in a conspiracy to smear and defame me. It would have been bad justice if he went to jail and the rest went free."

The Wisconsin senator said the "Justice Department now should seriously consider further indictments."

Most of the testimony in the case concerned Hughes' allegedly fraudulent scheme to represent himself as being an investigator for McCarthy.

A number of prominent persons testified they were taken in by Hughes story. They included Clayton Fritchey, deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Joseph L. Rauh Jr., chairman of Americans for Democratic Action.

Rauh, in Washington, had this comment on McCarthy's statement: "I am not surprised at McCarthy's use of the decision in the Hughes case to attempt to rehabilitate himself. Those of us who dealt with Hughes did so in the best tradition of defenders of the Bill of Rights."

Rauh said Hughes "brought to our attention allegations and purported proof" of illegal activities by McCarthy at a time "when McCarthy threatened the very roots of our civil liberties."

"Hughes' story was carefully checked and ultimately found to be untrue," he said. "Not one line of the material was ever utilized in any way, shape or form. We refused to adopt McCarthy's tactics even in fighting McCarthy. Had the situation been in reverse I have no doubt McCarthy would have done many times in the past, have made charges without bothering to check the authenticity of the story."

Natchez Trace Parkway Set For Improvements

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The National Park Service made public tonight details of a 1956-57 construction program designed to launch the 10-year "Mission 66" development of the national park system.

The program contemplates construction of 12½ million dollars worth of buildings and utilities. This includes the projects for which President Eisenhower on Thursday proposed an additional $8,350,000 appropriation in the budget for the year beginning July 1.

Other construction, covered in the original budget request for 1956-57, includes proposals for 12½ million dollars for roads and trails and 11 million dollars for parkways.

The following projects are included in what the service has asked Congress to approve for the start of "Mission 66":

Natchez Trace Parkway—Mississippi: Grading, drainage & base course, U. S. 45 to U. S. 78 (4.7 mi.), $483,600; 2 bridges and 3 grade separations, $471,900; Miss. Suit For Divorce Filed By Actress Judy Garland

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Feb. 3 (AP)—Actress Judy Garland filed suit for divorce today from actor's agent Sid Luft. She alleged extreme cruelty.

Miss Garland asked the court to make an equitable division of community property. She requested custody of the couple's two children, Lorma, 3, and Joseph, 10 months old.

The couple was married June 8, 1952.

The film colony credits Luft with marring Miss Garland's career at MGM. She engaged in a number of temperamental clashes at the studio, during one of which she made an abortive attempt at slashing her throat with a broken glass.

Film sources said that Luft, a one-time test pilot for Douglas Aircraft Co. and private secretary to Eleanor Powell, supplied the confidence the singer needed after her MGM contract was ended. Luft put together a show starring his wife and took it to London's famed Palladium.

It was the first time in years she had faced a live audience and she was so nervous that she tripped and fell on her face before the opening night audience.

The Londoners adored her and Luft presented her in a recording of a king engagement at New York's heaven of vaudeville the Palace.

After her stage successes, Luft arranged a deal with Warner Brothers for him to produce a musical remake of "A Star Is Born," starring his wife.

The expense of producing the film became a legend. It cost six million dollars, although insiders estimated it could have been done for half that sum.

Last September Luft again produced an expensive show starring Miss Garland. It was her television debut on "Ford Star Jubilee."

PATO IS ROUGHEST SPORT

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The game of polo introduces a new twist to basketball. Pat, meaning duck in Spanish, is basketball on horses in Argentina. It's the roughest game of all, says the National Geographic Society. The object of the game is to throw the duck into a basketlike net at the end of a polo-sized field about 230 yards long and 90 yards wide.

Judge Threatens To Order Mistrial In Kidnaping Case

BEAUMONT, Feb. 3 (UP)—District Judge Owen Lord said Friday he would be forced to order a mistrial for Mrs. Pauline Schulze on baby-kidnaping charges if a Houston doctor's heart attack prevents him giving further testimony.

Dr. R. W. Schoettle didn't appear in court this morning when he was scheduled to resume testifying in the state's attempt to establish a motive for Mrs. Schulze's alleged kidnap a 29-minute-old baby girl from a Beaumont hospital last March.

District Attorney Ramie Griffin said Schoettle's nurse had called him and said the Houston physician had suffered a heart attack during the night and was receiving oxygen.

Judge Lord rejected the state's request for a recess until Schoettle was able to testify, and ordered Harris county Sheriff Buster Kern to have a doctor examine Schoettle. Judge Lord said he would have to order a mistrial if Dr. Schoettle was unable to appear as the defense had not had an opportunity to cross-examine him.

Judge Lord ordered another Houston doctor, osteopath William A. Thomas, to the stand later Friday. Thomas testified that after making a morning examination he couldn't say definitely if Dr. Schoettle had a heart attack. "I have to take his word for it," Thomas said.

He said he would not recommend that Dr. Schoettle be brought to Beaumont to testify again because "I have my conscience to live with."

Judge Lord said he was not satisfied with Dr. Thomas' testimony and ordered Beaumont heart specialist Dr. Taylor Walker to go to Houston to examine Dr. Schoettle. He ordered that Dr. Schoettle be brought back to testify at 9 a. m. Saturday if his condition would permit.

Thursday the state contended that Mrs. Schulze had kidnapped tiny Carolyn Sue Wharton from her hospital crib to threaten Dr. Schoettle.

Dr. Schoettle testified that Mrs. Schulze had told him before the kidnaping that he had made her pregnant. Dr. Schoettle said that Mrs. Schulze had not asked him for money, but didn't answer directly a state question as to whether he thought Mrs. Schulze was attempting to break up his home.

Dr. Schoettle was on the stand when the trial recessed late Thursday, and was to have appeared again at 9 a. m. Friday. His nurse claimed, however, that Dr. Schoettle had a heart attack at 3 a. m. and was a patient in his own Houston clinic.

The first witness Friday after Judge Lord ordered an examination for Dr. Schoettle by a court-appointed physician was O. C. Everett, an investigator for District Attorney Griffin.

Everett took Mrs. Schulze's alleged confession of the baby-snatching while she was in Jefferson county jail.

distance from the bridge and jumped. Sheriff George Miller Edwards' office received a missing report on Campbell Friday morning.

Campbell was believed to have been seen near the river Wednesday morning by Goldman Bagwell who had been fishing. Bagwell said he talked briefly to the man believed to have been Campbell.

"He asked me if I had any luck (fishing)," Bagwell said, "and I told him 'not much, how about you?' Bagwell said the man told him he wasn't fishing but 'just walking, looking around.'"

Bagwell said he saw the man and Campbell's car between 10 and 11 o'clock Wednesday morning.

About 75 persons watched the two search crews during the unrelenting downpour Friday. The search was discontinued around 8 p.m. tonight. Stepped up efforts to find a body will be made Saturday.

carrying ordnance from bullets to A-bombs is potentially less dangerous than many other operations," he declared. "It is not and will not be a major problem to conduct these actions in safety."

There have been published reports recently that some Strategic Air Command bombers carry atomic bombs, that can be "loaded" in flight, on routine training missions.

The Air Force has not confirmed this. But Secretary Donald A. Quarles said recently that U. S. bombers would be on their way to enemy targets before enemy bombers could reach the United States, even in a sneak attack.

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, chief of the Continental Air Defense Command, told the conference flatly that the time is "not far off" when swift interceptors will be armed with atomic weapons as they streak through the American skies.

Sen. Case Charges Bribe Effort Made By Lawyer Backing Gas Bill Passage

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Sen. Case (R-S.D.) threw the Senate into an uproar today with a statement that he had been offered a $2,500 campaign contribution by a lawyer interested in passage of the natural gas bill.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), a supporter of the bill, said Case was making "a serious charge of attempted bribery," and there were immediate calls for an investigation.

Senatorial backer of the legislation, obviously upset about the effect Case's statement would have on voting scheduled to start Monday, demanded the name of the man who offered the money.

So far, Case has refused to disclose it.

He said the proffered contribution, which he declined to accept, had decided him to vote against the controversial bill. It is a measure to exempt natural gas producers from utility-type regulation by the Federal Power Commission.

"When the passage of a bill becomes so alluring that dollars are advanced to potential candidates even before primaries are held, warning signals go up," Case told his colleagues.

He said the size of the offer showed that "windfall profits are expected by some people if the bill is passed, and that this 'tended to support the charges that there were some extraordinary profits' involved."

When the Senate quit for the day, three of its top leaders, majority leader Johnson (D-Tex.), minority leader Knowland (R-Calif.) and Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.), chairman of the GOP Policy Committee in the Senate, spent half an hour with Case in the Republican cloakroom, discussing his report.

Johnson, a supporter of the bill, reported Case "did not want to divulge" the name of the man who offered the contribution, and did not do so. He said he understood Case would check on the matter further in his home state.

From another Senate source it was learned that the leaders were thinking of offering a resolution for a prompt senate investigation of the matter, perhaps by the Interstate Commerce Committee.

Johnson said the cloakroom discussion did not touch on whether the vote on the bill would proceed as scheduled on Monday.

"Nothing was decided," he said. "If we reach any decisions tomorrow, I'll let you know."

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), one of the leaders in the fight against the bill, was in New York for a speech when Case made his disclosure. He telephoned the following statement to his office here, which released it:

"I knew that the oil and gas producing industry was spending heavily in an attempt to influence public opinion, but I never thought they would spend to try to influence a senator's vote."

Johnson reported after the cloakroom huddle that Case had told the leaders "no promises were asked or given" in connection with the contribution.

The gas bill squeaked through the House by a six-vote margin last year. The Senate has been debating it for the last three weeks, with voting to start and finish on Monday.

Fulbright, an author of the bill, and Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.), its floor manager, agreed that "if an attempt was made to bribe a senator" the man who did it "ought to be pursued and prosecuted."

At the same time Monroney voiced suspicion that the incident reported by Case was a "dead cat technique" engineered by opponents of the bill to swing votes against it at the last minute.

The Oklahoman charged that "Hitler 'big lie' techniques" have been used in efforts to discredit the legislation and to portray its sponsors as robbers. He emphasized he did not mean his remarks to reflect against the conduct of any senators who oppose it, that the "dead cat" opposition came from outside legislative circles.

Monroney said he would hate to see tactics employed that would "take away the votes of senators" who had planned to vote for the bill. The vote is expected to be close, but supporters have been confident they would get the bill through.

Case told his story without mentioning any names. Fulbright said the source of the alleged "bribe" offer "should not be left up in the air." The source might be "one of the big utilities" opposing the bill, he said.

Case replied he was sure any investigation would disclose that the source "was not an opponent of the bill."

"We ought to have the name today," Fulbright insisted. Case related that a South Dakota friend telephoned him a week ago that a caller had left an envelope with him as "a contribution for my coming campaign" for re-election. Case said the envelope contained $25,000.

He told the Senate the contributor's name did not "register" with him immediately, but that on checking up he was able to identify him as a lawyer from outside South Dakota who previously had made some inquiries about Case's attitude toward the bill. Until recently, Case said, his inclination had been to vote for the bill.

Case said he concluded to "have nothing to do" with the money, but he told his colleagues "you need not pin any halos on me."

"I knew," he said, "that if the contribution were listed and reported, a contribution of that size would stick out like a sore thumb among the $5, $10, $25 run of contributions in any list of mine."

"With the identity of interest established," Case went on, he wired his South Dakota friend that turned, or if that were impractical, it be donated to the South Dakota Children's Home Society.

Sen. Butler (R-Md.), an announced backer of the bill, came up with a report of pressure in the other direction. He told the Senate that radio recordings have been made "by certain of my colleagues" for a big labor organization opposed to the bill and that these were being played over Maryland radio stations in an effort to influence his vote.

Opportunities For Women Discussed By WAC Officer

Career opportunities that are available to college graduates in the Women's Army Corps were discussed by Maj. Mary G. McDonald, WAC officer procurement coordinator, during a visit with Mrs. Ida Lee King Wilbert, dean of women at Northeast State.

College graduates may obtain direct commissions in the Women's Army Corps, and those with experience in the business fields may even qualify for commissions as first lieutenants.

Major McDonald, a graduate of Rice Institute and of the University of Texas Law School, was visiting Northeast State in company with Maj. General Mark McClure, deputy army commander for Fourth Army. General McClure is on an inspection trip, viewing the ROTC facilities at various colleges in Louisiana.

College students desiring information on the careers in the Women's Army Corps may secure full details from the WAC Officer Procurement Section, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Champion Steer At Southwestern Show Nets $6,000

FORT WORTH, Feb. 3—UP—The Amon Carter Foundation of Fort Worth bid $6,000 Friday and bought the grand champion steer of the 1956 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

The steer, Gold Seal, was an Aberdeen-Angus owned by C. E. Yoder & Sons of Muscatine, Iowa. It will be given to the Lena Pope Home for Children in Fort Worth. This year's price was slightly under the $6,000 paid by Jesse Roach, Fort Worth councilman and cafe owner, at the 1955 auction.

The reserve champion, owned by Jane Holloway of Abilene, Tex., sold for $5,500 to the stock show's agricultural development fund.

The first National Bank of Fort Worth paid $1,800 for the champion Shorthorn, owned by Wayne Grieman of Garner, Iowa.

New Englanders Backing South On Cotton Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—New England House Democrats today joined today in support of legislation designed to maintain export markets for American-grown cotton and prevent loss of domestic markets for American-manufactured cotton goods.

The bill, by Reps. Gathings (D-Ark.) and Abernethy (D-Miss.), would require the secretary of agriculture to establish quotas on imports of manufactured cotton products at 150 per cent of the average imports for the 1953-54 period.

Rep. McCormick (D-Mass.) said Rep. Lane (D-Mass.), chairman of the textile subcommittee of the New England congressional delegation, and Rep. Fogarty (D-R.I.) plan to appear before the House Agriculture Committee next week in behalf of the Gathings-Abernethy bill.

"This cotton industry bill has the unified support of both the cotton producers and cotton textile industry," Lane said in a statement.

"Democrats in Congress are moving to enact it into law only after the administration has failed to exercise the existing authority to take the steps necessary to preserve the American cotton industry."

"We believe that the enactment of this bill as part of the Democratic farm program will be a major boon to all segments of the American cotton industry and will help preserve many thousands of jobs for textile workers throughout the country."

Education Club Members Here To Attend Meet

More than 50 per cent of the students enrolled in part-time job training at Ouachita will participate actively in the annual convention at Baton Rouge Feb. 6-7.

The local distributive education club is backing their candidate for state treasurer, Lorraine McMullen, a junior student-trainee and treasurer of the local club.

Clarence Sanderson, a second year student, will represent the club as a voting delegate.

Sen. Case Charges Bribe Effort Made By Lawyer Backing Gas Bill Passage

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Sen. Case (R-SD) threw the Senate into an uproar today with a statement that he had been offered a $2,500 campaign contribution by a lawyer interested in passage of the natural gas bill.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), a supporter of the bill, said Case was making "a serious charge of attempted bribery," and there were immediate calls for an investigation.

Senatorial backer of the legislation, obviously upset about the effect Case's statement would have on voting scheduled to start Monday, demanded the name of the man who offered the money.

So far, Case has refused to disclose it.

He said the proffered contribution, which he declined to accept, had decided him to vote against the controversial bill. It is a measure to exempt natural gas producers from utility-type regulation by the Federal Power Commission.

"When the passage of a bill becomes so alluring that dollars are advanced to potential candidates even before primaries are held, warning signals go up," Case told his colleagues.

He said the size of the offer showed that "windfall profits are expected by some people if the bill is passed, and that this 'tended to support the charges that there were some extraordinary profits' involved.

When the Senate quit for the day, three of its top leaders, majority leader Johnson (D-Tex.), minority leader Knowland (R-Calif.) and Sen. Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the GOP Policy Committee in the Senate, spent half an hour with Case in the Republican cloakroom, discussing his report.

Johnson, a supporter of the bill, reported Case "did not want to divulge" the name of the man who offered the contribution, and did not do so. He said he understood Case would check on the matter further in his home state.

From another Senate source it was learned that the leaders were thinking of offering a resolution for a prompt senate investigation of the matter, perhaps by the Inter-

New Englanders Backing South On Cotton Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—New England House Democrats today joined today in support of legislation designed to maintain export markets for American-grown cotton and prevent loss of domestic markets for American-manufactured cotton goods.

The bill, by Reps. Gathings (D-Ark.) and Abernethy (D-Miss.), would require the secretary of agriculture to establish quotas on imports of manufactured cotton products at 150 per cent of the average imports for the 1953-54 period.

Rep. McCormick (D-Mass.) said Rep. Lane (D-Mass.), chairman of the textile subcommittee of the New England congressional delegation, and Rep. Fogarty (D-R-I) plan to appear before the House Agriculture Committee next week in behalf of the Gathings-Abernethy bill.

"This cotton industry bill has the unified support of both the cotton producers and cotton textile industry," Lane said in a statement.

"Democrats in Congress are moving to enact it into law only after the administration has failed to exercise the existing authority to take the steps necessary to preserve the American cotton industry."

"We believe that the enactment of this bill as part of the Democratic farm program will be a major boon to all segments of the American cotton industry and will help preserve many thousands of jobs for textile workers throughout the country."

state Commerce Committee.

Johnson said the cloakroom discussion did not touch on whether the vote on the bill would proceed as scheduled on Monday.

"Nothing was decided," he said. "If we reach any decisions tomorrow, I'll let you know."

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), one of the leaders in the fight against the bill, was in New York for a speech when Case made his disclosure. He telephoned the following statement to his office here, which released it:

"I knew that the oil and gas producing industry was spending heavily in an attempt to influence public opinion, but I never thought they would spend to try to influence a senator's vote."

Johnson reported after the cloakroom huddle that Case had told the leaders "no promises were asked or given" in connection with the contribution.

The gas bill squeaked through the House by a six-vote margin last year. The Senate has been debating it for the last three weeks, with voting to start and finish on Monday.

Fulbright, an author of the bill, and Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.), its floor manager, agreed that "if an attempt was made to bribe a senator" the man who did it "ought to be pursued and prosecuted."

At the same time Monroney voiced suspicion that the incident reported by Case was a "dead cat technique" engineered by opponents of the bill to swing votes against it at the last minute.

The Oklahoma charged that "Hitler 'big lie' techniques" have been used in efforts to discredit the legislation and to portray its sponsors as robbers. He emphasized he did not mean his remarks to reflect against the conduct of any senators who oppose it, that the "dead cat" opposition came from outside legislative circles.

Monroney said he would hate to see tactics employed that would "take away the votes of senators" who had planned to vote for the bill. The vote is expected to be close, but supporters have been confident they would get the bill through.

Case told his story without mentioning any names. Fulbright said the source of the alleged "bribe" offer "should not be left up in the air." The source might be "one of the big utilities" opposing the bill, he said.

Case replied he was sure any investigation would disclose that the source "was not an opponent of the bill."

"We ought to have the name today," Fulbright insisted.

Case related that a South Dakota friend telephoned him a week ago that a caller had left an envelope with him as "a contribution for my coming campaign" for re-election. Case said the envelope contained 25 $100 bills.

He told the Senate the contributor's name did not "register" with him immediately, but that on checking up he was able to identify him as a lawyer from outside South Dakota who previously had made some inquiries about Case's attitude toward the bill. Until recently, Case said, his inclination had been to vote for the bill.

Case said he concluded to "have nothing to do" with the money, but he told his colleagues "you need not pin any halos on me."

"I knew," he said, "that if the contribution were listed and reported, a contribution of that size would stick out like a sore thumb among the $5, $10, $25 run of contributions in any list of mine."

"With the identity of interest established," Case went on, he wired his South Dakota friend that turned, or if that were impractical, it be donated to the South Dakota Children's Home Society.

Sen. Butler (R-Md.), an announced backer of the bill, came up with a report of pressure in the other direction. He told the Senate that radio recordings have been made "by certain of my colleagues" for a big labor organization opposed to the bill and that these were being played over Maryland radio stations in an effort to influence his vote.

Opportunities For Women Discussed By WAC Officer

Career opportunities that are available to college graduates in the Women's Army Corps were discussed by Maj. Mary G. McDonald, WAC officer procurement coordinator, during a visit with Mrs. Ida Lee King Wilbert, dean of women at Northeast State.

College graduates may obtain direct commissions in the Women's Army Corps, and those with experience in the business fields may even qualify for commissions as first lieutenants.

Major McDonald, a graduate of Rice Institute and of the University of Texas Law School, was visiting Northeast State in company with Maj. General Mark McClure, deputy army commander for Fourth Army. General McClure is on an inspection trip, viewing the ROTC facilities at various colleges in Louisiana.

College students desiring information on the careers in the Women's Army Corps may secure full details from the WAC Officer Procurement Section, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Champion Steer At Southwestern Show Nets $6,000

FORT WORTH, Feb. 3 — UP—The Amon Carter Foundation of Fort Worth bid $6,000 Friday and bought the grand champion steer of the 1956 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

The steer, Gold Seal, was an Aberdeen-Angus owned by C. E. Yoder & Sons of Muscatine, Iowa. It will be given to the Lena Pope Home for Children in Fort Worth.

This year's price was slightly under the $6,300 paid by Jesse Roach, Fort Worth councilman and cafe owner, at the 1955 auction.

The reserve champion, owned by Jane Holloway of Abilene, Tex., sold for $3,500 to the stock show's agricultural development fund.

The first National Bank of Fort Worth paid $1,800 for the champion Shorthorn, owned by Wayne Grieman of Garner, Iowa.

New Archbishop Of York Critical Of Billy Graham

DURHAM, Eng., Feb. 3—UP—The newly-elected Archbishop of York said Friday that American evangelist Billy Graham teaches the "grossest doctrines" and presents a "very distorted" picture of the Gospel.

Dr. Arthur M. Ramsey, co-primate of the Church of England, criticized the North Carolina preacher in the diocesan magazine of Durham, of which he was bishop before elevation to the See of York last month.

In an article entitled "The Menace of Fundamentalism," Ramsey said there is evidence that Graham, currently in India, "has taught the grossest doctrines and flung his formula 'the Bible' over teaching which is emphatically not that of the Bible."

He said Graham's statement that "the Bible is a book written by God through 30 secretaries" is an error "overthrowing the nature of sacrament."

Ramsey said that the fundamentalist's pulpit cliché "the Bible says" is "a very distorted view of the Apostolic Gospel."

The archbishop said fundamentalist technique is to call for an immediate decision for Christ, "in which the mind is not asked to participate."

"This stifling of the mind in the process of decision... (may) bring the most terrible revenges in skepticism and disillusionments," he said.

The Rebirth Of La Prensa

An event of tremendous significance to Argentina and Latin America and the United States and the free world developed yesterday.

La Prensa, one of the leading newspapers of the world, resumed publication as a free and independent journal under its ancient ownership, with an initial run of 700,000 copies—probably a fourth of the demand. Yet it, like The Morning World and the News-Star and every other newspaper in this country and throughout the two continents, suffers from a shortage of newsprint.

The rebirth of La Prensa is the most encouraging development in Latin America since the brilliant revolution in Guatemala that overthrew a Communist dictatorship and restored political and economic and civil rights to the people.

Many veteran American newspapermen, including this writer, regarded La Prensa as perhaps the world's foremost newspaper, technically, in format, in its coverage, its breadth of vision and its unquenchable courage, and in its devotion to a living ideal, and the utter honesty of its expression.

It fought the dictatorship of Juan D. Peron down to the last gasp. It was confiscated by this labor-fascist tyrant five years ago, and turned into a propaganda organ directed by the labor movement; and immediately degenerated into nothing.

Its brilliant editor and publisher, Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz, fled to Montevideo, and later to New York. In exile, his powerful voice was raised in behalf of freedom of the press throughout the world. He is one of the great newspapermen of today, a vivid and forceful personality, dynamic and inspiring.

His grandfather founded La Prensa 87 years ago.

Provisional President Pedro E. Aramburu, ruling after the valiant revolution that overthrew the corrupt Peron, issued a series of decrees restoring this vast newspaper enterprise with its 1,000 employees to its rightful owners; and thereby gave his own country and all freedom-loving peoples a vivid proof that Argentina now stands with the confederation of inter-American nations as a champion against oppression—and of a free press.

The people of Argentina rejoice. They have, once more, unbiased and uncensored news from their own country and the globe; and editorial comment untainted by propaganda, fearless, forthright—the mighty voice of La Prensa magically liberated after five years in a dungeon, devoted to the needs of the people, ready to fight their battles.

Here is an epic example of the text that "Truth crushed to earth shall rise again."

We in this country, and particularly our newspapermen, wish for La Prensa many happy birthdays.

Appointment Of John Sherrouse, Jr.

John Sherrouse, Jr., of Monroe has been appointed by Governor Robert B. Kennon as a member of the Louisiana Board of Highways, to fill the unexpired term of Fred Preaus, who resigned as chairman of the board to run for governor.

The tenure of Mr. Sherrouse will extend until June, 1961.

The Monroean, prominent in business and civic affairs, has never before held a political office. Yet he is a trained executive with a record of achievement, youthful and vigorous and civic-minded.

The Louisiana Board of Highways should not be run, in fact, as a political body, but rather as a state administrative agency doing a business job, free from political consideration—building and maintaining highways.

Mr. Sherrouse has set a fine example of devotion to the public welfare in accepting this appointment—doubtless at a personal sacrifice. His many friends in Louisiana wish him success in his new undertaking.

25 Million Chinese Captives

According to a documented survey released Thursday by the United Nations, more than 25 million persons are being held in slave labor camps throughout Red China.

The survey contains shocking disclosures of human slavery on a scale hitherto unknown in history—exceeding anything practiced by Soviet Russia even during the early years of the Red revolution.

Its 356 pages provide a tragic account of brutality and brutality by the Red Chinese, embracing every one of the mainland's more than 2,000 counties—and every county has at least one slave labor camp, according to the factual presentation.

Evidence to support the findings of the survey was supplied by the United States, Nationalist China, and various international agencies investigating slave labor practices behind the Iron Curtain, from the Formosa Straits to Eastern Europe.

This documented and carefully prepared report, based on painstaking investigations pursued for many months from a multitude of sources, should heighten the determination of the American government and people to have no intercourse with Red China.

How many of the Red Chinese apologists now infesting press and radio and television and movies and magazines in America will discuss these awful revelations by the United Nations?

How many left-wing commentators, and so-called news analysts and columnists, will even broach the facts marshalled in this tragic and sorrowful document?

How many self-styled "intellectuals" wedded to Marxism will acknowledge in their own foggy minds, much less publicly, that 25 million Chinese are enslaved in labor camps—or, for that matter, that millions have been slain by the conquering Red horde.

Here is further proof of the utter savagery and barbarity of the Red China regime—beasts in human form, scarcely human, fiendish and hungry for power—even now, attempting to intimidate the Western World and blackmail it into submission.

Most Americans who live in trailers chose a home on wheels because it offered a real answer to their special housing needs. And most of them are enthusiastic about mobile living.

Air Transport

The partisanship whipped up here over changes in government jobs often tends to obscure the grave importance of some matter of deep concern to the whole country. . . . Thus the firing of Frederick Lee, a New Hampshire Republican, by Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks was viewed by some critics as the result of a difference of opinion on which Weeks took the side of the railroads.

Actually rail transportation does not seem to have been involved at all and the break between the two men was on personal grounds, since Lee had the support of most of the major air lines and the Air Line Pilots' Association.

What still has not been pointed up sufficiently as a result of the incident is that the nation's air transportation system has not progressed with the growth of commercial airlines and that an increasing number of accidents with possible heavy loss of life may be the result.

The regulation of air traffic under direction of the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Civil

Hero Worship

Learn what person an adolescent boy or girl admires most, would most like to imitate, and you have a good idea of the intelligence maturity and potential character of that young person—all of which gives a teacher or parent a basis for instruction and leadership.

A teacher of English long acquainted with the characteristics of his high-school students gave me this assignment: "Select the man or woman you would most like to be like—anybody you choose, dead or alive in any field you choose. The person you would like most to be. You have a month to six weeks to hand this story in. Meantime search newspaper files, talk to people who might have something to tell you, read biography or autobiography, search for information about the character's life, his success or failure, and be sure to let your paper tell why you have chosen as you have."

The papers were illuminating. The characters were selected from every walk in life, from every period of history. Washington was there, and so were Milton Berle, St. Joan and Marilyn Monroe, Joe DiMaggio and President Eisenhower, my father and our priest, J. P. Morgan and St. Francis, Rita Hayworth and Eleanor Roosevelt. The teacher read the papers carefully, studied them in the light of what he knew of the writers, kept them confidentially and then set to work to either modify the ideals or bring the influences of finer heroes to bear upon the idealist.

Few adolescents grow to maturity without holding someone as their ideal in life. As the boys and girls grow away from father and mother and try to identify themselves with someone they think is nearer to their ideas of a glamorous life, they fasten on someone prominent in society or history. Their selection is bound to have a powerful influence on their thought, activity, behavior and character growth in general.

This is something for all parents and teachers to consider and to influence toward the healthy growth of the young person. It is to be considered seriously and approached gingerly, for the young person who has selected his hero is very touchy about the whole affair.

Don't laugh at him; don't criticize his hero in scathing terms; do try to accent any good in the idea and if it is not acceptable, try to make that plain in the most subtle and indirect way at your service.

For example, let the child who has elected a selfish hero know by slow degrees what his life meant to him and to others. But go gently.

Useful habits make happy living and add to mind and character. Dr. Patri explains how to encourage your child to be helpful in leaflet P-14, "Helpful Habits." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Going to college? Well, profit from Harry's example. And beware of the communistic tendency to billet students in big dormitories where the "barracks" type of life prevents good study habits. Many students nowadays must hide away in the college library because they can't study adequately in their dormitory or frat house.

Case Q-368: Harry J., aged 19, flunked out of college last term. "Dr. Crane, I can't understand it," his father portended to me, "for Harry was a pretty fair student in high school."

"He went to a Big Ten University, so maybe he was swallowed up in the crowd. What do you think?"

Freshman Pitfalls One of the great hazards in the freshman year of college is the communistic form of life into which students are suddenly catapulted.

Until they reach the campus, they live in a private home and have their own room.

Then they are suddenly deposited in a dormitory or frat or sorority house. Scores of teenagers then live together, barracks style. They barge into each other's rooms.

Theoretically, "Study Hours" are supposed to be maintained, but that is often malarky.

In practicality, the freshmen "pledges" are forced to work far into the nights on floats for Dad's Day or football "Homecoming," as well as "Mother's Day" and other celebrations.

Juvenile "hazing" still goes on by the fraternities, which jerk freshmen out of bed at midnight and, after blindfolding them, drop them in their pajamas in the midst of a corn field 5 or 10 miles from nowhere.

Upper classmen do this even though vital examinations may be scheduled next day for which the freshmen needed that sleep to be alert.

No "Horse Sense" During high school, a student comes home each afternoon to study. And if he sprouts any cockeyed idea, his younger brothers and sisters soon puncture his delusion. Or his parents inject their mature "horse sense."

Furthermore, his parents and teachers know each other via the P-T-A so any defects in his deportment or school marks are quickly brought to light.

In college, however, we do not have the wonderful benefits of a P-T-A and the faculty advisor is usually loaded with so many students that he can't tell what is going on.

Besides, a student is already so far behind in his studies before his parents are aware that it is almost impossible to bring him up to par.

But the communistic system of living in dormitories is one of the greatest evils that I have seen in my lifetime of connection with university life.

I think we need to de-centralize the living quarters of college students and billet them in private cottages or in a new motel-type of dwelling.

Barracks life is not the American way of living, anyway, so we start them off on the wrong foot the day they deposit their luggage in a college dormitory.

Nostalgia Nostalgia is also the greatest ailment on college campuses. That means homesickness.

Many students of 18 or 19 get so lonely, they trek back home for week-ends and thereby grow so fatigued by their long hours of hitch-hiking or auto driving that they fail to keep up with studying. Furthermore, many professors, especially in the larger universities, have little real interest in their students. They callously take the attitude that a student must "sink or swim."

Instead of being vitally concerned about their students, such faculty members are often more interested in their own selfish advancement. . . . by some new research project or a published paper which will give them leverage for a bigger job elsewhere or a promotion in salary on the present campus.

Our whole university concept in America needs a thorough housecleaning. We have too many "career" men on faculties and not enough real teachers.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamp, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological booklets.

That Perfect Day

HOWEVER seldom it occurs . . . I love that perfect day . . . When

Treasury Chief Opposes Federal Control Of Credit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey today opposed standby consumer credit controls, despite President Eisenhower's suggestion to Congress that this would be a good time to "study the problem."

Eisenhower did not ask that such controls be imposed now—only that consideration be given to authorizing his administration to invoke them when and if necessary.

Humphrey, a consistent opponent of direct government controls on the economy, told the Senate-Economic Committee that the government is taking on "a lot of responsibility when you tell 167 million people what they can afford to buy."

Despite a sharp rise in consumer debt last year there has been no move in Congress to restore the authority to impose installment buying curbs, which expired in 1952.

The Treasury Cabinet officer also said:

1. He has little faith in the correctness of economic activity estimates prepared by Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers.
2. He sees "nothing alarming" to the general economy in the decline of farm prices.
3. "Our present estimates do not give any grounds for tax reduction, no grounds at all."

Humphrey and Chairman Douglas (D-Ill.) engaged in several sharp exchanges during a hearing on the President's economic report. Each described the other as a "prophet of gloom and doom."

Humphrey told a news conference on Jan. 14 the President's new budget was based on expectations that personal income would total $124 billion in 1956, and corporate profits would total $43 billion.

Douglas contended this meant that Humphrey looked for no economic growth in 1956 because the figures he gave were close to the 1955 year-end annual rates as estimated by the Council of Economic Advisers.

Humphrey said such estimates were "wild" and pointed out that in past years similar estimates have been radically revised as time went on.

He said he had as much faith in his own estimate of the economic situation as in the figures drawn up by Dr. Arthur Burns and his colleagues on the economic council, chief economic advisory board to the President.

Douglas calculated "on the basis of the secretary's figures, not mine" that no economic growth for 12 months would result in doubling the number of unemployed to five million by the end of this year.

Humphrey said his estimates did "not really" indicate a leveling off of the boom this year because his figures pointed to higher total income in 1956 than in 1955.

In his economic report to Congress Eisenhower said that standby authority for consumer credit controls might be a "useful adjunct" to the government's other powers to stabilize economic swings. Eisenhower said it would be "desirable to increase the influence" of the government on the use of consumer credit, but he wound up by stating that "although present conditions do not call for the use of such authority. . . This is a good time for the Congress and the executive branch to study the problem."

Heavy Fog Over Atlanta Lifts; Threatens Again

ATLANTA, Feb. 3 (AP)—A heavy fog which grounded all commercial plane flights to and from Atlanta for 33 hours and disrupted service in several other southern cities lifted today but threatened to return tonight.

Mark Elliott, aviation forecaster for the Atlanta weather bureau, said the ceiling and visibility were below that prescribed as minimum flying weather from 2 a.m. Thursday to mid-morning today. He said that flights were still being allowed shortly after dark today but added that "chances are good" the fog will return before morning.

Flights into Richmond, Va.; Greenville, S. C.; Mobile and Birmingham, Ala.; Little Rock, Ark.; Laurel, Miss.; Columbus and Macon, Ga.; and Nashville and Chattanooga, Tenn., all were affected to some degree by the fog.

GIRL AND 2 MEN HELD IN PLOT TO KILL HER PARENTS—Here are principals involved in what officials described as a plot by a 16-year-old high school girl and two men to kill her parents at Scranton, Pa., and divide their wealth. Mrs. Margaret Chomko (upper left), 38, was shot in the back and wounded critically in her home Monday. Police said the shot was fired by Mrs. Chomko's daughter, Marlene, shown seated beside her mother. Officers reported Marlene and her lover, Samuel Diana, 22, then pursued her father, Joseph Chomko (upper right), who was driving to New York, with intent to kill him. Police intercepted them before they overtook him. Authorities said the plot was master-minded by John Pitta, 34, whose objective was to get possession of a truck belonging to Chomko, a well-to-do trucker. Marlene and Diana intended to marry and take possession of her parents' luxurious home, the officials reported. Diana (left) and Pitta are shown (bottom) in jail at Scranton after their arrest. Two Solons Begin Unprecedented Move To Convene Texas Legislators

U. S. Clamps Travel Ban On Hungary

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The United States cracked down on Communist Hungary today for "persecuting" Hungarian citizens who work for the American legation in Budapest and for imprisoning a husband-wife team who worked for American news services.

In a note bitterly denouncing the Red leadership of Hungary, the State Department notified Minister Karoly Szarka here:

1. That the travel of American citizens to Hungary is again being banned. The ban was lifted only last Oct. 31.

2. That new restrictions on the travel of Hungarian legation personnel in the United States will shortly be imposed.

3. That the United States government is no longer interested in negotiating with Hungary on trade and other problems.

The note accused Hungary of "abridgement of freedom of the press," of failing to act as an "independent and responsible government" and of failing to "honor its international obligations and to show a decent respect for the rights of the Hungarian people."

"The American action was the first of its kind since the good-will era of the Geneva summit conference. It was triggered by a series of Hungarian anti-American moves beginning with the arrest in February 1955 of Endre Marton, a Hungarian citizen who served as correspondent for the Associated Press at Budapest for many years.

About the same time Marton was arrested, a legation employee, Bela Kapotsi, was seized. Last June Mrs. Marton, correspondent for the United Press, was arrested and the same day the Red police seized another legation employee, Cornel Balas.

On Jan. 15 the Hungarian press announced the conviction and sentencing of all four on espionage charges. Marton was sentenced to six years in prison, Mrs. Marton to three years, Kapotsi to life imprisonment, Balas to eight years.

"The protracted detention, incommunicado and subsequent imprisonment of the Martons have not only deprived the Associated Press and the United Press of the legitimate professional services of these experienced local reporters," the Hungarian government was told.

"They have also seriously prejudiced free access to news sources within Hungary and must therefore be regarded as an abridgement of freedom of the press."

As for the legation employees, the note said that apart from the two whose fate is known, seven others were seized by the secret police in 1951-1954 without explanation to the legation. Their fates "are unknown to the legation."

SHERMAN, Tex., Feb. 3 — UP—An unprecedented move for a special session of the House because of the insurance scandals with "impeachment of state officials in mind" was started Friday by two Grayson county representatives.

The representatives, Charles E. Hughes of Sherman and D. B. Hardeman of Denison, mailed separate proclamations to each of the other 148 House members. They want the session to begin March 1.

The House, which holds the power of impeachment, is empowered to call a special session "by proclamation in writing signed by a majority of the members" or a total of at least 76.

The move drew little comment from the office of Gov. Allan Shivers. A spokesman said:

"The governor has said two legislative investigating committees are now at work, and that he will await their reports. He has also said he will call a special session when he believes one is necessary, and it will do some good."

Should Hughes and Hardeman obtain the necessary signatures, it is believed it would be the first time in recent Texas political history that the proclamation method was used to summon the House into special session.

The representatives said in an accompanying letter that "the people of Texas are looking to us to establish the responsibility of what has happened to clean out the bad and to then be able to assure them that the state government is honest and efficient."

"We realize that such a session will be an expense both to the state and the individual members. However, what greater responsibility have we than that of freeing our government from corruption and protecting the savings of our citizens."

"Accordingly, we are herewith enclosing a proclamation for a special session of the House of Representatives for the purpose of instituting an investigation pertaining to contemplated impeachments of state officials," the letter said.

Hughes and Hardeman asked for replies by Feb. 10 saying if members did not reply by that date it would be assumed they opposed the move.

Hughes and Hardeman said further "there is little need for telling you of the recent insurance failures and the charges and the scandals which have resulted."

"The integrity and efficiency of number of our state officials, both administrative and legislative, have been seriously questioned."

"Thousands of our citizens have been financially wronged, and there is the danger that unless this situation is thoroughly cleaned up in full view of the public, thousands more will be injured in an industry which depends to a great extent upon the public's belief that their government is giving them the proper protection against unscrupulous operators," the letter added.

Instead of walking about so much. 15. Impolite to call them NAMES (this implying rude ones). People who call women DAMES do so from habit rather than from conscious impoliteness.

17. GERMANS is more apt. The GERMANS themselves fought for years, but when the fighting reached German soil, GERMANY was subdued in a very short time.

19. WIT might help to increase his popularity. A HIT definitely makes him popular. There is no "might help" about it.

22. Always likely to REFUSE it, yes. REFUSING it at first sight means they REFUSE to accept it at first sight which is logical until they study it perhaps. But "quite likely" is an overstatement for REFUTE, since in very many cases it will be found IMPOSSIBLE to REFUTE the theory.

CLUES DOWN:

1. DREARY guest might well aggravate a sincere host but the fact that the guest was DREAMY might just be a compliment to the excellent meal the host had provided.

2. A clerk often locks up his BACK door each night through force of habit but to lock up the BANK door each night is much more a compulsory duty than a habit.

5. The proviso "if reckless" favors GAMBLERS, since a habitual GAMBLER is frowned on by most people ANYWAY. Most people see little harm in a mild flutter, but disapprove of RECKLESS GAMBLERS.

6. LEARN is best. If you merely YEARN to do so, you're probably NOT the studious type—otherwise you'd probably go ahead and LEARN.

12. True of PAIN in any and every case. In many cases, INDOOR pursuits form quite an important part of a holiday, which then is not always COMPLETELY spoilt if it RAINS.

14. Their MURALS, which are there for all to see, yes; but it is only their SUPPOSED MORALS that "ill-formed" people can criticize.

17. A bad GLUT can certainly have inestimable results for one does not know what such might develop into or how far reaching. As to GOUT, it can hardly be said that the results would be inestimable since the medical profession know pretty well all about it and what it can lead to.

20. The clue implies that the man will KNOW if you don't give him this, favoring CUE. A man is often given, or not given, his DUE WHEN HE IS ABSENT (referred to in conversation, etc.)

Treasury Chief Opposes Federal Control Of Credit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey today opposed standby consumer credit controls, despite President Eisenhower's suggestion to Congress that this would be a good time to "study the problem."

Eisenhower did not ask that such controls be imposed now—only that consideration be given to authorizing his administration to invoke them when and if necessary.

Humphrey, a consistent opponent of direct government controls on the economy, told the Senate-House Economic Committee that the government is taking on "a lot of responsibility when you tell 167 million people what they can afford to buy."

Despite a sharp rise in consumer debt last year there has been no move in Congress to restore the authority to impose installment buying curbs, which expired in 1952.

The Treasury Cabinet officer also said:

1. He has little faith in the correctness of economic activity estimates prepared by Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers.
2. He sees "nothing alarming" to the general economy in the decline of farm prices.
3. "Our present estimates do not give any grounds for tax reduction, no grounds at all."

Humphrey and Chairman Douglas (D-Ill.) engaged in several sharp exchanges during a hearing on the President's economic report. Each described the other as a "prophet of gloom and doom."

Humphrey told a news conference on Jan. 14 the President's new budget was based on expectations that personal income would total $122½ billion dollars in 1956, and corporate profits would total $43 billion dollars.

Douglas contended this meant that Humphrey looked for no economic growth in 1956 because the figures he gave were close to the 1955 year-end annual rates as estimated by the Council of Economic Advisers.

Humphrey said such estimates were "wild" and pointed out that in past years similar estimates have been radically revised as time went on.

He said he had as much faith in his own estimate of the economic situation as in the figures drawn up by Dr. Arthur Burns and his colleagues on the economic council, chief economic advisory board to the President.

Douglas calculated "on the basis of the secretary's figures, not mine" that no economic growth for 12 months would result in doubling the number of unemployed to five million by the end of this year.

Humphrey said his estimates did "not really" indicate a leveling off of the boom this year because his figures pointed to bigger total income in 1956 than in 1955.

In his economic report to Congress Eisenhower said that standby authority for consumer credit controls might be a "useful adjunct" to the government's efforts to stabilize economic swings. Eisenhower said it would be "desirable to increase the influence" of the government on the use of consumer credit, but he wound up by stating that "although present conditions do not call for the use of such authority. . . This is a good time for the Congress and the executive branch to study the problem."

GIRL AND 2 MEN HELD IN PLOT TO KILL HER PARENTS—Here are principals involved in what officials described as a plot by a 16-year-old high school girl and two men to kill her parents at Scranton, Pa., and divide their wealth. Mrs. Margaret Chomko (upper left), 38, was shot in the back and wounded critically in her home Monday. Police said the shot was fired by Mrs. Chomko's daughter, Marlene, shown seated beside her mother. Officers reported Marlene and her lover, Samuel Diana, 22, then pursued her father, Joseph Chomko (upper right), who was driving to New York, with intent to kill him. Police intercepted them before they overtook him. Authorities said the plot was master-minded by John Pitta, 34, whose objective was to get possession of a truck belonging to Chomko, a well-to-do trucker. Marlene and Diana intended to marry and take possession of her parents' luxurious home, the officials reported. Diana (left) and Pitta are shown (bottom) in jail at Scranton after their arrest. Two Solons Begin Unprecedented Move To Convene Texas Legislators

U. S. Clamps Travel Ban On Hungary

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The United States cracked down on Communist Hungary today for "persecuting" Hungarian citizens who work for the American legation in Budapest and for imprisoning a husband-wife team who worked for American news services.

In a note bitterly denouncing the Red leadership of Hungary, the State Department notified Minister Karoly Sarka here:

1. That the travel of American citizens to Hungary is again being banned. The ban was lifted only last Oct. 31.
2. That new restrictions on the travel of Hungarian legation personnel in the United States will shortly be imposed.
3. That the United States government is no longer interested in negotiating with Hungary on trade and other problems.

The note accused Hungary of "abridgement of freedom of the press," of failing to act as an "independent and responsible government," and of failing to "honor its international obligations and to show a decent respect for the rights of the Hungarian people."

The American action was the first of its kind since the good-will era of the Geneva summit conference. It was triggered by a series of Hungarian anti-American moves beginning with the arrest in February 1955 of Endre Marton, a Hungarian citizen who served as correspondent for the Associated Press at Budapest for many years. About the same time Marton was arrested, a legation employee, Bela Kapotsi, was seized. Last June Mrs. Marton, correspondent for the United Press, was arrested and the same day the Red police seized another legation employee, Cornel Balas.

On Jan. 15 the Hungarian press announced the conviction and sentencing of all four on espionage charges. Marton was sentenced to six years in prison, Mrs. Marton to three years, Kapotsi to life imprisonment, Balas to eight years.

"The protracted detention incommunicado and subsequent imprisonment of the Martons have not only deprived the Associated Press and the United Press of the legitimate professional services of these experienced local reporters," the Hungarian government was told.

"They have also seriously prejudiced free access to news sources within Hungary and must therefore be regarded as an abridgement of freedom of the press."

As for the legation employees, the note said that apart from the two whose fate is known, seven others were seized by the secret police in 1951-1954 without explanation to the legation. Their fates "are unknown to the legation."

SHERMAN, Tex., Feb. 3 — UP — An unprecedented move for a special session of the House because of the insurance scandals with "impeachment of state officials in mind" was started Friday by two Grayson county representatives.

The representatives, Charles E. Hughes of Sherman and D. B. Hardeman of Denison, mailed separate proclamations to each of the other 148 House members. They wanted the session to begin March 1.

The House, which holds the power of impeachment, is empowered to call a special session "by proclamation in writing signed by a majority of the members" or a total of at least 76.

The move drew little comment from the office of Gov. Allan Shivers. A spokesman said: "The governor has said two legislative investigating committees are now at work, and that he will await their reports. He has also said he will call a special session when he believes one is necessary, and it will do some good."

Should Hughes and Hardeman obtain the necessary signatures, it is believed it would be the first time in recent Texas political history that the proclamation method was used to summon the House into special session.

The representatives said in an accompanying letter that "the people of Texas are looking to us to establish the responsibility of what has happened, to clean out the bad and to then be able to assure them that the state government is honest and efficient. . . ."

"We realize that such a session will be an expense both to the state and the individual members. However, what greater responsibility have we than that of freeing our government from corruption and protecting the savings of our citizens."

"Accordingly, we are herewith enclosing a proclamation for a special session of the House of Representatives for the purpose of instituting an investigation pertaining to contemplated impeachments of state officials," the letter said.

Hughes and Hardeman asked for replies by Feb. 10 saying if members did not reply by that date it would be assumed they opposed the move.

Hughes and Hardeman said further "there is little need for telling you of the recent insurance failures and the charges and the scandals which have resulted."

"The integrity and efficiency of a number of our state officials, both administrative and legislative, have been seriously questioned."

"Thousands of our citizens have been financially wronged, and there is the danger that unless this situation is thoroughly cleaned up in full view of the public, thousands more will be injured in an industry which depends to a great extent upon the public's belief that their government is giving them the proper protection against unscrupulous operators," the letter added.

instead of walking about so much.

15. Impolite to call them NAMES (this implying rude ones). People who call women DAMES do so from habit rather than from conscious impoliteness.

17. GERMANS is more apt. The GERMANS themselves fought for years, but when the fighting reached German soil, GERMANY was subdued in a very short time.

19. WIT might help to increase his popularity. A HIT definitely makes him popular. There is no "might help" about it.

22. Always likely to REFUSE it, yes. REFUSING it at first sight means they REFUSE to accept it at first sight which is logical until they study it perhaps. But "quite likely" is an overstatement for REFUSE, since in very many cases it will be found IMPOSSIBLE to REFUSE the theory.

CLUES DOWN:

1. DREARY guest might well aggravate a sincere host but the fact that the guest was DREAMY might just be a compliment to the excellent meal the host had provided.

2. A clerk often locks up his BACK door each night through force of habit but to lock up the BANK door each night is much more a compulsory duty than a habit.

5. The proviso "If reckless" favors GAMBLERS, since a habitual GAMBLER is frowned on by most people ANYWAY. Most people see little harm in a mild flutter, but disapprove of RECKLESS GAMBLERS.

6. LEARN is best. If you merely YEARN to do so, you're probably NOT the studious type—otherwise you'd probably go ahead and LEARN.

12. True of PAIN in any and every case. In many cases, IN-DOOR pursuits form quite an important part of a holiday, which then is not always COMPLETELY spoilt if it RAINS.

14. Their MURALS, which are there for all to see, yes; but it is only their SUPPOSED MORALS that "ill-formed" people can criticize.

17. A bad GLUT can certainly have inestimable results for one does not know what such might develop into or how far reaching. As to GOUT, it can hardly be said that the results would be inestimable since the medical profession know pretty well all about it and what it can lead to.

20. The clue implies that the man will KNOW if you don't give him this, favoring CUE. A man is often given, or not given, his DUE WHEN HE IS ABSENT (referred to in conversation, etc.).

Lexington PTA Has Interesting Discussion

The Lexington Avenue Parent-Teacher's Association met in regular session at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. David Aron, president and the opening prayer was given by Mrs. Robert Hanna.

There were reports by the Treasurer and the Committee on By-Laws. A count of the members present resulted in the attendance prize being won by Mrs. Bess Burns' first grade and Mrs. Frances Hammonds' fourth.

It was announced that the Lexington Study Group will hear Mrs. George Pomroy, at St. Paul's Methodist Church, on the 16th of February at one o'clock in the afternoon.

On behalf of the student body of Lexington School, Edmund Burton, a fifth grade pupil, expressed appreciation to the Parent-Teacher's Association for their purchase of an ice water fountain, record players and library books for the school.

The program for the evening consisted of a Panel Discussion of the subject, "Legislation - Our Responsibility." Walter Schubert served as moderator and with the panel members were Mrs. N. Kiani, Mrs. Howard Rivers, Senator James Sparks, and State Representative Brown who presented a thought-provoking hour.

A coffee hour concluded the evening's meeting.

Highland PTA Observes Annual Founder's Day

Highland P. T. A. had its annual Founder's Day program Wednesday, February 1, at 2:30 p.m., with Mrs. Leslie Autenberry presiding.

Mrs. Ralph Reed was welcomed back to the faculty after which Mrs. Elmore McClelland lead community singing.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Elmore McClelland, and the secretary, Mrs. Alene Wilson read the minutes of the previous meeting.

The executive committee report was given by Mrs. Jammie McGuire and also announced the next Ouachita Parish P. T. A. council meeting would be held at Ransome school, Wednesday, February 8, at 9:30 a.m.

A report of the nominating committee was given by the chairman, Mrs. Estelle Owens. The P. T. A. now has a membership of 490, that is a little more than 10 per cent increase over last year's membership.

Mrs. Julius Cathey, 1954-55 president of Highland P. T. A. presented a life membership pin to Mrs. Leslie Autenberry for her tireless effort and outstanding work in P. T. A.

Mrs. Jane Moss, chairman of Founder's Day introduced Mrs. Richard Gray, who explained where and how our Founder's Day proceeds are used.

A "Tip-Top Parent" was presented by Mrs. Cecil Dopson, Mr. Darwood Brooks, Mrs. Durwood Brooks, Mrs. Ray Moore, Mrs. Harold Clossers and Mrs. Carey Kirkland. Mrs. Jane Moss and Mrs. Betty Lewis were in charge of this interesting and informative program.

Mrs. Cecil Dopson's second grade won the room count, with the first grade mothers in charge of registration.

The meeting adjourned after which a social hour was enjoyed by the first attendance. Three of the best presidents, Mrs. C. T. Coats, Mrs. A. T. Coates, and Mrs. Julius Cathey were hostesses for the meeting.

The most universal problem from middle age on is dryness. The natural oils lessen as the years mount. Even the woman who had a normal skin (neither especially dry nor oily) will need some lubricating creams as she grows older if she expects to keep lines at a minimum. For every woman except the one with an extremely oily skin, lubrication is a simple essential. Of course, daily or twice daily cleansing applies to every skin.

Blackheads I have so often written about blackheads in this column that I will mention this problem only briefly. If you have these use no cream but wash your face several times a day with soap and water and use an astringent after each washing. Blackheads are usually a result of an extremely oily skin which was not given preventative frequent cleansing.

If you are unhappy because of moles or warts go to a skin specialist and have them removed. This is very simple. Do not touch them yourself.

One of the most important habits is to periodically look at your skin with a magnifying glass, and also to look at yourself honestly in bright daylight. So often the lights by which women do their make-up work is inadequate, and does not give them the true story. "The true picture" sometimes is fairly rugged and not too encouraging but it should be endured every so often.

Also, remember that facial mannerisms, such as pulling the corners of the mouth down or lifting the eyebrows will promote lines. Good health and fine nutrition and happy mental attitudes will prolong youthfulness.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Clear the Way for Beauty" which gives you corrective measures for many skin defects send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 48 to Josephine Lowman in care of this Newspaper.

Other winners included Stewart Doernberg and Dick Troy, second, and Dr. Carroll Summer and Edmund Brown, third, north and south. Second east-west were Dr. James Schonlau and H. G. McDonald and third, Louis Kustin, and Irving Hodge.

Lexington PTA Has Interesting Discussion

The Lexington Avenue Parent-Teacher's Association met in regular session at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. David Aron, president and the opening prayer was given by Mrs. Robert Hanna.

There were reports by the Treasurer and the Committee on By-Laws. A count of the members present resulted in the attendance prize being won by Mrs. Bess Burns' first grade and Mrs. Frances Hammonds' fourth.

It was announced that the Lexington Study Group will hear Mrs. George Pomeroy at St. Paul's Methodist Church, on the 16th of February at one o'clock in the afternoon.

On behalf of the student body of Lexington School, Edmund Burton, a fifth grade pupil, expressed appreciation to the Parent-Teacher's Association for their purchase of an ice water fountain, record players and library books for the school.

The program for the evening consisted of a Panel Discussion of the subject, "Legislation - Our Responsibility." Walter Schubert served as moderator and with the panel members were Mrs. N. Klam, Mrs. Howard Rivers, Senator James Sparks, and Slade Brown who presented a thought-provoking hour.

A coffee hour concluded the evening's meeting.

Oak Grove FHA

The Oak Grove F. H. A. club for girls held its January meeting in the Home Ec. building of the high school, with Mary Mosley, president, presiding. Patsy Ruth, secretary, read the minutes and called the roll. F. H. A. membership cards were received. Jeanette Turner received her Junior Home-Makers degree of achievement. Katherine Tyson was elected to represent the F. H. A. at the student council meeting.

A style show was presented by members of the 9th and 11th grade classes.

Crawford W. Long was the first doctor to use ether as an anesthetic in surgery, say medical historians.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Corhest Complexion Care Essential At Middle Age

The complexion has such a terrific effect on the way a woman looks. We often have seen women who have homely features but who are beautiful because of a lovely skin.

Some women are just born with wonderful complexions and seem to keep them no matter what they do. However, most of us are not so fortunate. We have to pamper what we have and use corrective measures for any defects to which we feel heir.

The most universal problem from middle age on is dryness. The natural oils lessen as the years mount. Even the woman who had a normal skin (neither especially dry nor oily) will need some lubricating creams as she grows older if she expects to keep lines at a minimum. For every woman except the one with an extremely oily skin, lubrication is a simple essential. Of course, daily or twice daily cleansing applies to every skin.

Blackheads

I have so often written about blackheads in this column that I will mention this problem only briefly. If you have these you no cream but wash your face several times a day with soap and water and use an astringent after each washing. Blackheads are usually a result of an extremely oily skin which was not given preventative frequent cleansing.

If you are unhappy because of moles or warts go to a skin specialist and have them removed. This is very simple. Do not touch them yourself.

One of the most important habits is to periodically look at your skin with a magnifying glass, and also to look at yourself honestly in bright daylight. So often the lights by which women do their make-up work is inadequate, and does not give them the true story. "The true picture" sometimes is fairly rugged and not too encouraging but it should be endured every so often.

Also, remember that facial mannerisms, such as pulling the corners of the mouth down or lifting the eyebrows will promote lines. Good health and fine nutrition and happy mental attitudes will prolong youthfulness.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Clear the Way for Beauty," which gives you corrective measures for many skin defects send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 48 to Josephine Lowman in care of this Newspaper.

$35 Million Loan To Brazil Set For Mill Expansion

VOLTA REDONAD, Brazil Feb. 3 (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon announced today the United States will lend Brazil $35 million more dollars to expand her big Volta Redonda steel mill.

Already the recipient of 70 million dollars through the U. S.-controlled Export-Import Bank, the mill with the new loan will be able to boost its annual ingot capacity from 650,000 to one million tons, Nixon said.

A high government source said Nixon had informed Brazil's new President, Juscelino Kubitschek, that the United States is willing to grant Brazil substantial economic aid provided his government take a strong stand against communism.

The informant said Kubitschek had assured Nixon he was taking strong measures against the Reds. The Communist party already is outlawed in Brazil and circulation of Communist literature is banned. But foreigners have been perturbed because of the obvious support the Communists gave Kubitschek's running mate, Laborite Vice President Joao Goulart, in the presidential election.

Nixon made the loan announcement as he and Kubitschek toured this great steel center.

Seeing Nixon
Would Only Start
Fight Truman Says

NEW YORK — UP — Former President Truman said Friday that whenever he thinks of the fact that Vice President Richard M. Nixon has called him a traitor, "I not only swear, I want to punch somebody."

Mr. Truman told newsmen during his morning walk that although he had known Nixon in Congress he had refused to see him since Nixon so characterized him.

"I won't see him," he said, "I would just start a fight."

Mr. Truman said that when he recently was invited by senators to join them on the Senate floor, "I told them I wouldn't come into the Senate with him in the chair. They took him out and put (Senator Albert) Barkley in."

The mother of Mr. Nixon was raised when a reporter mentioned that Mr. Truman had used strong language in a radio and television speech Thursday night referring to charges that he and Gen. George C. Marshall was "traitors." He interpolated into his prepared speech the remark that if that were true, "this country is sure in a hell of a fix."

Pair Disagree On Children's Money

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a bachelor planning to marry a widow of 39. She has three children, all under 10. We are in complete harmony except for one vexing problem. A few years ago my fiancée sold her house and, from the money she realized, bank accounts of $1,000 each were started for each child. She claims that under no circumstances will she touch this money; it is to be kept until they reach 21.

I feel it should be spent now for their necessary requirements. When it is gone, I will take over all responsibility, if any. I have known this woman all my life, was a friend of her late husband and have seen the children grow. We expect to be married this spring. Do you think my suggestions are fair?
O. S.

ANSWER: You state that these controversial bank accounts are for $1,000 each. This sum may seem large at present but when considered in the light of children's needs for the next 10 years at least, it won't go very far. There's no question but what you will have to assume considerable financial responsibility for these youngsters and, unless you're willing to take it gracefully, the proposed marriage will be miserable for everyone concerned.

SHE'S WISE

Your fiancée is wise in putting this money aside for possible emergencies, or for the children's future education. I think it should be left where it is. After all, no matter how well you know each other, she is taking a risk in placing a stepfather over her children. If this small financial security gives her comfort, don't deprive her of it.

If this comparatively small sum means more to you than the woman you claim to love, I don't think the marriage is sound. Do reconsider and revise your suggestions.

DEAR MISS DIX: We recently acquired new neighbors with a very attractive son. I don't even know his name but sure would like to get acquainted. How can I go about it?
Betsy

ANSWER: The newcomer would probably welcome friendly overtures. You could smile pleasantly and inquire how he likes the new neighborhood or invite him over to meet some of your friends.

DEAR MISS DIX: As a wife who learned her lesson too late, I'd like to warn girls against men who drink and say they'll reform after marriage. They never do.

Mark and I knew each other a year before we married. My folks disapproved of him and so did my friends. In fact, my parents forbade the marriage but, being stubborn, I went ahead anyway.

We have been married four years now — four miserable years. Mark did reform but the change lasted only a few months. Now he drinks constantly, lies, stays out nights, is a poor provider and cares nothing for our children. I should have heeded the warnings that were so clear.
Rhoda R.

ANSWER: Since every girl who keeps company with a drinker is sure that her case will be "different," I doubt if many unhappy marriages will be prevented by your letter. Post-nuptial reformation are rare indeed. Your only recourse now is fervent prayer and I do urge you to use it.

Mollet Attempts
To Quell Flood Of
Algerian Protests

PARIS, Feb. 3 (AP)—Faced by a tide of opposition across the Mediterranean, Premier Guy Mollet prepared today to run interference for his new resident minister for Algerian affairs, Gen. Georges Catroux.

The first session of Mollet's left-of-center coalition Cabinet decided to delay Catroux's installation in Algiers until next Friday. Mollet will fly to Algiers Monday for conferences with French and native leaders.

The Premier and his Cabinet acted after a lengthy study of reports on the mass demonstration yesterday in Algiers against Catroux and against Mollet's reform policy for halting the 15-month-old rebellion of Arab nationalists.

Mollet emphasized his own role in Algerian policy in a statement after the Cabinet session. He said: "The conception of French policy is a matter for the Cabinet and is worked out under the direct responsibility of the Premier, who, to be precise, is the No. 1 person responsible."

No date was fixed for Catroux's arrival in Algiers, nor was the duration of Mollet's stay there specified. Catroux told two Paris newspapers, Le Monde and France-Soir, in separate interviews that "integration" of Algeria as part of France is now outdated and no longer acceptable to the Moslem masses. He held forth a vague sort of federalism which would respect the "algerian personality" as the best course.

"In any case," he told Le Monde, "there can be no question of loosening the ties which bind Algeria to metropolitan France."

Police Arrest 156

8-Year-Old Boy
Admits Series Of Thefts, Vandalism

CROSSETT, Ark., Feb. 3 (Special)—An eight-year-old Negro boy confessed to Chief of Police Dempsey Polk today that he was responsible for a wave of vandalism that has beset the downtown business section of Crossett this past week.

Over last week end three store windows were smashed and a plate glass in the new Bank of Crossett building was broken on Wednesday night shortly after 9 p.m. The plate glass window in a Crossett jewelry store was broken and a wrist watch stolen. The driver of a cruising taxi cab notified the police chief who investigated the Negro boy.

On Thursday morning the youth was apprehended with the watch in his possession. Late today the boy confessed, Polk said, that he was responsible for the theft and the broken window. The youngster was taken this afternoon to the parish jail in Hamburg, where he was charged with burglary. He will be transferred to a detention home for juveniles. He had been living in Crossett with relatives. His father now lives in Chicago.

Houston Supports
The Proposed Air
Route To Monroe

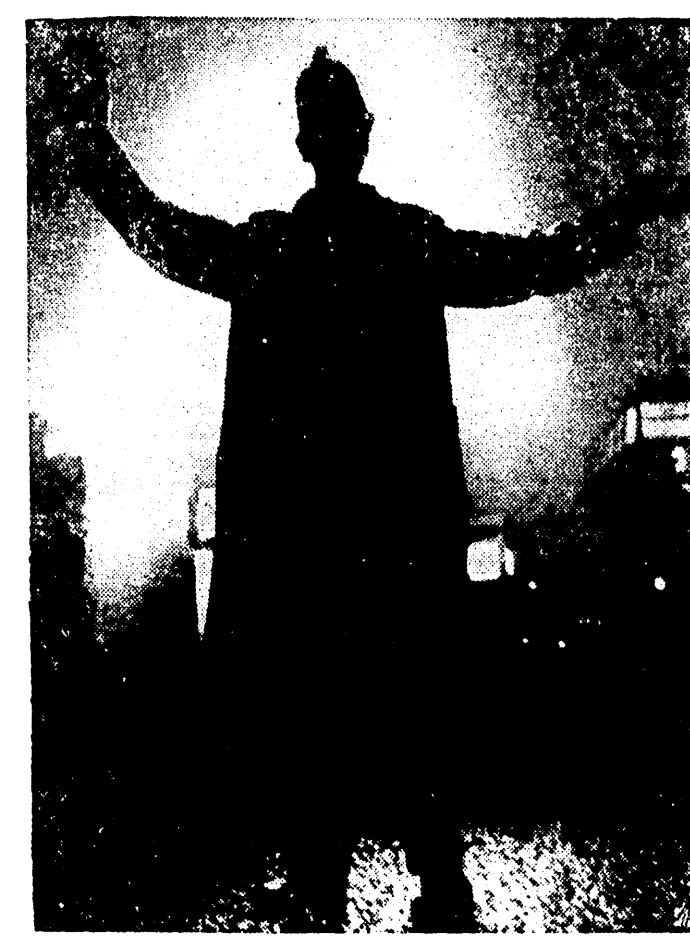

The Houston, Tex., Chamber of Commerce recently notified the Monroe-West Monroe Chamber that it has endorsed the local group's action in behalf of opening a Southern Airline's route from Monroe to Houston.

In a letter to Jim Williams, secretary manager of the Monroe-West Monroe organization, the Houston Chamber's aviation department secretary, Joseph A. Foster, wrote that his group has filed a petition with the Civil Aeronautics Board "to become a party in the Southern Airlines case to obtain a temporary exemption authority which will allow through service between Monroe and Houston."

Foster also wrote, "We welcome this opportunity to improve air service between our respective cities."

"I won't see him," he said. "It would just start a fight."

Mr. Truman said that when he recently was invited by senators to join them on the Senate floor, "I told them I wouldn't come into the Senate with him in the chair. They took him out and put (Senator Albert) Barkley in."

The matter of Mr. Nixon was raised when a reporter mentioned that Mr. Truman had used strong language in a radio and television speech Thursday night referring to charges that he and Gen. George C. Marshall was "traitors." He interpolated into his prepared speech the remark that if that were true, "this country is sure in a hell of a fix."

Pair Disagree On Children's Money

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a bachelor planning to marry a widow of 39. She has three children, all under 10. We are in complete harmony except for one vexing problem. A few years ago my fiancée sold her house and, from the money she realized, bank accounts of $1,000 each were started for each child. She claims that under no circumstances will she touch this money; it is to be kept until they reach 21.

I feel it should be spent now for their necessary requirements. When it is gone, I will take over all responsibility, if any. I have known this woman all my life, was a friend of her late husband and have seen the children grow. We expect to be married this spring. Do you think my suggestions are fair? O. S.

ANSWER: You state that these controversial bank accounts are for $1,000 each. This sum may seem large at present but when considered in the light of children's needs for the next 10 years at least, it won't go very far. There's no question but what you will have to assume considerable financial responsibility for these youngsters and, unless you're willing to take it gracefully, the proposed marriage will be miserable for everyone concerned.

SHE'S WISE

Your fiancée is wise in putting this money aside for possible emergencies, or for the children's future education. I think it should be left where it is. After all, no matter how well you know each other, she is taking a risk in placing a stepfather over her children. If this small financial security gives her comfort, don't deprive her of it.

If this comparatively small sum means more to you than the woman you claim to love, I don't think the marriage is sound. Do reconsider and revise your suggestions.

DEAR MISS DIX: We recently acquired new neighbors with a very attractive son. I don't even know his name but sure would like to get acquainted. How can I go about it? Betsy

ANSWER: The newcomer would probably welcome friendly overtures. You could smile pleasantly and inquire how he likes the new neighborhood or invite him over to meet some of your friends.

DEAR MISS DIX: As a wife who learned her lesson too late, I'd like to warn girls against men who drink and say they'll reform after marriage. They never do.

Mark and I knew each other a year before we married. My folks disapproved of him and so did my friends. In fact, my parents forbade the marriage but, being stubborn, I went ahead anyway.

We have been married four years now — four miserable years. Mark did reform but the change lasted only a few months. Now he drinks constantly, lies, stays out nights, is a poor provider and cares nothing for our children. I should have heeded the warnings that were so clear. Rhoda R.

ANSWER: Since every girl who keeps company with a drinker is sure that her case will be "different," I doubt if many unhappy marriages will be prevented by your letter. Post-nuptial reformations are rare indeed. Your only recourse now is fervent prayer and I do urge you to use it.

Mollet Attempts
To Quell Flood Of
Algerian Protests

PARIS, Feb. 3 (AP)—Faced by a tide of opposition across the Mediterranean, Premier Guy Mollet prepared today to run interference for his new resident minister for Algerian affairs, Gen. Georges Catroux.

The first session of Mollet's left-of-center coalition Cabinet decided to delay Catroux's installation in Algiers until next Friday. Mollet will fly to Algiers Monday for conferences with French and native leaders.

The Premier and his Cabinet acted after a lengthy study of reports on the mass demonstration yesterday in Algiers against Catroux and against Mollet's reform policy for halting the 15-month-old rebellion of Arab nationalists.

Mollet emphasized his own role in Algerian policy in a statement after the Cabinet session. He said: "The conception of French policy is a matter for the Cabinet and is worked out under the direct responsibility of the Premier, who, to be precise, is the No. 1 person responsible."

No date was fixed for Catroux's arrival in Algiers, nor was the duration of Mollet's stay there specified.

Catroux told two Paris newspapers, Le Monde and France-Soir, in separate interviews that "integration" of Algeria as part of France is now outdated and no longer acceptable to the Moslem masses. He held forth a vague sort of federalism which would respect the "algerian personality" as the best course.

"In any case," he told Le Monde, "there can be no question of loosening the ties which bind Algeria to metropolitan France."

Police Arrest 156

8-Year-Old Boy
Admits Series Of Thefts, Vandalism

CROSSETT, Ark., Feb. 3 (Special)—An eight-year-old Negro boy confessed to Chief of Police Dempsey Polk today that he was responsible for a wave of vandalism that has beset the downtown business section of Crossett this past week.

Over last week end three store windows were smashed and a plate glass in the new Bank of Crossett building was broken on Wednesday night shortly after 9 p.m. The plate glass window in a Crossett jewelry store was broken and a wrist watch stolen.

The driver of a cruising taxi cab notified the police chief who investigated the Negro boy. On Thursday morning the youth was apprehended with the watch in his possession. Late today the boy confessed, Polk said, that he was responsible for the theft and the broken window. The youngster was taken this afternoon to the parish jail in Hamburg, where he was charged with burglary. He will be transferred to a detention home for juveniles. He had been living in Crossett with relatives. His father now lives in Chicago.

Houston Supports
The Proposed Air

YWCA Drive For Members Planned; Seek $5000 Fund

The board of the Young Women's Christian Association announced today a plan to sell sustaining membership cards in order to carry out the program of the organization.

Mrs. J. Norman Coon, chairman of the drive, announced that the board of directors would attempt to sell 1,000 membership cards at $5 each to sustain the Y.W.C.A. for the next ten months.

Mrs. Coon explained that as a sustaining member of the Y.W.C.A. each individual participating would help to maintain the Y.W.C.A. building and a residence for 10 girls, provide 12 clubs for junior and senior high school girls, one club for employed girls, one club for young matrons, special classes and interest groups, build an educational and recreational program for girls and women, serve to the community and above all build Christian fellowship of women and girls.

The board also notified the Chamber of Commerce that the Y.W.C.A. approved of a United Fund drive and would actively participate.

Rev. Ben Oliphant was present for the board meeting along with Charles A. Wood, executive of the Y.W.C.A.

New Semester Classes Started At College Here
Spring semester work at Northeast State started today with the first meeting of classes. Registration will continue, however, according to the registrar's office.

Enrollment in special Saturday morning, late afternoon and evening classes will start Saturday and continue through the coming week as scheduled in announcements through the press.

The enrollment in special classes is set for Saturday from 8 to 11 a.m., and the first course meetings will be held during the week of February 6.

In-service teachers may schedule six semester credit hours in the courses.

Among the list of special classes are several included in the program for in-service persons desiring to earn the bachelor of science degree in a period of six years.

Liquid Oxygen Unit Installed At St. Francis

Recent installation by St. Francis Hospital of a big liquid oxygen unit makes this institution the third in the state to acquire such equipment.

The new unit has a capacity of 90,000 cubic feet, which is equivalent to almost 400 of the conventional cylinders.

Liquid oxygen is obtained by low temperature separation of the gases in the atmosphere, oxygen comprising about one-fifth of normal air by volume. In this particular unit, oxygen is produced, stored and transported as a liquid.

One cubic foot of the liquid when evaporated will produce about 862 cubic feet of oxygen gas. Liquid oxygen is normally stored and transported at or very close to atmospheric pressure and at its corresponding boiling point of approximately -183 degrees C.

This type of oxygen can be pumped through pipes and into containers in a manner much the same as handling water. It is non-flammable and non-toxic.

The tank which has a single cold converter system, is used to supply gaseous oxygen to the hospital piping system at a substantially constant pressure. The storage vessel, or cold converter, is a heavy metal sphere constructed of stainless steel and is surrounded by insulating material.

All liquid and gaseous oxygen connection from the cold converter are brought outside the outer casing and into a control cabinet. This cabinet contains valves, liquid level gauge, pressure gauges, pressure regulators and safety devices.

The primary safety device on the liquid container is a safety valve set to relieve to the atmosphere at 190 pounds per square inch. In addition the vessel is protected by bursting discs which rupture at 190 to 200 pounds per square inch.

Seymour Glazer Of Monroe Gets Rank Of Consul

Seymour Glazer of Monroe has been promoted to the rank of consul, according to an announcement from the U. S. State Department.

He presently is stationed at Genoa, Italy, where he held the post of vice-consul until his recent promotion.

Glazer's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Glazer of Ann Street, Monroe.

Glazer has been with the State Department since 1948. His first assignment was to Saigon, French Indo-China, where he was on a three-year tour of duty. Part of his work there was to edit American propaganda bulletins in French as a phase of the Voice of America program.

His next post was Manila, P. I., where he was vice-consul and chief protocol officer.

Prior to entering the State Department, Glazer was on the Newsweek staff. His work was interrupted by World War II, during which he served three years in the U. S. Navy. He saw action in the Pacific theatre, particularly in the area of China.

Glazer held the rank of an ensign at the end of his military service when he returned to Newsweek. His resignation from the staff to do free lance writing was soon followed by his appointment to the State Department.

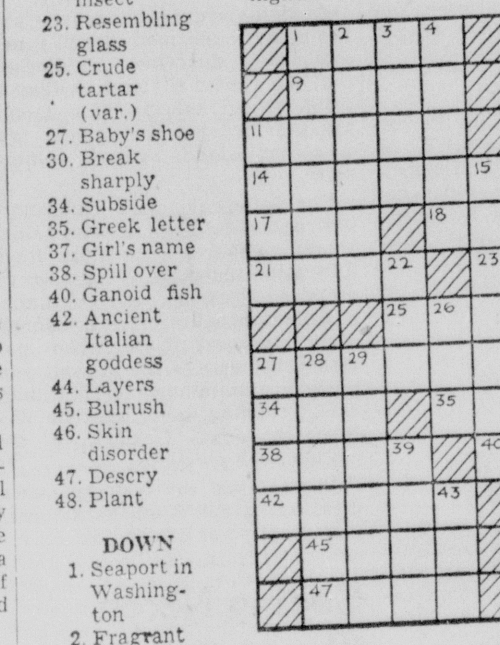

His academic training was received at Northeast State, during the time that it was a junior college, and at Louisiana State University. There he continued study in journalism and completed work for the bachelor's degree. He edited the Pow Wow, Northeast newspaper, then the Daily Reveille at L. S. U.

While he was in naval service he secured the background for a short story, "Mr. Moto," which appeared in the Sewanee Review, literary publication of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.

The consul's training and study have given him knowledge of several foreign languages. He speaks French, Spanish, Italian, German, Filipino, Vietnamese and Chinese. Since he has been with the State Department he has traveled widely in Europe, the British Isles, and Japan.

24 Cities Surveyed For Army Terminal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Army said today it has surveyed 24 cities as possible sites for its transportation terminal command headquarters.

Present headquarters are Brooklyn, N.Y.; New Orleans and San Francisco. The commands are in charge of all military water terminal operations along the seaboard.

In the gulf area, surveys have been made at: Mississippi—Columbus, Jackson, Meridian.

Tennessee—Memphis. Arkansas—Hot Springs, Pine Bluff. Louisiana—Alexandria, Baton Rouge, Shreveport.

Texas—Texarkana. A spokesman said that "no special significance should be attached to the sites already visited because the study is a long range one still in its early planning status."

Stanley Urges States To Study Va. Resolution

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 3 (AP)—Gov. Thomas B. Stanley today invited the "careful consideration" by governors of the other 47 states to the Virginia General Assembly's resolution of interposition.

He sent copies of the resolution approved earlier this week as a protest against the Supreme Court's school desegregation order to the governors and to President Eisenhower, the U. S. Supreme Court, the clerks of the House of Representatives and the Senate and to members of the Virginia delegation in Congress.

The resolution seeks to interpose the state's sovereignty against what it terms "illegal encroachment" of states' rights by the Supreme Court in the school decision.

Stanley asked the other governors to join Virginia in her efforts "to safeguard the rights of the states and preserve our cherished constitutional system."

He told the Virginia senators and congressmen the state would work with them and other members of Congress. Presumably he referred to the ultimate hope that limitations to the Supreme Court's authority may be spelled out in a constitutional amendment.

Stanley has previously expressed the view that any hope of relief from the Supreme Court decision must come through Congress.

Four Tots Perish In Jersey Blaze

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., Feb. 3 (AP)—Flames from a freshly filled space heater engulfed a second floor bedroom near here today, burning to death four tots and their pet dog.

Three of the children, ranging in age from 8 months to 5 years, were found huddled under beds. The body of the fourth was on the floor.

The victims were brothers, Barry, 4, and Kirk, 3, and their sisters, Darnell, 5, and Cleo, 8 months old.

An older sister, Eleanor Mack, 12, jumped out of a window to safety after ripping off some of her burned clothes. Her hair was singed and she suffered from shock.

The children's mother, Mrs. Minnie Mack, 34, was at work at the art color plant in Dumellen. She broke down when notified of the loss of her babies.

After questioning Eleanor, authorities said the fire spread swiftly from the heater at the head of the stairs to the curtains and furnishings. The girl had refilled the stove shortly before the blaze broke out.

BUS DRIVERS' MEETING—The semi-annual meeting of city and state police officers with all school bus drivers in Ouachita Parish was held Thursday in the West Monroe High School auditorium, and drivers were commended by the officers for consistently exercising safety precautions. Shown in the top picture are Major Jack Davis, of the Monroe city police department; Rev. Earl Monzingo, a bus driver for Lenwill grammar school; Lt. J. A. Fulbright Offers Bill Trim Corporate Taxes Of Smallest American Firms

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Legislation aimed at reducing the income tax burdens of small corporations was introduced today by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.).

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, introduced two measures on behalf of himself and 10 other senators.

Under present law corporations are taxed 30 per cent of their net earnings plus a surtax of 22 per cent on net earnings in excess of $25,000.

Fulbright's first bill would reverse the percentages — it would provide a normal tax of 22 per cent on corporation earnings plus a 30 per cent surtax on earnings above $25,000.

Under the proposal, Fulbright told the Senate, corporation earnings up to $25,000 yearly would get a tax cut of 26.7 per cent; those earning $50,000 a year would pay about 19 per cent less; those earning $100,000 would pay 4.3 per cent less and corporations earning one million dollars would pay four-tenths of a per cent less.

"Companies like General Motors, with earnings of one billion dollars or more would save four tenths of one per cent of their tax," Fulbright said.

The new revenue loss under the proposal, Fulbright said, would be between 300 and 400 million dollars yearly.

To make up for the loss of revenue which would result from the first bill, Fulbright said, he was offering a second which would hike the surtax rate from 30 per cent to 31 per cent.

This proposal, he said, would bring a net increase of about 20 million dollars a year.

The effect of the two proposals combined, he said, would give corporations earning $25,000 a tax cut of 26.7 per cent, corporations earning $50,000 would be cut 8.5 per cent; those earning $100,000 would be cut 2.7 per cent, while those earning over $225,000 would get an increase ranging up to 1.9 per cent on incomes of 100 million dollars.

Union Indictment For Political Aid To Demos Quashed

DETROIT, Feb. 3 (AP)—Federal Judge Frank A. Picard Friday dismissed an indictment charging the United Auto Workers union illegally spent union funds to support Democratic candidates in Michigan's 1954 election.

Picard ruled the union didn't violate the Federal Corrupt Practices Act when it sponsored a series of television shows urging the election of Democrat Patrick McNamara to the United States Senate and other Democrats to the House of Representatives.

The union had been indicted last July 20 by a federal grand jury which charged sponsorship of the programs violated a section of the law forbidding political expenditures or contributions by banks, corporations or unions.

The union didn't deny sponsorship of the shows or that the shows urged the election of McNamara and other Democrats. But it contended such sponsorship didn't violate the law and also contended the law was unconstitutional, violating "freedom of speech" and "freedom of the press."

Picard upheld the union contention that sponsorship of the show didn't constitute an "expenditure" under provisions of the law. But he didn't rule on constitutionality of the act. He said if a district judge can settle a case without ruling on a law's constitutionality he must do so.

The ruling was similar to those handed down by the courts in three similar cases earlier. One of the earlier cases, involving actions of the late Philip Murray and the CIO in the 1948 Maryland election, was taken before the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court held the CIO didn't violate the law but didn't rule on the law's constitutionality. It did indicate in its ruling there was a serious question of constitutionality.

Picard said that to interpret the Toronto Schools Ban 'Little Black Sambo' Favorite

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (AP)—Little Black Sambo—a children's favorite for more than half a century and described by its publisher as a classic still in the best seller ranks—has been banned in Toronto public schools.

Despite the opposition of school superintendent Z.S. Phinister, the Board of Education voted last night to remove the story from all classrooms and libraries. A Negro parent delegation described "Little Black Sambo" as a cause of anguish to all Negroes.

Phinister argued there is nothing derogatory in the "essentially heroic story about a little boy who outwits fierce tigers in the jungle and then enjoys a huge meal of pancakes and butter."

"Little Black Sambo" is published by a number of firms in the English speaking world, but Platt and Munk Co. of New York has produced it in more different editions over a longer period than any other house on this side of the Atlantic.

"We have put out more than 100 editions in the past 30 to 35 years and sold literally millions of copies," said Arnold Munk, president of the firm. "In all that time, I don't think we have had more than a dozen complaints—although occasional Negro groups have called it objectionable to their race."

Munk said most illustrators have depicted "Little Black Sambo" as a Negro boy. But the story actually is laid in India. It was written in 1898 by Mrs. Helen Bannerman, wife of a British doctor in army service in India, to entertain her daughters on their long voyage from India to Scotland to enter school.

Orleans Sending Float To Parade In Venezuela

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3 (AP)—A bit of New Orleans Mardi Gras will float in a Caracas parade Feb. 14 as Venezuelans celebrate Mardi Gras.

A 30-foot long float, describing New Orleans, will sail on the SS Ciudad de Caracas tomorrow for Venezuela. A New Orleans girl will reign from the float on Mardi Gras.

The Caracas Carnival Committee asked New Orleans for the float. The city, International House, and the International Trade Mart pooled resources and decided to send a float that revealed glimpses of the French Quarter, steamboats, jazz and other traditional New Orleans scenes.

Memphis College Rejects Negroes On Aptitude Basis

MEMPHIS, Feb. 3 (AP)—Memphis State College today refused to admit three Negroes to its graduate school.

Registrar R.P. Clark said the Negroes failed to pass aptitude tests under the college's new "screening system."

Under the screening system, graduate school applicants are required to take admission tests unless they are graduates of fully accredited schools with a "B" average or better.

Clark said out of about 40 persons seeking admission to graduate school at mid-semester, eleven were told they would have to take aptitude tests. None of those admitted outright were Negroes, Clark said.

Out of the 11, two white students and three Negroes took the tests. Only one white student passed,

Clark said. The Negro students sought admission to the school under the state of Tennessee's proposed plan to gradually admit Negroes to its white colleges.

The Negro students were not identified by the college.

The plan was accepted last October by federal Judge Marion S. Boyd. Judge Boyd found for the state in a suit brought by five Negro students who sought immediate admission to Memphis State.

The plan calls for Negroes to be admitted immediately on the graduate level. Desegregation would step down one class a year with the school being opened to Negro freshmen students in five years.

The college's "screening system" was put into effect after Judge Boyd's ruling.

Stanley Urges States To Study Va. Resolution

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 3 (AP)—Gov. Thomas B. Stanley today invited the "careful consideration" by governors of the other 47 states to the Virginia General Assembly's resolution of interposition.

He sent copies of the resolution approved earlier this week as a protest against the Supreme Court's school desegregation order to the governors and to President Eisenhower, the U. S. Supreme Court, the clerks of the House of Representatives and the Senate and to members of the Virginia delegation in Congress.

The resolution seeks to interpose the state's sovereignty against what it terms "illegal encroachment" of states' rights by the Supreme Court in the school decision.

Stanley asked the other governors to join Virginia in her efforts to safeguard the rights of the states and preserve our cherished constitutional system.

He told the Virginia senators and congressmen the state would work with them and other members of Congress. Presumably he referred to the ultimate hope that limitations to the Supreme Court's authority may be spelled out in a constitutional amendment.

Stanley has previously expressed the view that any hope of relief from the Supreme Court decision must come through Congress.

West Monroe Puts Both Teams In Cage Semi-Finals

Ouachita, LaSalle, Downsville Quints Still Contenders

The hosting West Monroe High School was the only contender still offering challengers in both divisions as the inaugural West Monroe Invitational Basketball Tournament set up its semi-finals with the conclusion of last night's play. Boys' teams of LaSalle, Ouachita, and Downsville, and girls' teams from Farmerville, Bastrop, and Marion.

The three-day tournament comes to a close with the title finals tonight and today's consolation matches, and the Ouachita boys' team West Monroe, the Downsville boys' team against LaSalle, the Farmerville girls' team against West Monroe, and the Bastrop girls' team against Marion.

The day's timetable:
Farmerville girls vs. West Monroe, 9:15 a.m.; Ouachita boys vs. West Monroe, 10:30 a.m.; Bastrop girls vs. Marion, 11:45 a.m.; LaSalle boys vs. Downsville, 1 p.m.; consolation girls, 4:45 p.m.; consolation boys, 6 p.m.; girls' final, 7:15 p.m.; boys' final, 8:30 p.m.

The girls' division was first to complete its semi-final set up yesterday in consolation games. The Farmerville girls, who lost to West Monroe, 34-24, and Marion, 34-24, will play the Bastrop girls, who lost to West Monroe, 34-24, in the consolation game.

In a completion of first round games for boys yesterday, Neville of Monroe, who played for the Downsville team, was the only player to score in the consolation game. He scored 14 points, while the other players scored 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92, 94, 96, 98, 100.

Indians Drop 'Cats, 95-86

By NORRIS VANCELEAVE

The Northeast State College Indians were a net-swishing outfit from stem to stern here last night as they buried the Louisiana College Wildcats with an early barrage of baskets and then made enough points in a less fortunate last half to wind up with the Cats still beneath the debris by a count of 95-86.

A medley of field goals — eight to be exact — along with three bonus points burst fourth from the big hands of the Cats' Joe Limbough in the last half to keep it looking bad in places for the Tribe's trimmed down 53-39 half-time lead. Add these to five last half field goals and two free throws by Frank Mancil and seven field goals and two free points distributed among the rest of the Cat line-up in the last half and it amounted to a genuine concern among Northeast fans about the ultimate fate of Northeast's fading advantage.

But fortunately, the Tribesmen had not exhausted their point-collecting ability in the big first half. Continuing to keep their offensive well apportioned, they managed 42 points in the last half to the Cats' 47 to keep the invaders from completely crumbling.

Thus the Tribe kept its conference championship hopes alive in spite of the continued absence of ace Mel McFarland, rounding out with a 3-3 conference record and a season record of 14 wins and seven losses.

The double-barreled set shooting and rebounding attack of Bill Bradley, who collected seven baskets and a bonus point in the first half, led the Indians to what finally proved a safe margin. Also red hot for Northeast in the opening stanza was Harold Davis, with 11 points in the first half, but in the last half Lloyd Crocker and Bob Patterson outscored the rest of the Tribe as the long net swishers played an increasing part in the Indian offensive.

The closest the Cats came to the Indians in the last quarter was when Limbough unleashed a long set shot to close the gap to 90-83 immediately following a long-range goal by the Cats' Mancil.

With only about a minute left to play, the Cats' still appeared very much in the game and they threatened with unsuccessfull rebounds until Gene Shaneyfelt broke up their last big shooting session.

The Indians' lead was increased by the Tribe's lead and that was the Cats' last chance to tip the balance in their favor.

German Brothers Nearer Dream Of Oriole Careers

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—UP—A dream that began when they watched a GI baseball game back in 1949 came close to fulfillment Friday when Claus and Hansjorg Helmig arrived by plane from Frankfurt, Germany, hopeful that they eventually will pitch for the Baltimore Orioles.

The brothers, Claus, 29, and Hansjorg, 17, were met at Idlewild airport by James Keedy Jr., president of the Orioles, and other club officials. They were reunited in Germany by Rex Greaves, an Oriole talent hunter who was touring GI camps, and he was so impressed that he named them both.

James McLaughlin, the Orioles farm director, also was on hand to meet them and said they would go to Scottsdale, Ariz., spring training camp on Feb. 15. They will be assigned to the Aberdeen, S. D., farm club of the Close Northern League, but if they show enough polish as ballers in spring training they will go to a club of a higher classification.

Both spoke excellent English, which they said they learned in school and from reading discarded GI comic books, and both also showed an astonishing knowledge of Americana.

"We would like to see while we're in New York, the Yankee Stadium, Polo Grounds, Ebbetts Field, the Empire State building, Central Park, the United Nations, and Grand Central Station," said Hansjorg.

"Oh yes and a jazz concert at Carnegie Hall Saturday night, don't forget that," added Claus, who is a collector of Benny Goodman records, and a "beat."

The brothers will be guests of the team at the baseball writers dinner and show Sunday night and will be interviewed Monday morning by Dave Garroway on his NBC television show. Then they'll go to Baltimore.

The St. Matthew's Maroons won their first game of the Fee Wee League season yesterday, defeating College Place in two overtimes by a nearer baseball score of 10-8. The score was tied 8-8 at the end of regulation time, went scoreless the first overtime period, and then McDonald, who had five points for the Maroons, dumped in the two winning points in the second extra session. Payne led College Place with six points.

Liberty Baptist, leader of the Church "A" League, suffered its first defeat and saw its lead shaved to half a game as second-place L.T.I. Chapel came up with a 46-42 victory. Canterbury's 20 points paced the L.T.I. win, while Lovette's 12 was high for Liberty.

Linville socked winless Monroe First Baptist, 48-38, as Wheeler led the way with 25 points. Johnson paced the Baptist with 14.

The first division of the Church "B" League gained ground as Trinity Baptist beat M.Y.F., 65-20; Brownville dropped Lakeshore, 37-35; and Temple Baptist beat Cypress, 34-26.

Reigel Shatters Mark As 'Pokes Tag Lions, 81-61

LAFAYETTE, La., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Forward Bill Reigel scored 20 points tonight to break the Gulf States Conference season's scoring record and lead his McNeese State team to an 81-61 victory over Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

The 20 points boosted Reigel's total for the season to 699, nine more than the record set last year by Northeast State's Bill Bradley. However, it was 12 less than his average per game.

The victory enabled McNeese to pull into a tie for first place in the GSC race with Northwestern State, which was idle tonight. Both teams have won five of six conference games.

McNeese took an early lead and held a 37-23 halftime advantage over SLI. The Lions got a good die in their early performance out of freshman Larry Gibbons, who kept Reigel away from the goal most of the night.

Tied for runnerup in scoring were Frank Glenn and Dudley Carver of McNeese and Ron Boesch of SLI with 16 each. Gibbons had 12.

The victory was McNeese's 19 in 22 games. The loss was SLI's 12th in 15.

Jackson Swarms Over Bob Baker To Earn Verdict

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Hurricane Tommy Jackson swarmed over bulky Bob Baker in the middle rounds of a hotly contested scrap between high-ranking heavyweights tonight to win a split decision in an interesting 10-round match at Madison Square Garden.

Fighting in spurts in his unorthodox style, Jackson carried the battle to his heavier opponent most of the time. The crowd of about 3,300 paying an estimated $2.50 each, and a large number of tourists from New York's far Rockaway jugged in his corner, did body blows and cut loose his famous "double uppercut."

In the early rounds of the nationally televised fight it looked like a walk-in for Baker, ranked No. 2 among the heavyweight contenders by Ring and No. 1 in the National Boxing Association.

Jackson fought like a sleep walker in the first, pawing wildly while his Bob calmly picked his hosts. But as the bout wore on, Jackson turned to his old swarming tricks, chasing Baker with his slapping jab and driving home telling right-hand punches. Baker seemed bewildered at this turn of events until Jackson suddenly turned cute and started to jab and box in the eighth.

The ninth round was one of the best of the fight with Baker getting off to a wide early lead while his Bob calmly picked his hosts. But as the bout wore on, Jackson turned to his old swarming tricks, chasing Baker with his slapping jab and driving home telling right-hand punches. Baker seemed bewildered at this turn of events until Jackson suddenly turned cute and started to jab and box in the eighth.

Baker pulled out the tenth round on all official cards, whaling away at the body with his left hook and driving his right to the chin. Still it always was Jackson coming on, winning away with both hands and making Baker back up.

What kind of a trust fund might President Eisenhower's proposed soil bank program set up for American wildlife?

Well, the wildlife management professionals don't really know, of course. But after years of trying to raise an ever-increasing game crop on agriculture's ever-decreasing leftover acres, they're a little dazzled by the possibilities.

The president's soil bank proposal calls for shifting some 25,000,000 acres from agricultural production to grass, trees, forage and water storage. The program would reimburse participating landowners in surplus commodities or cash. The government would, in effect, rent parcels of land all over the country and turn them from farm crops to soil building.

While the immediate aim of the Eisenhower proposal is to stabilize farm prices by reducing production and the major long range benefit may be the rehabilitation of unutilized acres, wildlife will gain 25,000,000 acres of production space as a bonus.

With varying success—where ducks once raised their broods. Many other creatures, which along with ducks found food and shelter in the marshlands, have suffered too. So has the water table in areas of block drainage. A plan to bring back some of the vanished wildlife factories of the wetlands would be of particular benefit, conservation-wise, in such states as California, the Dakotas and Wisconsin.

Reforestation — Since the bulk of the great Yankee conifer forests was logged away decades ago, the nation has never had enough wood. Pulpwood for paper, cabinet wood, lumber. And many a brook, many a creek and eventually many a river and a whole watershed died with the death of the forest, since the roots and floor of the forest formed a natural bank for their own to hold the reserves of ground water.

Cover manipulation — Both wetland restoration and reforestation — even in terms of farm woodlots planted and protected from fire and livestock — have a part in this. Game managers don't determine the kind and number of birds or animals an area will hold by the number they release in it. Nature determines that. A fallow field

Ouachita, LaSalle, Downsville Quints Still Contenders

The hosting West Monroe High School was the only contender still offering challenges in both divisions as the inaugural West Monroe Invitational Basketball Tournament set up its semi-finals with the conclusion of last night's play. Boys' teams of LaSalle, Ouachita, and Downsville, and Downsville also reached the semi-finals along with girls' teams from Farmerville, Bastrop, and Marion.

The three-day tournament comes to a close with the title finals tonight, and today's semi-final matches send the Ouachita boys against West Monroe, the Downsville boys against LaSalle, the Farmerville girls against West Monroe, and the Bastrop sextet against Marion.

The day's timetable:

Farmerville girls vs West Monroe, 9:15 a.m.; Ouachita boys vs West Monroe, 10:30 a.m.; Bastrop girls vs Marion, 11:45 a.m.; LaSalle boys vs Downsville, 1 p.m.; consolation girls, 4:45 p.m.; consolation boys, 6 p.m.; girls' final, 7:15 p.m.; boys' final, 8:30 p.m.

Set Semi-Finals For Holly Ridge Cage Play Today

HOLLY RIDGE, La., Feb. 3—(Special)—The Holly Ridge High School Invitational Basketball Tournament set up its semi-finals for Saturday action today when the boys' teams from Lake Providence, Baskin, Central, and Holly Ridge reached the brackets of four.

The girls of Central and Saint gained the semi-finals of their division in games yesterday.

Today's results were:

Girls — Mangham 52, Rayville 44; Delhi 61, Crowley 57.

Boys — Lake Providence 56, Central 28; Baskin 67, Delhi 46; Central 54, Forest 33; Holly Ridge 37, Mangham 30.

Saturday's pairings:

Central girls vs. Saint, 10 a.m.; Mangham girls vs. Holly Ridge, 12:20 p.m.; Lake Providence boys vs. Baskin, 1:45 p.m.; girls' consolation, 4 p.m.; boys' consolation, 5:15 p.m.; girls' final, 6:30 p.m.; boys' final, 7:45 p.m.

Arrant fired 30 points through the nets to lead Mangham's girls today, and Dark led the Delhi sextet with 24. However, Ford of Crowley was high scorer of the day with 36 points, and Sorey hooped 22 for the Rayville sextet.

Individual leaders in the boys' battles today were Phillips, Baskin, 29; Williamson, Forest, 22; Carroll, Holly Ridge, 18; Fairley and Boyd, Central, 16 each; Hopson, Delhi, 14; and Busbice, Mangham, 13.

OUTDOORS

What kind of a trust fund might President Eisenhower's proposed soil bank program set up for American wildlife?

Well, the wildlife management professionals don't really know, of course. But after years of trying to raise an ever-increasing game crop on agriculture's ever-decreasing leftover acres, they're a little dazzled by the possibilities.

The president's soil bank proposal calls for shifting some 25,000,000 acres from agricultural production to grass, trees, forage and water storage. The program would reimburse participating landowners in surplus commodities or cash. The government would, in effect, rent parcels of land all over the country and turn them from farm crops to soil-building.

While the immediate aim of the Eisenhower proposal is to stabilize farm prices by reducing production and the major long-range benefit may be the rehabilitation of uncultivated acres, wildlife will gain 25,000,000 acres of production space as a bonus.

And production space is a vital matter to wildlife, which after all is as much a crop of the land as corn or cotton.

Conservation officials in many states already have their research men working out land-use plans that would fit into a national soil bank program.

By and large, the conservation plans within a plan will go something like this:

Wetland restoration — In recent years the onions and the tomatoes, and wheat too, have sprouted — with varying success—where ducks once raised their broods. Many other creatures, which along with ducks found food and shelter in the marshlands, have suffered too. So has the water table in areas of block drainage. A plan to bring back some of the vanished wildlife factories of the wetlands would be of particular benefit, conservation-wise, in such states as California, the Dakotas and Wisconsin.

Reforestation — Since the bulk of the great Yankee conifer forests was logged away decades ago, the nation has never had enough wood: Pulpwood for paper, cabinet wood, lumber. And many a brook, many a creek and eventually many a river and whole watershed died with the death of the forest, since the roots and floor of the forest formed a natural bank of their own — to hold the reserves of ground water.

Cover manipulation — Both wetland restoration and reforestation — even in terms of farm woodlots planted and protected from fire and livestock — have a part in this. Game managers don't determine the kind and number of birds or animals an area will hold by the numbers they release in it. Nature determines that. A fallow field grows one year to weeds, in another year to brush, then to young trees, then through the periods of tree growth to climax forest. Each stage supports a separate company of birds and animals. Managers do their work by manipulating the vegetative cycle which favors their most desired species.

In this way, for instance, soil-bank acres returned to grassland would give a boost to the prairie grouse, which require considerable stretches of unbroken sod in the case of the "real" prairie chicken and substantial openings of sod amidst the brush for their sharp-tailed cousins.

Smaller plots of ground, particularly those "banked" in heavily agriculturalized areas of the mid-west and east, could be even more spectacular in their contribution to rabbit, pheasant and other small game numbers.

Whether any uses the conservationists could make of soil-banked acres would have a permanent effect in saving or reviving threatened big game or migratory species is, however, another matter. Extinction factors are complicated and obscure.

But there seems to be general agreement on one thing: If the game managers could get 25,000,000 acres more land they're pretty sure they could produce immediate dividends for the stockholders with the rods and guns.

Indians Drop 'Cats, 95-86

By NORRIS VANCELEAVE

The Northeast State College Indians were a net-swishing outfit from stem to stern here last night as they buried the Louisiana College Wildcats with an early barrage of baskets and then made enough points in a less fortunate last half to wind up with the Cats still beneath the debris by a count of 95-86.

A medley of field goals — eight to be exact — along with three bonus points burst fourth from the big hands of the Cats' Joe Limbough in the last half to keep it looking bad in places for the Tribe's trimmed down 53-39 half-time lead. Add these to five last half field goals and two free field goals by Frank Mancil and seven field goals and two free points distributed among the rest of the Cat line-up in the last half and it amounted to a genuine concern among Northeast fans about the ultimate fate of Northeast's fading advantage.

But fortunately, the Tribesmen had not exhausted their point-collecting ability in the big first half. Continuing to keep their offensive well apportioned, they managed 42 points in the last half to the Cats' 47 to keep the invaders from completely crumbling their narrowing lead.

Thus the Tribe kept its conference championship hopes alive in spite of the continued absence of ace Mel McFarland, rounding out with a 3-3 conference record and a season record of 14 wins and seven losses.

The double-barreled set shooting and rebounding attack of Bill Bradley, who collected seven baskets and a bonus point in the first half, led the Indians to what finally proved a safe margin. Also red hot for Northeast in the opening stranzas was Harold Davis, with 11 points in the first half, but in the last half Lloyd Crocker and Bob Patterson outscored the rest of the Tribe as the long net swishers played an increasing part in the Indian offensive.

The closest the Cats came to the Indians in the last quarter was when Limbaugh unleashed a long set shot to close the gap to 90-84 immediately following a long-range goal by the Cats' Mancil.

With only about a minute left to play, the Cats' still appeared very much in the game and they threatened with unsuccessful rebounds until Gene Shaneyfelt broke up their last big shooting spree. Bradley then sank a long shot to increase the Tribe's lead and that blew the Cats' last chance to tip the balance in their favor.

LaSalle College, 70-70; Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kan., with a 75 followed by a sparkling 65, and the first-round leader, Lionel Hebert of Erie, Pa., with 68-72.

Middleoff whacked out six birdies, played unusually fine golf, and shapes up a hard man to head off for the $2,400 top prize going to the winning professional.

But today the story belonged to the six-foot, blond Blair. He led off on the first hole with an approach that stopped three inches from the cup and an easy birdie. He sank another birdie putt of six feet on the third, a 30-footer on 13 and wound up with a six-foot birdie putt on the 18th.

Lionel Hebert played well but had trouble on a couple of holes. His brother, Jay, who plays out of Sanford, Fla., tied with a 69 for a 141 and a tie with Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif., who had a 70 today.

Jim Tom Blair III, Jefferson City, Mo., 69-67-136.

grouse, which require considerable stretches of unbroken sod in the case of the "real" prairie chicken and substantial openings of sod amidst the brush for their sharp-tailed cousins.

Smaller plots of ground, particularly those "banked" in heavily agriculturalized areas of the mid-west and east, could be even more spectacular in their contribution to rabbit, pheasant and other small game numbers.

Whether any uses the conservationists could make of soil-banked acres would have a permanent effect in saving or reviving threatened big game or migratory species is, however, another matter. Extinction factors are complicated and obscure.

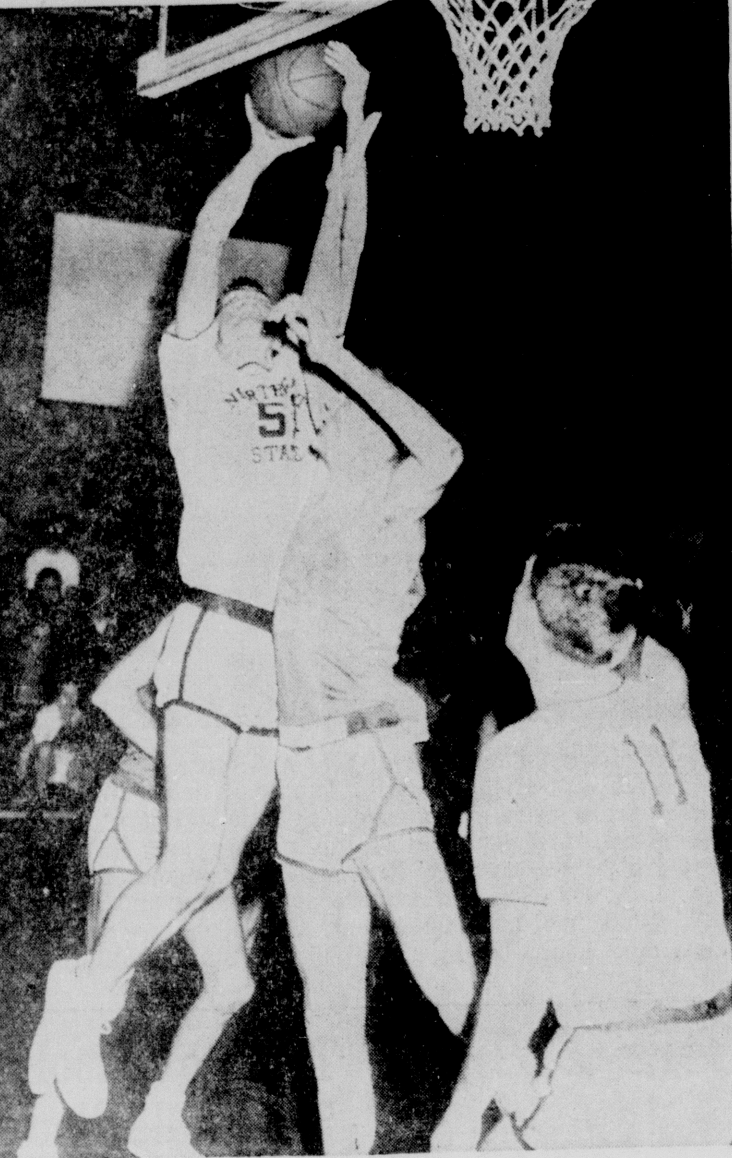

But there seems to be general agreement on one thing: If the game managers could get 25,000,000 acres more land they're pretty sure they could produce immediate dividends for the stockholders with the rods and guns.

Transylvania's Juniors Divide With Smith Foe

TRANSYLVANIA, La., Feb. 3 (Special)—Junior high basketball teams of Transylvania and A. L. Smith of Sterlington divided a double header here tonight. Transylvania's girls romped over their visitors, 50-25, while Sterlington's quintet barely shaded the host boys, 44-43.

Johnson and Stone led the Transylvania girls with 24 and 18 points respectively, while Hammons was high scorer for Sterlington with 16.

German Brothers Nearer Dream Of Oriole Careers

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—UP—A dream that began when they watched a GI baseball game back in 1949 came closer to fulfillment Friday when Claus and Hanjorg Helmig arrived by plane from Frankfurt, Germany, hopeful that they eventually will pitch for the Baltimore Orioles.

The brothers, Claus, 20, and Hanjorg, 17, were met at Idlewild airport by James Keely Jr., the president of the Orioles, and other club officials. They were scouted in Germany by Rex Greaves, an Oriole talent hunter who was touring GI camps, and he was so impressed that he signed them both.

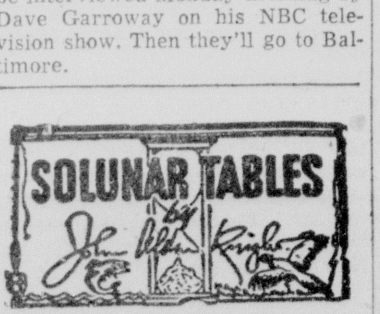

James McLaughlin, the Orioles farm director, also was on hand to meet them and said they would go to Scottsdale, Ariz., spring training base on Feb. 15. They will be assigned to the Aberdeen, S. D., farm club of the Class Northern League, but if they show enough polish as hurlers in spring training they will go to a club of a higher classification.

Both spoke excellent English, which they said they learned in school and from reading discarded GI comic books, and both also showed an astonishing knowledge of Americana.

"We would like to see while we're in New York, the Yankee Stadium, Polo Grounds, Ebbets Field, the Empire State building, Central Park, the United Nations, and Grand Central Station," said Hanjorg.

"Oh yes and a jazz concert at Carnegie Hall Saturday night, don't forget that," added Claus, who is a collector of Benny Goodman records and a "cat." I nearly flipped when I heard Count Basie would play the piano there."

The brothers will be guests of the team at the baseball writers dinner and show Sunday night and will be interviewed Monday morning by Dave Garroway on his NBC television show. Then they'll go to Baltimore.

The St. Matthew's Maroons won their first game of the Pee Wee League season yesterday, defeating College Place in two overtimes by a nearer baseball score of 10-8. The score was tied 8-8 at the end of regulation time, and then McDonald, who had five points for the Maroons, dumped in the two winning points in the second extra session. Payne led College Place with six.

Liberty Baptist, leader of the Church "A" League, suffered its first defeat and saw its lead shaved to half a game as second-place L.T.I. Chapel came up with a 46-42 victory. Canterbury's 20 points paced the L.T.I. win, while Lovette's 12 was high for Liberty.

Linville socked winless Monroe First Baptist, 48-38, as Wheeler led the way with 25 points. Johnson paced the Baptist with 14.

The first division of the Church "B" League gained ground as Trinity Baptist beat M.Y.F., 65-20; Brownville dropped Lakeshore, 37-35; and Temple Baptist beat Cypress, 34-26.

Leading the scoring were Furlow, Trinity, and Willis, Temple, 20 each; Murphy, Cypress, 17; Pepper, Brownville, and Green, Lakeshore, 12 each; and Simmons and Smith, M.Y.F., eight each.

Louisiana Water Well joined the clean sweepers, taking four out of four points from Falstaff Beer. Pearl Loftin, shooting a 168 game along with a 456 series, was No. 1 for the water well girls. Jean Marx, shooting a 128 game, and Daisy McLain, getting a 244 series, were best for Falstaff.

State Farm Insurance moved within one point of the No. 1 spot taking three points from Monroe Hardware Co. as Dot Durham and Dot Massie each showed a 151 game. Dot Durham got into another battle for high series with Ora Lee Johnston, each with a 408 series. Marie Chidester, having a 142 game and Sara Brashears, getting a 360 series, led the hardware girls.

Troy and Nichols jolted the Piggly Wiggly with a three-out-of-four-point-win over the league leaders, cutting their lead to just one point. Jeannett Blackwell led the Troy and Nichols with a 152 game and a 399 series. Dell Roth had her hook ball working for a 145 game and a nice series of 404 to top Piggly Wiggly.

Frostkraft No. 5 found their sisters, Frostkraft No. 3, to their liking for a three-out-of-four-point-win. Hazel Moore and Jewel Beachman tied for high game with a 132, as Moore was taking high series with a 391. Betty Smith used a 150 game and a 397 series to lead No. 3.

Montgomery Insurance bested Sham's Ready To Wear of Bastrop two and one half points to one and one half. Odie Harris, showing a 148 game and Vera Wright, getting a 417 series, led the insurance girls. Dolores Bacarisse hit a 147 game and a 410 series to lead Sham's.

Fancy Bull Wins

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3—Fancy Bull, ridden by jockey R. A. Dever, today won the $2,200 Southern Florist Assn. purse at the Fair Grounds by two and three-quarter lengths.

Top Challenge was second in the race for three-year-olds, while Pleasant Time was a length and three-quarters behind in third.

Fancy Bull raced over the six furlongs in 1:13 and 1-5. The winner paid $10, $5.20 and $3.20. Top Challenge returned $12.40 and $4.20, while Pleasant Time paid $2.40.

A crowd of 8500 bet $412,242 on the card.

Reigel Shatters Mark As Pokes Tag Lions, 81-61

LAFAYETTE, La., Feb. 3—Forward Bill Reigel scored 20 points tonight to break the Gulf States Conference season's scoring record and lead his McNeese State team to an 81-61 victory over Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

The 20 points boosted Reigel's total for the season to 699, nine more than the record set last year by Northeast State's Bill Bradley. However, it was 12 less than his average per game.

The victory enabled McNeese to pull into a tie for first place in the GSC race with Northwestern State, which was idle tonight. Both teams have won five of six conference games.

McNeese took an early lead and held a 27-23 halftime advantage over SLI. The losers got a good defensive performance out of freshman Larry Gibbons, who kept Reigel away from the goal most of the night.

Tied for runnerup in scoring were Frank Glenn and Dudley Carver of McNeese and Ron Boesch of SLI with 16 each. Gibbons had 12.

The victory was McNeese's 19 in 22 games. The loss was SLI's 12th in 15.

Jackson Swarms Over Bob Baker To Earn Verdict

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—Hurricane Tommy Jackson swarmed over bulky Bob Baker in the middle rounds of a hotly contested scrap between high-ranking heavyweights tonight to win a split decision in an interesting 10-round match at Madison Square Garden. Baker weighed 214 1/2, Jackson 194 1/2.

Fighting in spurts in his unorthodox style, Jackson carried the battle to his heavier opponent most of the time. The crowd of about 4,300 paying an estimated 12,000 cheered and jeered as the hurricane man from New York's far Rockaway jiggled in his corner, did body bends and cut loose his famous "double uppercut."

In the early rounds of the nationally televised fight it looked like a walk-in for Baker, ranked No. 2 among the heavyweight contenders by Ring and No. 1 in the National Boxing Association. Jackson fought like a sleep walker in the first, pawing wildly while big Bob calmly picked his hosts.

But as the bout wore on, Jackson turned to his old swarming tricks, chasing Baker with his slapping jab and driving home telling right-hand punches. Baker seemed bewildered at this turn of events until Jackson suddenly turned cute and started to jab and box in the eighth.

The ninth round was one of the best of the fight with Baker getting off to a wide early lead but fading under Jackson's awkward, but effective, bursts. Baker was landing the heavier punches but not often enough.

Fast Fields Set For Santa Anita Double Feature

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 3 (AP)—There will be a lot of horseflesh on display in Santa Anita's double-barreled feature tomorrow. No less than 12 three-year-olds, all Derby hopefuls—were named today for the San Vicente Stakes, and 11 older mares were entered in the $50,000-added Santa Margarita Handicap.

While carrying a purse of only $20,000 added, the San Vicente drew major interest as well as the larger field.

Lou Costello's hotshot Bold Bazooka and such highly rated youngsters as Count Chic, Terrang and Father's Risk headed the outsize field. The San Vicente is a seven-furlong test for the Santa Anita Derby March 3.

With Johnny Longden up, Bold Bazooka probably will go to the post favored despite drawing high impact of 123, three equally with Count Chic. Bill Boland will ride the latter.

Tedrang, Willie Shoemaker up, and Father's Risk, with Eddie Arco, each go with 122. Others entered:

Tecolotito, Family Album, The Sands, Lucky G.I., Will of Allah, Father's Poise, Like Magic, Nearby, Airide, The Great Man, Cleofosta, More Glory, Midland Man, Monroe Doc and Ben Host.

The 11 fillies and mares, three years old and up, named for the Santa Margarita included C. T. Cheney's Manotick and Alberta Ranch's In Reserve, each handed a package of 124 pounds. Jackie Westrope is slated to handle Manotick with Longden up on in Reserve.

The rest of the female field shapes up as follows:

Nooran, 107; Mary Machree 115; Island Queen, 111; Solid Miss, 115; Solid Rae 113, Carry The News 110; Bell O Shandon 119, Madam Jet 115, and Our Betters 120.

The Santa Margarita will determine, among other things, whether there is any filly or mare on the grounds worthy of racing in the Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 25.

Out-Of-Court Pact Ends Little League Battle With Stolz

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Feb. 3 (AP)—Little League Baseball Inc. and Carl E. Stolz, deposed Little League commissioner, today settled their differences out of court.

Attorneys for both sides reached an agreement that Stolz would not contest his dismissal and that he will not attempt to set up a rival boys' baseball organization.

Daniel Knittle, counsel for Stolz and Alfred T. Lee, attorney for Little League, issued this joint statement:

"The controversy between Carl E. Stolz and Little League Baseball Inc. has been settled.

"Mr. Stolz is not associated with any competitive program nor is he any longer an officer, director or employee of Little League Baseball Inc. The settlement did not involve any financial consideration."

Litigation in the case had been pending before both the Lycoming County Court and the U.S. District Court.

Stolz, who founded Little League in 1923, first filed a $300,000 suit in Lycoming County Court in November for breach of contract against Little League.

He contended a change in by-laws of the organization made him a "mere employee." At the same time he announced plans to set up a rival organization for boys.

In answering Stolz's suit, Peter McGovern, president of Little League, said the claim was "a general claim of dissatisfaction and an effort to put himself in a position where he can control and operate without the necessity of responsibility to anyone."

Polk-McCormick Get No. 1 Draft Choice

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts today announced the signing of halfback Lenny Moore of Penn State, then No. 1 choice in the 1956 National Football League draft.

The Redskins, Pa. Negro was the leading ground runner in the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association. For two years, rushing for 1,022 yards in 1954 and 697 yards last season.

The Colts will use the 21-year-old 190-pound Moore as an offensive halfback. Penn State Coach Rip Engle has said of Moore: "He has a sixth sense—a sense possessed only by great runners."

Helfand Plans Ruling Within About 10 Days

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, said today he expected to give a ruling in "about 10 days" on the case of Promoter Tex Sullivan and the London Sporting Club which runs the Monday night televised matches.

Helfand reserved decision after a two-day hearing on charges against Sullivan, and his former partner, Willie Gilzenberg, of violating various commission rules.

BOSTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Ted Williams, gunning and carotene although admittedly weighing "the most of my life," quickly came to terms today for his 14th season with the Boston Red Sox.

The terms were not announced, but best guesses were that baseball's highest salaried player will receive in the neighborhood of $100,000 for his year's work.

The tall slugger, who will be 38 in August, signed his 1956 contract during a 40-minute huddle with Boston owner Tom Yawkey and Gen. Mgr. Joe Cronin shortly after flying into town.

Williams, beaming and joking, told baseball writers that he was "very pleased and happy" with the pact and then picked up a bat and took a few practice swings for the first time since last season.

"I haven't done any running—also no swinging," Ted said with a big grin. "And I weigh 220—the most of my life. It's about 15 pounds more than at the end of last season, but that doesn't trouble me. I feel good. I'm just going to take things easy and round into shape slowly."

Picking up a Red Sox roster, Williams looked at the list of nine outfielders and quipped:

"Boy, with all those good players, I hope I can crash the lineup, never mind wondering about how many games I'll play."

Williams, who came to Boston for a sportsman's show opening tomorrow, said he plans to begin doing a "little running and play some tennis" about Feb. 15 in Miami before he reports to the Red Sox training camp at Sarasota, Fla., the first of next month.

"You can bet your life I won't run crazy right away, though," he laughed in recalling how he suffered a broken left collarbone 10 minutes after the start of spring training two years ago.

Asked if he planned to play in most of the Red Sox exhibitions in the south, Ted replied:

"I think I oughta be let up on exhibitions. I don't mind some, but hell, I've been doing that stuff for 20 years."

As for the Red Sox chances this year, the big slugger refused to make any predictions, but said "We've certainly improved by getting Mickey Vernon and Bob Portier."

"Last year we played right up to our peak, in my opinion," he added. "This year you can't tell. The youthfulness of our pitching is our big thing. It (the pitching) could be real red hot."

Ted said he hasn't set any personal goals for himself as yet, but added quickly: "I'll have one before the season starts, that's for sure. I always set one in my mind."

Williams joined the Red Sox in 1939 and has played 12 full seasons and parts of two others. He served as marine flyer in both World War II and in the Korean conflict.

He appeared in 98 games last year after he settled marital difficulties and joined the club in mid-May. He wound up with 28 home runs and a hefty batting average of .356. He was ineligible for the American League batting crown for the second straight year as he did not have the necessary 400 official times at bat.

Williams boasts a lifetime batting mark of .348 and his 394 homers ranks him as the fifth leading home run hitter of all time. He also has driven in a total of 1,470 runs.

Social Outcast Favored To Win McLennan Event

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast is favored to win his second straight $50,000-added McLennan Handicap at Hialeah tomorrow and thereby replace Assault as the sixth leading money-winner in racing history.

If all 10 entries start the mile and an eighth race will gross $66,500, with $17,999 going to the winner. Social outcast, winner of seven big "best first year" has earned $28,223 during his career, compared with $375,470 for Assault.

All 10 McLennan entries except G. S. Colletta's switch on are eligible for the $120,000-added Widener Feb. 18.

The Vanderbilt star has been assigned top weight of 125 pounds, three more than last year, and is quoted at 8 to 5. Eric Guerin, who brought him home on top last year, will ride again.

Second choice in the easily odds is the Hasty House Farm entry of Sea o Erin, winner of the Royal Palm, and Mister Black, Argentine bred.

The race will be televised nationally (NBC-TV, 5-5:30 p. m. (EST)).

Alabama Passing Ace Signed By Green Bay

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 3 (AP)—Alabama passing ace Bart Starr has signed a professional football contract with the Green Bay Packers.

It was reported that he turned down an offer from the Hamilton Ont., club of the Canadian football League before coming to an agreement with the Packers. Terms were not known.

End Curtis Lynch also has signed with the Packers. Starr was a draft choice of the Green Bay club.

Austria's Sailer Claims Third Ski Title In Olympics

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy, Feb. 3 (AP)—A nerveless Rochester, N. Y., bobsled pilot and a pair of young California figure skaters gave the United States a fresh shot of pride today but a skiing plumb from Austria emerged as the individual standout of the Winter Olympic games.

Toni Sailer, a dashing daredevil of 21, who is called the "pin-up boy of the Alps," completed an unprecedented triple slam when he added the men's downhill ski crown to his earlier giant and special slalom championships.

Disinfectant of the ice-crushed Tofana mountain course marked by numerous spills. Sailer shot down the 3,460 meter course (60 yards short of two miles) at breathtaking speed to win in two minutes, 52.2 seconds.

Austria picked up another gold medal, its fourth, when Elisabeth (Sissy) Schwartz and Kurt Oppelt upset the favored Canadian world champions in the figure skating pairs competition and pressed closer to Russia in the race for unofficial team honors. Russia has 101 points, Austria now 182.

The United States picked up two points on a fifth place figure skating finish by Carole Ann Oramca, 19, and Robert Greiner, 23, of Fresno, Calif., to boost its total to 45½ points, enough to edge Norway, the champion of 1952, out of fifth place.

On Tofana's hazardous bobsled run, Art Tyler, 40-year-old Rochester, N. Y., physicist, grabbed third place behind two Swiss sleds after the first two of four runs in the four-man bobsled event. Less than a second off the pace after two courses, record-smashing dives down the chute, he has a chance of bringing his team home in front in the final runs tomorrow.

The only real safety apparently was on the rink of the Cortina stadium where Miss Schwartz and Oppelt scored an upset triumph over Canada's favored world champions, Frances Dafoe and Norris Bowden.

Only two days of competition remain. The final bobsled heats and the 40-kilometer, cross country ski relay race are scheduled tomorrow when the red hot ice hockey tournament also reaches an exciting climax. The spectacular ski jumping is scheduled Sunday.

Russia's ice hockey team, playing as methodically as it might a chess game, blanked the United States in a tension-packed matched today and seized the undisputed tournament lead.

But the Soviet puck pushers, winners of four straight, must beat the hockey bred Canadians tomorrow in the final game to clinch the championship outright, and most observers around Cortina predicted the round robin would end in a three-way tie among the U.S., Russia and Canada.

In this case, the title is decided on a goals-for and a goals-against percentage basis.

This presupposes that Canada, the pre-tournament favorite which was upset by the United States last Tuesday night, can rally its forces to lick the Russians and the Yanks can take the measure of Czechoslovakia, their conqueror in a preliminary test.

The United States and Czechoslovakia clash at 12:30 p. m. (CST). Canada and Russia meet at 2:30 p. m.

Canada, upset by the United States Tuesday night won its third hockey game by crushing Sweden, 6-2 and then hied off to the suburbs to rest up for tomorrow's climactic game with the Russians.

Time after time today the bobsled course record was broken as the death-defying drivers had brushes with disaster.

Switzerland's gritty Franz Kapus, who broke his back in a crash here two years ago, grabbed the first day lead. The 45-year-old chauffeur whizzed down the run in 1:18 on his first heat to break the course record by seven hundredths of a second. Then he bettered that with his next run of 1:17.19, for a combined time of 2:35.19. The course measures 1,700 meters (approximately 109 yards over a mile.)

Kapus' teammate, butcher Max Angst, put together two tremendous heats totalling 2:35.26 for second place. Tyler also bettered the old mark with zooming runs of 1:17.75 and 1:17.87 for 2:35.62.

The second U.S. sled, piloted by big Jim Bickford of Saranac Lake, N.Y., had two slow runs and was next to last with 2:43.44. Italy's Eugenio Monti, the two-man champion, was still in contention at fourth place with 2:35.66. He, too, bettered the old record.

There was a gaping hole on the crystal curve of the run near the end of the course where a French sled had chewed into the ice. It almost forced several sleds off the track.

"We hit it so hard I didn't see anything until we were away out on the last straightaway," said Tyler, whose sledmates were William Dodge of New York, Charles Butler of Saranac Lake, N.Y., and Jim Lamy, also of Saranac Lake, the brakeman.

The Polish sled hit another hole going 60 miles an hour and threw its brakeman into the air, fracturing his ribs.

Course Director Federico Terschak said the third run will have to be staged tomorrow but the fourth may be put off until Sunday.

Sailer gave another demonstration of daring in winning the downhill. In becoming the first man in Olympic history to win three Alpine skiing medals, he immediately was hailed as the "miracle man of the slks."

Raymond Felley of Switzerland finished second with the time of 2:55.7, followed by Austria's famous skier, the "miracle man of the slks."

The Austrian figure skating pair—both skaters since childhood—put on a beautiful program in the pairs event to score a hair's breadth victory over the Canadians.

Miss Dafoe and Bowden skated a beautiful program, but unfortunately the Canadian girl faltered on a lift at the very end and they wound up their presentation after their recorded music had stopped.

Miss Oramca and Greiner got a big hand from the crowd despite a fall by Carol on an axel maneuver. A second U.S. pair, Lucille Mary Ash, 20, of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Sully Kothman, 22, of San Antonio, Tex., finished seventh.

DeMarco suffered a double fracture of jaw in fight.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3 (AP)—Former lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco, his jaw broken in two places, headed home for New York today after taking the thrashing of his career in one of the strangest bouts on local record.

DeMarco was ahead on all cards going into the fifth round last night against Los Angeles' young Don Jordan. But early in the fifth he ran into a sweeping right that dropped him to his knees for a one count.

As he rose, Jordan, mauled and butted in earlier rounds swarmed in for the kill. To the crowd's amazement, DeMarco suddenly turned his back and trotted away. Jordan followed him towards his corner, slugging away at the back of DeMarco's head and his body.

Referee Tommy Hart started a count. DeMarco was up again at seven, blood spurting from his mouth. He raised his hand, which some spectators thought was a signal that Paddy wanted no more. Hart waved Jordan in, however, and he landed another crushing haymaker. DeMarco's handlers poured into the ring and led him back to a stool. The referee raised Jordan's hand, awarding him a technical knockout at 1:45.40.

Robert Rocks said after the fight that Paddy suffered a compound fracture, on both sides of the jaw. The boxer's New York doctor will wire it up.

DeMarco sobbed in his dressing room. "I never quit in my life," he said at one point. He didn't elaborate on his actions in the ring.

DeMarco has been boxing a dozen years. Jordan is a relative newcomer. He lost his previous fight to Art Aragon. Jordan weighed 139, DeMarco, 140½. A crowd of 6,322 paid $15,250 to watch the affair.

Navy Confidence Worth New Pact For Grid Coach

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 3 (AP)—Navy athletic officials today reaffirmed their confidence in head football coach Eddie Erdelatz and extended for another year the five-year contract he signed last year.

Athletic director Capt. Elliott Laughlin said "this just reaffirms the confidence we have in the manner in which Eddie handles the midshipmen of the football squad."

Erdelatz, who returned from a month-long trip to his native California only Tuesday, said the action was "totally unexpected. Naturally, I am very pleased."

Laughlin said the new five-year contract didn't call for a salary increase, but he would go into the details of the pact.

Despite recent rumors that Erdelatz was headed for a job with a West Coast school, notably the University of California, he said "I was not approached" during the visit there.

The five-year contract Erdelatz signed a year ago was for a reported $17,000 a year, a $2,000 increase after his team compiled an 8-2 record topped with a Sugar Bowl victory over Mississippi.

Erdelatz has compiled a record of 29 victories, 21 defeats and five ties during his tenure as head coach.

He signed a four-year contract on arrival here in March, 1950. This was torn up and a five-year contract was signed after that season, which was capped with an upset, 14-2 victory over Army.

This contract had another year to run when the new five-year pact was signed last year.

Laughlin said Erdelatz's assistants all are on one-year contracts and that all will be signed soon.

Majors Study Minimum Salary, TV-Radio Rights

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—The major leagues will reconsider, at a joint meeting tomorrow, the baseball players' request for a new $7,200 minimum salary and full information on negotiations for a new television-radio contract for the World Series and All-Star game.

It was generally expected that the owners would go along with both player requests, although they were thumbed down at the December meetings in Chicago. The players applied considerable pressure by voting not to accept the rejections and warned they might be forced to take "stern steps."

Commissioner Ford Frick promised them their requests would be considered anew.

There have been hints, never confirmed, that "stern steps" might include a possible union affiliation.

However, both sides were confident that their problems would be worked out amicably.

The new contract is of extreme importance to the players, for 60 per cent of the proceeds have been earmarked for their pension fund under an agreement between the owners and players, running through 1961. Although the owners went on record by pledging they expected to continue the pension fund after '61 they did raise the possibility they might want to re-evaluate the 60-40 split at that time.

There is a basic conflict between players and owners on the ownership of the TV-radio money. The players claim they "own" 60 per cent and the owners insist they "own" 100 per cent but have agreed by contract to apply 60 per cent to the pension fund for five more years.

John Galbreath, Pittsburgh owner and National League member of the four-man pension committee, reiterated the owners' stand in a statement from Miami Wednesday.

The players have received estimates that the new series TV contract might run as high as $7,000,000 a year. The owners claim this is an exaggerated figure and talk more about $3,000,000 or $1,000,000. Everyone agrees there will be a substantial increase over the old deal.

The possibility that pay-as-you-go television with a coin box in the living room or some similar device might be in operation by 1961 adds further complications. All kinds of estimates have been made on the yield of such a system.

Both leagues will join in an "informal" joint meeting tomorrow morning with Commissioner Frick presiding. They will go into separate sessions and then re-convene in a formal joint meeting later in the day. Sunday will be left open for the festivities surrounding the annual dinner of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association.

American League managers have been asked to sit down with a committee of umpires to discuss means of speeding up play in 1956. The league recently adopted a new rule limiting managers to one trip to the pitcher's mound before a pitcher must be removed.

National League officials met today, and Brooklyn Dodgers President Walter O'Malley said a report on a proposed television game of the week would be made tomorrow. He originally was to report today on the plan, which would give half of the proceeds to the minor leagues. The umpires pension fund also was discussed, but no details were given, and the matter was referred to league President Warren Giles, and a three-member executive committee composed of Gabe Paul, Cincinnati; James Gallagher, Chicago; and Joe Cairnes, Milwaukee.

FREE EUROPE PRESS SENDS NEWS ON WINDS OF FREEDOM

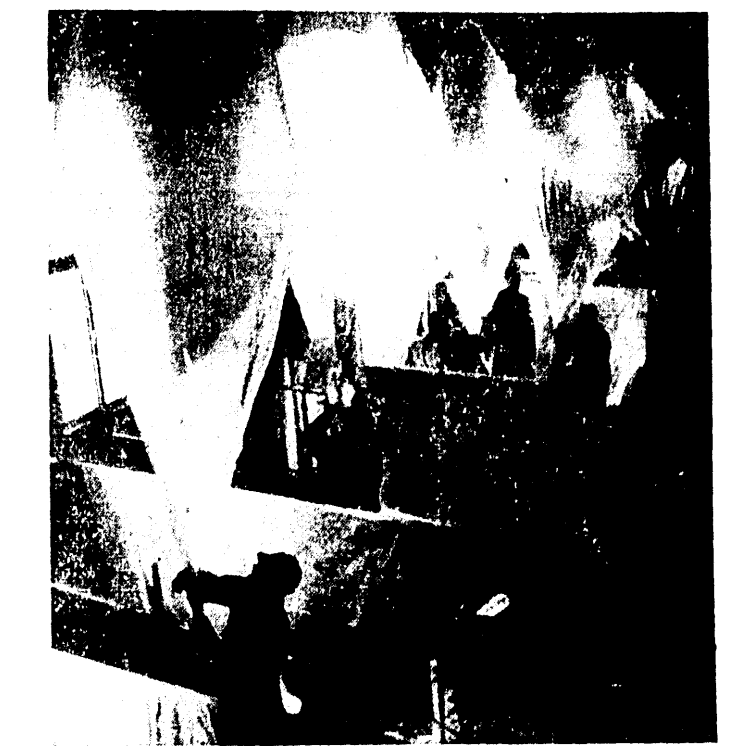

AMERICAN INGENUITY devised this method of getting newspapers over the Iron Curtain—a project of the Free Europe Press which is supported by millions of Americans through contributions to the Crusade for Freedom. This is the "circulation department" of Free Europe Press in free Germany where pilots pack miniature newspapers into balloons which will be carried aloft by balloons. New editions are printed every two weeks, complete with news, pictures, features, household hints, editorials and cartoons.

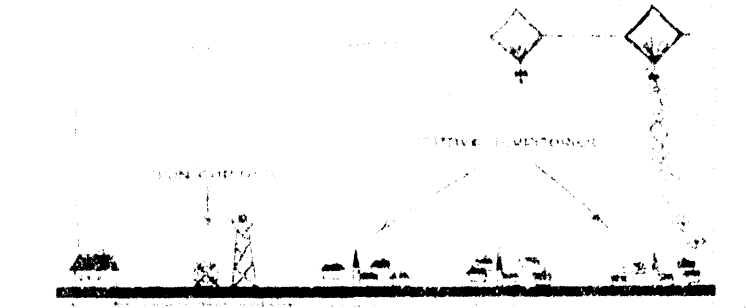

WINDS OF FREEDOM carry the news balloons eastward. In Central Europe, the prevailing winds are easterly, thus making a year-round operation possible. Three launching sites (approximated by stars) afford a selection of targets as wind direction and velocity vary. Through a careful check on atmospheric conditions, technicians are able to estimate approximate "delivery areas" in Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary. Their estimates are often verified by escapes, and by suppression decrees of Soviet police.

CLEVER GIMMICK holds the filled cartons upright. Delivery cartons (displayed by girl, rear) are suspended off balance on a sort of wire trap. The carton is held upright, however, by an envelope attached to the bottom which is loaded with a quantity of dry ice. When the dry ice evaporates, the carton upsets and spills its contents. Dry ice is weighed out carefully (by men with gloves) according to the target and weather conditions. Reports say a recent issue showered down on the main public square in Budapest.

EDITION TIME RUSH in the hills near the German border. Balloons are filled with hydrogen at the rate of 100 a minute. They're taken outside and released as soon as they're filled with their carrier cartons. Papers are printed on "union skin." They run from eight to 12 pages. Free Europe Press is supervised by American editors, but the content is the work of dedicated exile journalists, nearly all of whom were newspapermen before they fled to the West.

THWARTING THE BARRIERS. Balloons are loaded and inflated so that they go almost straight up to the wind strata most likely to carry them to their targets. They reach an altitude of about 26,000 feet within an hour. Having determined wind velocity and direction, the technicians pin-point their targets with a simple but surprising device. (See next photo, below.)

SUPPORT THE CRUSADE FOR FREEDOM

HOT OFF THE PRESS, a new edition heads over the Bavarian hills and above the Iron Curtain. Since Free Europe Press started operations two years ago, more than 250 million newspapers and other printed matter have been sent into the captive countries. Thus, the Crusade and American contribution help keep alive the traditions, the religion and the spirit of resistance among some 70 million captive peoples. Teamed with the broadcasts of Radio Free Europe, the newspapers have kept the sympathies of millions on our side—our allies in case of emergency.

Fast Fields Set For Santa Anita Double Feature

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 3 (AP)—There will be a lot of horseflesh on display in Santa Anita's double-barreled feature tomorrow. No less than 19 three year-olds—all Derby hopefuls—were named to race by the Santa Vicente Stakes, and 11 older mares were entered in the $50,000-added Santa Margarita Handicap.

While carrying a purse of only $20,000 added, the Santa Vicente drew major interest as well as the larger field.

Lou Costello's hotshot Bold Bazooka and such highly rated youngsters as Count Chic, Terrang and Father's Risk headed the outsize field. The Santa Vicente is a seven-furlong test for the Santa Anita Derby March 3.

With Johnny Longden up, Bold Bazooka probably will go to the post favored despite drawing high impost of 121 pounds equally with Count Chic. Bill Boland will ride the latter.

Tedrang, Willie Shoemaker up, and Father's Risk, with Eddie Arco, each go with 122. Others entered:

Tecolotito, Family Album, The Sands, Lucky G.I., Will of Allah, Father's Poise, Like Magic, Nearly, Alirde, The Great Man, Cleofosta, More Glory, Midland Man, Monroe Doc and Blen Host.

The 11 fillies and mares, three years old and up, named for the Santa Margarita included C. T. Cheney's Manotick and Albert's Ranch's In Reserve, each handed a package of 124 pounds. Jackie Westrope is slated to handle Manotick with Longden up on in Reserve.

The rest of the female field shapes up as follows:

Nooran, 107; Mary Machree 115, Island Queen, 111; Solid Miss, 115, Solid Rae 113, Carry The News 110; Bell O Shandon 119, Madam Jet 115, and Our Bettors 120.

The Santa Margarita will determine, among other things, whether there is any filly or mare on the grounds worthy of racing in the Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 25.

Out-Of-Court Pact Ends Little Loop Battle With Stolz

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Feb. 3 (AP)—Little League Baseball Inc. and Carl E. Stolz, deposed Little League commissioner, today settled their differences out of court.

Attorneys for both sides reached an agreement that Stolz will not contest his dismissal and that he will not attempt to set up a rival boys' baseball organization.

Daniel Knittle, counsel for Stolz and Alfred T. Lee, attorney for Little League, issued this joint statement:

"The controversy between Carl E. Stolz and Little League Baseball Inc. has been settled.

"Mr. Stolz is not associated with any competitive program nor is he any longer an officer, director or employee of Little League Baseball Inc. The settlement did not involve any financial consideration."

Litigation in the case had been pending before both the Lycoming County Court and the U.S. District Court.

Stolz, who founded Little League in 1939, first filed a $300,000 suit in Lycoming County Court in November for breach of contract against Little League.

He contended a change in by-laws of the organization made him a "mere employee." At the same time he announced plans to set up a rival organization for boys.

In answering Stolz's suit, Peter McJannet, president of Little League, said the claim was "a general claim of dissatisfaction and an excuse to put himself in a position where he can control and operate without the necessity of responsibility to anyone."

Baltimore Colts Get No. 1 Draft Choice

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts today announced the signing of halfback Lenny Moore of Penn State, then No. 1 choice in the 1956 National Football League draft.

The Reading, Pa. Negro was the leading ground gainer in the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association. For two years, rushing for 1,032 yards in 1954 and 637 yards last season.

The Colts will use the 21-year-old 190-pound Moore as an offensive halfback. Penn State Coach Rip Engle has said of Moore: "He has a sixth sense—a sense possessed only by great runners."

Helfand Plans Ruling Within About 10 Days

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, said today he expected to give a ruling in "about 10 days" on the case of Promoter Tex Sullivan and the London Sporting Club which runs the Monday night televised matches.

Helfand reserved decision after a two-day hearing on charges against Sullivan, and his former partner, Willie Gilzenberg, of violating various commission rules.

Austria's Sailer Claims Third Ski Title In Olympics

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy, Feb. 3 (AP)—A nervous Rochester, N. Y., bobsled pilot and a pair of young California figure skaters gave the United States a fresh shot of pride today but a skiing plumber from Austria emerged as the individual standout of the Winter Olympic games.

Toni Sailer, a dashing daredevil of 21 who is called the "pin-up boy of the Alps," completed an unprecedented triple slam when he added the men's downhill ski crown to his earlier giant and slalom championships.

Disdainful of the ice-crushed Tofana mountain course marked by numerous spills Sailer shot down the 3,460 meter course (60 yards short of two miles) at breathtaking speed to win in two minutes, 52.2 seconds.

Austria picked up another gold medal, its fourth, when Elisabeth (Sissy) Schwartz and Kurt Oppelt upset the favored Canadian world champions in the figure skating pairs competition—and pressed closer to Russia in the race for unofficial team honors. Russia has 101 points, Austria now 78½.

The United States picked up two points on a fifth place figure skating finish by Carole Ann Oramca, 19, and Robert Greiner, 23, of Fresno, Calif., to boost its total to 45½ points, enough to edge Norway, the champion of 1952, out of fifth place.

On Tofana's hazardous bobsled run, Art Tyler, 40-year-old Rochester, N. Y., physicist, grabbed third place behind two Swiss sleds after the first two of four runs in the four-man bobsled event. Less than half a second off the pace after two course record-smashing dives down the chute, he has a chance of bringing his team home in front in the final runs tomorrow.

The only real safety apparently was on the rink of the Cortina stadium where Miss Schwartz and Oppelt scored an upset triumph over Canada's favored world champions, Frances Dafeo and Norris Bowden.

Only two days of competition remain. The final bobsled heats and the 40-kilometer, cross country ski relay race are scheduled tomorrow when the red hot ice hockey tournament also reaches an exciting climax. The spectacular ski jumping is scheduled Sunday.

Russia's ice hockey team, playing as methodically as it might a chess game, blanked the United States in a tension-packed match today 4-0 and seized the undisputed tournament lead.

But the Soviet puck pushers, winners of four straight, must beat the hockey bred Canadians tomorrow in the final game to clinch the championship outright, and most observers around Cortina predicted the round robin would end in a three-way tie among the U.S., Russia and Canada.

In this case, the title is decided on a goals-for and a goals-against percentage basis.

This presupposes that Canada, the pre-tournament favorite which was upset by the United States last Tuesday night, can rally its forces to lick the Russians and the Yanks can take the measure of Czechoslovakia, their conqueror in a preliminary test.

The United States and Czechoslovakia clash at 12:30 p. m. (CST). Canada and Russia meet at 2:30 p. m.

Canada, upset by the United States Tuesday night won its third hockey game by crushing Sweden, 6-2 and then hied off to the suburbs to rest up for tomorrow's climactic game with the Russians.

Time after time today the bobsled course record was broken as the death-defying drivers had brushes with disaster.

Switzerland's gritty Franz Kapus, who broke his back in a crash here two years ago, grabbed the first day lead. The 45-year-old chauffeur whizzed down the run in 1:18 on his first heat to break the course record by seven-hundredths of a second. Then he bettered that with his next run of 1:17.19, for a combined time of 2:35.19. The course measures 1,700 meters (approximately 109 yards over a mile).

Kapus' teammate, butcher Max Angst, put together two tremendous heats totalling 2:35.26 for second place. Tyler also bettered the old mark with zooming runs of 1:17.75 and 1:17.87 for 2:35.62.

The second U.S. sled, piloted by big Jim Bickford of Saranac Lake, N.Y., had two slow runs and was next to last with 2:43.44. Italy's Eugenio Monti, the two-man champion, was still in contention at fourth place with 2:35.66. He, too, bettered the old record.

There was a gaping hole on the crystal curve of the run near the end of the course where a French sled had chewed into the ice. It almost forced several sleds off the track.

"We hit it so hard I didn't see anything until we were away out on the last straightaway," said "Tyler, whose sledmates were William Dodger of New York, Charles Butler of Saranac Lake, N.Y., and Jim Lamy, also of Saranac Lake, the brakeman.

The Polish sled hit another hole going 60 miles an hour and threw its brakeman into the air, fracturing his rib.

Course Director Federico Terschak said the third run will have to be staged tomorrow but the fourth may be put off until Sunday.

DeMarco Suffers Double Fracture Of Jaw In Fight

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3 (AP)—Former lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco, his jaw broken in two places, headed home for New York today after taking the thrashing of his career in one of the strangest bouts on local record.

DeMarco was ahead on all cards going into the fifth round last night against Los Angeles' young Don Jordan. But early in the fifth he ran into a sweeping right that dropped him to his knees for a one count.

As he rose, Jordan, mauled and butted in earlier rounds swarmed in for the kill. To the crowd's amazement, DeMarco suddenly turned his back and trotted away. Jordan followed him towards his corner, slugging away at the back of DeMarco's head and his body.

Paddy went to his knees and crawled to his corner, where his trainer reached through the ropes and removed his mouthpiece.

Referee Tommy Hart started a count. DeMarco was up again at seven, blood spurting from his mouth. He raised his hand, which some spectators thought was a signal that Paddy wanted no more.

Hart waved Jordan in, however, and he landed another crushing haymaker. DeMarco's handlers then poured into the ring and led him back to a stool. The referee raised Jordan's hand, awarding him a technical knockout at 1:45.

Dr. Robert Roche said after the fight that Paddy suffered a compound fracture, on both sides of the jaw. The boxer's New York doctor will wire it up.

'Legally Dead' Husband Ordered To Pay Alimony

LOS GATOS, Calif., Feb. 3—UP—Mrs. Mary Knowles, a successful love story writer whose own romantic life was stranger than fiction, Friday began collecting alimony from a "delightful" husband she had declared dead four years ago.

The authoress said her husband, Douglas Stewart Knowles, 37, disappeared from their home here Sept. 1, 1945. When he failed to reappear in the next seven years, she said, she had him declared legally dead in 1952.

That was that—until last year when her children found the skeleton of a man with a pistol beside it in a ravine near their home.

Futures were strong again featured by a continuation of yesterday's broad trade buying in both crops with shot and extensive covering in latter most active in July. Clayton brokers bought October, December and new March about 20 contracts each and at the close McFadden's brokers bought about 50 contracts of December closing the market around days best. July and new crops were up 12 to 30 points, March unchanged and May up 9 points. March was less active. Clayton continued selling scale up there and sold 10 at 34.95 and 5 at 98.

Liverpool futures closed with losses of 5 to 10 penny points in the old contract with new contract again firm unchanged to 10 points up. At the Liverpool close with sterling at 280 19-32 the difference between New York and Liverpool were March 575, May 545 and July 547 all New York over. 158,692 bales of cotton were sold this week by the CCC for export. Clayton was again the big buyer with 57,772 bales and Hohenberg bought 26,609 bales with the balance going to about 38 other firms. Sen. Ellender said Senate Agriculture Committee would draft tentative farm bill tomorrow for farm groups to study and offer comments on by early next week. The Commission is expected to take final vote on the measure next week. He also said the Agriculture Department would make public details of the soil bank plan today. The New York Cotton Exchange will be closed on February 13 and February 22.

Seven Juveniles Arrested In 3 Separate Cases

The Monroe juvenile department reported yesterday that a total of seven white juveniles were taken into custody during the week in three different cases.

Four youths, 14 to 16, were apprehended in connection with the theft of $100 in copper wire from the city electrical sub-station in mid-January. Cable taken in the theft was sold to a junk dealer, according to Sgt. J. C. Kelly, of the juvenile department.

Two boys, aged 13 and 14, were taken into custody for the burglary of two boats at a boat dock on the Monroe side of Ouachita river. The boats belonged to Charles Chisholm and Hugh Taylor, of West Monroe.

The seventh youth, 13, was picked up at a local bus center as a runaway from Cape Girardeau, Mo., and on charges of theft of $3 from a sailor on a bus passing through Monroe.

Six of the youths are in custody of their parents awaiting juvenile court action. Parents of the seventh youth were arranging for his passage to Cape Girardeau.

Fath Designs Clash With Dior's In 'Bosom Battle'

PARIS, Feb. 3—UP—The Paris spring fashions shows turned into a "battle of the bosom" Friday when Mme. Jacques Fath unveiled her ultra-feminine hourglass silhouette.

The 1956 Fath creations accentuated a bold bosom and full hips. It was in direct contrast to the Christian Dior "arrow look" which flattens the bust and thins the hips.

Dior created a sensation in style circles Thursday with his bosomless figure "H" and "A" silhouettes played up the bust.

Mme. Fath combined the daring and demure in styles designed to please both men and women. Her curvaceous "chalice line" differed in many respects from the trend toward flat bosom, high waist, broad shoulders and thin hips established by other dressmakers this week.

Like Dior, the blonde stylist achieved her silhouette with a firmly-laced corset. But unlike Dior, who raised the waist high, she kept the waist in its normal position.

The Fath styles emphasized the pouter-pigeon bosomline with a horizontal seam across the crest of the bust. In contrast to this daring feature, the creations had demurely high collars, frilly jackets, cuffs and dickeys of white starched linens.

Fifth Straight Advance Shown By Stock Market

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—The stock market made its fifth straight advance today with strong encouragement from the oils a prime factor in the rise.

Gains went to between 3 and 4 points at the outside in the oils and there were many 1 to 2 point gains elsewhere. Although the advance wasn't a general thing, losses usually were quite small and scattered.

Here is a list of some of the rising oil: Phillips Petroleum up 2 1/2 at 88, Standard Oil (NJ) up 3 1/2 at 157 1/2, Gulf Oil up 2 1/2 at 91 1/2, Royal Dutch up 1 1/2 at 58 1/2, and Sinclair Oil up 1 at 58 1/2.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.20 at $177.60 with the industrial component up $2.40, railroads up 90 cents, and utilities down 10 cents.

The list consisted of 1,144 individual issues of which 558 advanced and 338 declined with 24 new highs and 14 new lows for 1955-56 scored. The market was rather narrow although it was broader than yesterday when 1,124 issues were on the tape.

Volume stepped up to 2,110,000 shares, best of the week. Yesterday 1,900,000 shares changed hands.

The corporate bond market was mixed. U.S. government issues over the counter were steady.

CONGRATULATIONS on his promotion to marine sergeant received by Leland V. Sims, former Neville High School football player, from M/Sgt. G. H. Hancock, local recruiter.

Leland V. Sims Gets Promotion

Leland V. Sims, former Neville High School football player and presently a member of the U. S. Marine Corps, is spending a 30-day leave in Monroe at the home of his mother, at 309 Louise Anne.

Sims, who was recently promoted to sergeant in the Marines, was all-state guard for two years and was high school all-American for one year.

He was recruited by M-Sgt. G.H. Hancock of the local recruiting office about two years ago and underwent recruit training at San Diego, Calif., and is now band master of the Drum and Bugle Corp of the 4th Marine Regiment in Hawaii.

Eden Asks President To Consider Relaxing Curbs On Trade With Red China

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 — UP—British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden said Friday he has asked President Eisenhower to consider a "step-by-step" relaxation of curbs on Allied trade with the Chinese Communists.

Eden told a news conference the aim would be to put trade with Red China "on a par" with western trade with Russia. He said present policy works severe hardship on Britain and other Empire nations. Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have promised to study the proposal — which already is under fire from Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) and other advocates of a tough Red trade policy.

Knowland has indicated that Dulles will be asked to tell the Senate Foreign Relations committee just what kind of an expanded trade program he might favor.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), commenting on Eden's proposal, told the United Press "a wiser policy" would be to "bring trade with Russia on a par with that of Red China. We are also trading with Russia entirely too much in strategic materials."

McClellan's Senate investigating subcommittee plans public hearings next week in an effort to cut down East-West trade.

Sen. John F. Sparkman (D-Ala.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, said he doesn't see any likelihood of the United States relaxing its flat embargo on trade with Red China.

"When it comes to other countries, we would have nothing to say regarding non-strategic material, although we ought to be very reluctant to let them step up trade in strategic goods," he added.

Despite its own no-trade stand, the United States has agreed its allies should be permitted to send China non-strategic items which do not contribute to the Communist war potential.

Under Eden's plan, consideration also would be given to whether such trade contributes to the economic improvement of free nations shipping the goods.

If Red China trade rules made to conform with those for Russia, the Chinese Communists could obtain natural rubber, railroad equipment, crude oil and some 200 other items now on the restricted list.

NORFOLK, Va. (PHITNC) — James G. Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith of 206 Adams St., Norfolk, Va., is scheduled to graduate from the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The nine weeks of "Boat Camp" includes drill and instruction in seamanship, gunnery, life saving, survival, boat handling, and the use of small arms.

Following two weeks leave, graduates will be assigned to shipboard duties or service schools depending on the qualifications each has demonstrated.

FORT RUCKER, Ala. — Second Lieutenant Herbert R. Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Peterson, of 116 S. McGuire St., Monroe, La., graduated on 28 January from the Army Aviation School, here at this southern Alabama post.

More than 2,000 members of the Army ground forces each year graduate from 15 courses of instruction at the school as aviation pilots and maintenance personnel.

Following his graduation, Lt. Peterson will be assigned to one of the seven branches of the United States Army now using organic aviation.

Lt. Peterson is married to the former Jane Evans. They reside here at Fort Rucker Post Housing facilities.

Money Bill Cut For Post Office, Treasury Depts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 — UP—The House Appropriations committee approved a bill Friday carrying $2,618,899,000 to run the Treasury, Post Office Department and the tax court in the new fiscal year 1957 which starts July 1.

In clearing its first money bill of the year, the Democratic-controlled committee cut President Eisenhower's budget requests for the three agencies by only $31,173,000. It also had few harsh words for the administration.

The bill carries $2,973,900,000 for the Post Office Department, a cut of $26,100,000; $648,507,000 for the Treasury, a cut of $5,073,000; and $1,365,000 for the tax court, just what Mr. Eisenhower asked.

The committee estimated that the Post Office Department will go $470 million into the red next year unless something is done to raise what it called "woefully inadequate" postal rates.

The committee offered no specific rate recommendations. The administration called earlier this week for an across-the-board boost, including a one cent an ounce hike in first-class and air mail rates.

The committee mildly rebuked the Internal Revenue Service, which will receive $305 million, or almost half of the Treasury's fiscal allotment for the 1957 fiscal year.

It expressed "grave concern" about disclosures that former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis and others have huge tax payments long overdue. Louis was said to owe the government $1 million in back taxes.

The committee voted the Treasury Department's narcotics bureau $3,250,000, an increase of $155,000 over this year. It will use the money to hire 15 additional agents.

Some Hydrogen Control Secrets To Be Released

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 — UP—The Atomic Energy Commission announced Friday it will give a limited number of private individuals and companies access to previously secret information on the control of H-bomb reactions.

It said the action, effective Saturday, is designed to stimulate "independent experimentation and research" in the "enormously difficult problems" posed by efforts to harness hydrogen power for peaceful uses.

Chairman Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy committee has been extremely critical of what he termed unnecessary secrecy on the part of the AEC on hydrogen power problems.

He and AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss have been conducting a pole-bit running battle on the question of whether more such information should be released to qualified individuals and firms.

Until now, research on fusion power has been exclusively governmental project. Even under the new order, data will be available only to Americans and U.S. companies which can pass the strictest kind of security clearance tests.

Efficient control of H-bomb reactions would give mankind a virtually inexhaustible supply of power. But it may take years to solve the many difficult problems involved.

The AEC issued its new order in announcing that a broader regulation under which business firms and individuals may "gain access to restricted data relating to civilian use of atomic energy" becomes effective Saturday.

The commission already has issued more than 600 so-called access permits under the broad regulation, which first was published last May. The revised form included the new order on controlled fusion processes.

Argentina Buys 825,000 Copies Of New 'La Prensa'

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 3 — UP—A record edition of 825,000 copies of La Prensa, its first appearance as a free newspaper in more than five years, was read with eager interest by Argentines Friday.

The presses were stopped after a run of seven hours, 15 minutes so the tired crew could get some sleep. Circulation chief Manuel Munin said the presses were not stripped and additional copies could be printed if necessary.

Friday's issue number was 29,476, which picked up from Jan. 26, 1951 issue, numbered 29,475, the last one printed before La Prensa was taken over by the ousted Peron dictatorship.

Rotogravure presses rolled for the four-page Sunday supplement which is edited by Jose Santos Gollan.

Originally, La Prensa was scheduled to start the presses at 11 p. m. Thursday, but many visitors in the vast composing room slowed operations.

There was a delay of nearly three hours, which held up distribution and mail delivery. At the suburban homes of many subscribers there were no newspapers as late as 10 a. m. Friday.

The big press runs thwarted attempts by speculators to charge excessive prices for the first copies of La Prensa, as there were papers for everybody.

CONGRATULATIONS on his promotion to marine sergeant are received by Leland V. Sims, former Neville High School football player, from M/Sgt. G. H. Hancock, local recruiter.

Leland V. Sims Gets Promotion

Leland V. Sims, former Neville High School football player and presently a member of the U. S. Marine Corps, is spending a 30-day leave in Monroe at the home of his mother, at 309 Louise Anne.

Sims, who was recently promoted to sergeant in the Marines, was all-state guard for two years and was high school all-American for one year.

He was recruited by M-Sgt. G. H. Hancock of the local recruiting office about two years ago and underwent recruit training at San Diego, Calif., and is now band master of the Drum and Bugle Corp of the 4th Marine Regiment in Hawaii.

Eden Asks President To Consider Relaxing Curbs On Trade With Red China

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 —UP—British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden said Friday he has asked President Eisenhower to consider a "step-by-step" relaxation of curbs on Allied trade with the Chinese Communists.

Eden told a news conference the aim would be to put trade with Red China "on a par" with western trade with Russia. He said present policy works severe hardship on Britain and other Empire nations. Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have promised to study the proposal — which already is under fire from Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) and other advocates of a tough Red trade policy.

Knowland has indicated that Dulles will be asked to tell the Senate Foreign Relations committee just what kind of an expanded trade program he might favor.

In Armed Services

ABERDEEN Proving Ground, Md. — Army Pvt. Lones J. Starr, 17, son of Mrs. Agnes Starr, Route 1, Winnsboro Rd., Monroe, La., recently completed the ammunition renovation course at The Ordnance School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

The ten-week course trained Starr to disassemble, inspect, test and renovate ammunition and explosives for re-use.

He entered the Army in August 1955 and completed basic training at Camp Chaffee, Ark.

ASCHAFENBURG, Germany —Army Pvt. Lawrence O. Welch, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Welch, Route 2, Monroe, La., recently took part in a maneuver held by the 10th Infantry Division's 87th Regiment in Germany.

The maneuver tested the effectiveness of tank-infantry teams under simulated combat conditions.

Private Welch is an assistant gunner in Company H of the 87th Regiment.

The former Tioga High School student entered the Army in January 1955 and completed basic training at Fort Riley, Kans., before arriving overseas in September.

NORFOLK, Va. (FHTNC) — Jacobus J. Johnson, steward first class, USN, son of Mr. Miller Johnson of 1019 Ouachita Ave., Monroe, La., and husband of the former Miss Esther McNeal of DeFuniak Springs, Fla., returned to Norfolk, Va., January 25 aboard the heavy cruiser USS Des Moines which completed a four and a half month cruise in the Mediterranean.

Ports of call included Beirut, Lebanon; Rhodes, Greece; Barcelona and Cadiz, Spain; Izmir, Turkey; Naples, Italy; Mers El Kebir, Algeria; Villefranche, France; and Gibraltar.

GREAT LAKES III. (FHTNC) — Joe G. Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith of 2016 Adams St., Monroe, La., is scheduled to graduate from recruit training February 4 at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The nine weeks of "Boot Camp" includes drill and instruction in seamanship, gunnery, life saving, sea survival, boat handling, and the use of small arms.

Following two weeks leave, graduates will be assigned to shipboard duties or service schools depending on the qualifications each has demonstrated.

FORT RUCKER, Ala. — Second Lieutenant Herbert R. Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Peterson, of 116 S. McGuire St., Monroe, La., graduated on 28 January from the Army Aviation School Course, here at this Southern Alabama post.

More than 2,000 members of the Army ground forces each year graduate from 15 courses of instruction at the school as aviation pilots and maintenance personnel.

Following his graduation, Lt. Peterson will be assigned to one of the seven branches of the United States Army now using organic aviation.

Lt. Peterson is married to the former Jane Evans. They reside here at Fort Rucker Post Housing facilities.

Money Bill Cut For Post Office, Treasury Depts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 — UP —The House Appropriations committee approved a bill Friday carrying $2,618,699,000 to run the Treasury, Post Office Department and the tax court in the new fiscal year 1957 which starts July 1.

In clearing its first money bill of the year, the Democratic-controlled committee cut President Eisenhower's budget requests for the three agencies by only $31,173,000. It also had few harsh words for the administration.

The bill carries $2,973,900,000 for the Post Office Department, a cut of $26,100,000; $648,507,000 for the Treasury, a cut of $5,073,000; and $1,365,000 for the tax court, just what Mr. Eisenhower asked.

The committee estimated that the Post Office Department will go $470 million into the red next year unless something is done to raise what it called "woefully inadequate" postal rates.

The committee offered no specific rate recommendations. The administration called earlier this week for an across-the-board boost, including a one cent an ounce hike in first-class and air mail rates.

The committee mildly rebuked the Internal Revenue Service, which will receive $305 million, or almost half of the Treasury's total allotment for the 1957 fiscal year.

It expressed "grave concern" about disclosures that former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis and others have huge tax payments long overdue. Louis was said to owe the government $1 million in back taxes.

The committee voted the Treasury Department's narcotics bureau $3,250,000, an increase of $155,000 over this year. It will use the money to hire 15 additional agents.

Some Hydrogen Control Secrets To Be Released

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 —UP—The Atomic Energy Commission announced Friday it will give a limited number of private individuals and companies access to previously secret information on the control of H-bomb reactions.

It said the action, effective Saturday, is designed to stimulate "independent experimentation and research" in the "enormously difficult problems" posed by efforts to harness hydrogen power for peacetime uses.

Chairman Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy committee has been extremely critical of what he termed unnecessary secrecy on the part of the AEC on hydrogen power problems.

He and AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss have been conducting a polite but running battle on the question of whether more such information should be released to qualified individuals and firms.

Until now, research on fusion power has been exclusively government project. Even under the new order, data will be available only to Americans and U.S. companies which can pass the strictest kind of security clearance tests.

Efficient control of H-bomb reactions would give mankind a virtually inexhaustible supply of power. But it may take years to solve the many difficult problems involved.

The AEC issued its new order in announcing that a broader regulation under which business firms and individuals may "gain access to restricted data relating to civilian use of atomic energy" becomes effective Saturday.

The commission already has issued more than 600 so-called access permits under the broad regulation, which first was published last May. The revised form included the new order on controlled fusion processes.

Argentina Buys 825,000 Copies Of New 'La Prensa'

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 3 —UP—A record edition of 825,000 copies of La Prensa, its first appearance as a free newspaper in more than five years, was read with eager interest by Argentines Friday.

The presses were stopped after a run of seven hours, 15 minutes so the tired crew could get some sleep. Circulation chief Manuel Munin said the presses were not stripped and additional copies could be printed if necessary.

Friday's issue number was 29,476, which picked up from the Jan. 26, 1951 issue, numbered 29,475, the last one printed before La Prensa was taken over by the ousted Peron dictatorship.

Rotogravure presses rolled for the four-page Sunday supplement which is edited by Jose Santos Gollan.

Originally, La Prensa was scheduled to start the presses at 11 p. m. Thursday, but many visitors in the vast composing room slowed operations.

There was a delay of nearly three hours, which held up distribution and home delivery. At the suburban homes of many subscribers there were no newspapers as late as 10 a. m. Friday.

The big press runs thwarted attempts by speculators to charge excessive prices for the first copies of La Prensa, as there were papers for everybody.

Union Parish's Library Display Set For Mar. 10

FARMERVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special) — The Union Parish library demonstration will open March 10, according to plans made at the meeting of the parish library board here Tuesday night.

Originally plans had been made to have the opening earlier in the year but construction of the bookmobile, a specially built truck used to take books into all areas of the parish, has been delayed and delivery will not be made until later in the year.

In the meantime, the Louisiana State Library, which will direct the year-long demonstration, has made arrangements to obtain a bookmobile that is on loan to another parish to use until the one for Union is received. Because this is a smaller unit than the one planned for Union Parish, service to Negroes will not be started until the bookmobile purchase for use in this parish is delivered.

The opening of the Union Parish library demonstration will be marked by a brief ceremony which will be held at the Farmerville branch located in the auditorium of the agricultural building next to the school board office in Farmerville. This will be followed by an open house.

Bookmobile service will begin the week of March 12. The bookmobile will operate on a regular schedule with visits to all parts of the parish. This schedule is now being prepared and will be announced later.

Members of the board present at the meeting held in the police jury room Tuesday night included William R. Alexander, president; Mrs. Mary Lee Phillips, vice-president; Mrs. M. Wick Laurence, Jr., treasurer; Truman Smith, and John M. Hinton. Also present were Mrs. Maude O. Clay, parish librarian,

Building Permits

The following building permits have been issued by city building inspector S. H. Aul:

A. J. Armstrong, to erect a one-story concrete block service station at 1201 Winnboro Road at a cost of $7,500.

HEADS PLANNING BODY

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 UP—Former Duhe, prominent Iberia parish sugar planter and active member of the Republican party in state activities, was named head of the parish planning commission. The commission coordinates the city of New Iberia in parish-wide civic improvements.

and Miss Kathryn Adams, field consultant, Louisiana State Library.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Progressive Men Sponsor Barbecue

The Progressive Men's Club will sponsor a barbecue Sunday from noon until 8 p.m. at the club's home on Highway 80.

Salvador Miletello, chairman of the event, said that the general public was invited to attend the barbecue. All proceeds from the event will be for the club's Mardi Gras queen candidate, Miss Vita Rose Costanza.
